

THE MORNING BEE

MORNING-EVENING-SUNDAY

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, NELSON B. UPHOFF, Publisher.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not average circulation of The Omaha Bee, June, 1922, Daily 71,731 Sunday 77,034

OFFICES: Main Office—11th and Farnam, Omaha, Neb.

Private Branch Exchange, Ask for the Department of Finance, Omaha, Neb.

LOOKS LIKE AN EARLY PEACE: Surface signs justify expectations of an early and complete peace.

President Harding has suggested three methods by which the railroad strike may be settled.

President Lewis of the Mine Workers is holding an important gathering of his chiefs at Philadelphia.

From every side come expressions that support the belief that the whole affair is being worked out in satisfactory manner.

It is inaccurate to say, as is done in announcing the recognition of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

How these nations were eventually won down and subdued, and finally forcibly annexed to Russia.

Insurrection and revolt were sternly repressed, and not in modern times it was to be found a bloodier or more ferocious chapter than was written when the Cossacks went to restore "loyalty" in the Baltic provinces.

Women who are forming themselves into democratic clubs may now and then recall that if the democratic senator from Nebraska had had his way.

Somehow we feel a little proud of that Omaha father who says his wayward son must pay the penalty of his misdeeds.

KEEPING THE STREETS CLEAN: Here is where Commissioner Hopkins gets endorsement for his appeal to Omaha business men.

Much effort has been made in late years to keep the thoroughfares of the city always in presentable condition.

Nebraska democrats have plenty to talk about.

at this season of the year. Never are lawns and grass plots neglected in Omaha, but this summer they are more than ever beautiful.

ENDURANCE TEST FOR SINCERITY: A gathering of the democrats of Nebraska has been called for Omaha, at which a platform will be constructed.

Then, of course, Senator Hitchcock will do all he possibly can to do to bring about the election of Charles W. Bryan to be governor of Nebraska.

Neutrality is what the chemists call a great catalyzer, but we have serious doubts whether it will affect a permanent union of the dry Bryanites and the wet Hitchcockites in Nebraska.

The projection of the present industrial strike across the horizon of public attention has evidenced the huge proportions of the job which has been assigned to President Harding.

With the rest of the world bankrupt, President Harding and his administration set hand to the task of bringing prosperity to the United States as the first step to bringing it to the rest of the world.

Under the leadership of President Harding, the agricultural industry has been rehabilitated, production has been resumed.

At the present moment, President Harding is fighting the battle of the general public—that great bulk of the population which will be most affected by the struggle of the smaller groups within it.

Women who are forming themselves into democratic clubs may now and then recall that if the democratic senator from Nebraska had had his way.

Somehow we feel a little proud of that Omaha father who says his wayward son must pay the penalty of his misdeeds.

KEEPING THE STREETS CLEAN: Here is where Commissioner Hopkins gets endorsement for his appeal to Omaha business men.

Much effort has been made in late years to keep the thoroughfares of the city always in presentable condition.

Nebraska democrats have plenty to talk about.

What Other Editors Say

Pretty Cheerful, Thank You, From the Kansas City Star. Ask a farmer about his crops.

"What about your wheat?" "Came through much better than I expected.

"Well, you ought to see it. Tall and sturdy and dark green. Looks as if it was going to have more bushels to the acre than a jackass could drag down hill on ice."

"Pastures and livestock?" "Better. I'm making money now. People who like to ship to Kansas City, and I'm shipping plenty. Hogs at 10 cents you know.

"Did you do well on fruit?" "Great. The berries have been thick. Apples and peaches are in splendid shape."

"That is the sort of conversation plenty of corn and all over the territory when a farmer comes to town and gets to talking. This isn't 1920, of course, when everything went up and down like a roller coaster.

But when farm conditions as a whole are compared with the general average—well, the west can throw up its hands and say, 'That's all right. It's a good crop; or more than a good crop; or better than a good crop.' This year it has everything, wheat, corn, livestock, berries, fruit, hay, pasture, in an abundance that would make any other year seem like a year of famine.

"Never mind the price, the post-complained. Looking about these wide horizons as August comes, we tell the poet to cheer himself up, and say, 'What with yields and prices, the time and the place and the loved one are all on hand at once.'"

There is nothing artificial about such prosperity. It isn't paper prosperity. The west is pouring a great stream of goods into the market, and the operation of the market of the soil by the application of sunshine and rain and the farmer's labor. The country is hundreds of years ahead of the rest of the world.

Not wonder the farms and the cities built on their trade are looking forward to a cheerful winter!

Agrarianism in Canada. From the Salt Lake Tribune.

The results of the provincial election in Manitoba afford a striking illustration of the growth of the agrarian movement in western Canada—a movement which was reflected in the dominion parliamentary elections by a farmer-labor bloc which not only held the balance of power in Ottawa.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

will give a historical survey of the diplomatic relations of the United States and South America. Dr. Joseph Redlich, former minister of finance of the Austro-Hungarian empire, will discuss the problems of Central Europe.

Not until the Institute of Politics was started was it possible for Americans to study foreign affairs under men who had given their lives to the acquisition of knowledge relating to them.

To the group who conceived the idea of the Institute of Politics, and to Leonard M. Baruch, whose generosity has made possible its financial maintenance, much credit is due.

Automobiles. From the Wichita Eagle. American factories made 73,000 automobiles last December.

Last month these factories turned out 370,000, the greatest number ever manufactured in any one month.

This is at the rate of 2,240,000 cars a year. Nineteen-twenty was the record year for automobile manufacturing, and it produced only 2,202,000 cars. This year, then, seems destined to be the biggest automobile year in the history of the trade.

The average life of an automobile is estimated by manufacturers at 8 years. Six years ago only 1,600,000 automobiles were made. Those must be replaced this year. Seven years ago 1,200,000 were made. On a normal count of bad business conditions only 500,000 of these were replaced.

That leaves 400,000 cars to be bought this year by people who purchased their cars last year and have been riding street cars, walking or getting along with the old bus under protest. Replacement orders then should take 1,000,000 cars this year.

How many new automobile owners will be there this year? A million? Likely enough. The country is gaining in population constantly. The number of persons reaching the age of auto-driving is increasing. Cars have become much cheaper in the last two years. Therefore persons of small means are buying automobiles in greater numbers than heretofore.

Property is increasing, and will continue to increase if the rail and coal strikes can be got out of the way more quickly. There will mean more persons in the auto-driving class. Street car systems in many cities continue to deteriorate, thus encouraging family ownership of means of transportation other than public conveyances. Yes, the United States ought to absorb in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 new automobiles this year. So here's another business that's looking up.

Just One Trip After Another. From the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The interchangeable mileage bill cannot become a law until August 15, it appears. Wouldn't it be jolly if the railroad strike were all settled up by that time, too, so that the life of the traveler might begin to be one grand, sweet song?

Agrarianism in Canada. From the Salt Lake Tribune. The results of the provincial election in Manitoba afford a striking illustration of the growth of the agrarian movement in western Canada—a movement which was reflected in the dominion parliamentary elections by a farmer-labor bloc which not only held the balance of power in Ottawa.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Western farmers have an organization as shrewdly managed as either of the old-line parties used to be, and they are making continued progress in control of the western provinces. They are demanding tariff and fiscal reforms in advance of even the liberal program which gave the Ottawa government its mandate.

Complete returns of the poll show that the mere handful of liberal members will be found in the new parliament of Manitoba. The conservative farmers securing almost half of the membership of the chamber, with a scattering of independents and progressives.

Readers' Opinions

(This department is designed as a broadcasting station through which readers of The Omaha Bee may speak on an editorial subject.)

From the Veteran's View. Omaha, July 24.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: Omaha, can you forget?

We sit on the curb at midnight. Only those of the higher up. Filled with well-dressed people. Who never worry or sigh.

Where are the promises they made us? When we left for the war that day? Have they so soon forgotten?

Who is it that's fighting the bonus? Only those of the higher up. The man with the well-filled purse. Who never drank the dregs in the cup.

But they'll cancel the debt to England. And lend more with a cheery smile. But give to his own soldiers? No! They're not worth while.

O, God! Could it ever happen? A father deserting his son. Casting them down by the wayside. After a battle he's fought and won?

So why desert the soldier? He's fought for you, his and square. Just put your back behind the bonus. And show him that you're still there.

CHICK C. B. HANSCOM, (Just a Veteran.) 504 North Twenty-third Street.

What is Justice? Omaha, July 24.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: The question, "What is justice?" like Plato's "What is truth?" is still on the file of unfinished business.

While some voters continue to dream of a just government, and others stand pat on the hand of private ownership of public utilities, the clash of individual interests goes on, as it has gone on, and as it doubtless will go on until the people as a whole are agreed on what a just government is.

In the meantime progress involves the sacrifice of some or some class, and this is justified on the ground of the greatest good to the greatest number.

In the cases of the present coal and railway strikes, we all may agree with the administration at Washington that the operation of the mines and railroads is of more importance than the protection of a million men's wages, but most of us cannot agree why this sacrifice of the coal and railway workers is necessary.

Is there no way out of the difficulty except to help the trusts reduce wages? If workers are so essential to the operation of public utilities, why not protect them as well as the utilities? Should not the government do equity to those from whom it demands equity?

As to the greatest good resulting from a violent revolution, does not history show that as a rule such revolutions cost more than they are worth, unless they are fought for the right to vote? Why should any people with the ballot talk about fighting themselves? Can they shoot right if they cannot vote right?

WILLIS HUDEFETH.

Wotta Life! Wotta Life!

World's Best Common Sense. But as the matter stands, the Canadian boundary line is the world's finest example of common sense applied to excruciating nightmare menace of war.—New York World.

Occidental Thrift Building and Loan Association. THE VALUE OF SAVING is proved by persons who now own their own homes. MOST ALL HOMES are bought through institutions like the Occidental that encourage systematic saving. BRING YOUR SAVINGS to us; that when you want a home we can help you. Your money is secured by first mortgage on homes and earns at the rate of 4% dividends payable four times each year.

SALE ARMY GOODS Campers' Supplies. Choose your campers' supplies from the largest and most complete stock in the middle west. Our tremendous buying power enables us to sell for less than all competition. Shop, and shop early, as these prices fairly talk. Order by mail direct from this ad.

TENTS. Here Famous 3 in 1 Tents. Just a few arrived. They have a khaki waterproof top and white walls. While they last—8x10 $17.95 9 1/2x12 $22.95 9x9 Naval Officers' 12-oz. White Tent. Cost the navy $75.00. Our price only $29.50. Pup Tents, Army Cots, Goggles, Trunks, Underwear, Army Hats and Caps, Army Shoes, Army Breeches, Army Shirts.

Gifts Everlasting A Piano - from - Hospe's Is a Gift Everlasting That Will Receive the Maximum Appreciation The Vose—A tried piano known the world over for its sweetness of tone, its finish and beautiful contour. $885.00 Terms Can Be Arranged $50 Down—$25 a Month A. Hospe Co. Everything in Art and Music 1513 Douglas Do. 5584

LOST! 250 Pimples, 736 Blackheads and 3 Boils! No reward is offered, because they are lost forever! No question will be asked, except one: "Did you lose them?" There is but one answer—"I cut out new head treatments and guaranteed to get rid of even the most powerful blood-cleaners, blood-purifiers and "I-s-b-builders" known, and that is S. S. I. Now my face is pinkish, my skin clear as a rose, my cheeks are filled out and my rheumatism, too, gone!" This will be your experience, too, if you try S. S. I. Guaranteed to be purifying vegetable in all its remarkably effective medicinal ingredients. S. S. I. is a new history for you from now on! S. S. I. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

SUNDERLAND BROS. CO. Are Now in Their New Home Sunderland Building (Electric Sign on Top) 15th and Harney Streets Coal-Coke-Building Material "We Good If Sunderland Sells It"

GULBRANSEN PIANO NATIONALLY PRICED Branded in the Back. Why Hire Cheap? Buy Gulbransen! $700 $600 $495 A. Hospe Co. The Art and Music Store 1513-15 Douglas Street

When in Need of Help Try Bee Want Ads

WOMEN'S INTEREST IN THE PAY CHECK

Active in so many fields, women now appear to be taking a more and more personal interest in the labor disputes in which their husbands are involved.

In the news are to be found accounts of a group of wives of strikers chastising men who had remained on the job, and in many less violent ways participating in the contest.

Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States under Woodrow Wilson, lately was quoted as saying that wage cuts that otherwise might be acquired in are being fought because the women at home are strenuously opposed to any lightning of the weekly pay envelope, irrespective of what reason may be given.

If this is so, a new factor has entered the problem of labor and capital.

KEEPING THE STREETS CLEAN: Here is where Commissioner Hopkins gets endorsement for his appeal to Omaha business men to assist in keeping the streets clean.

Much effort has been made in late years to keep the thoroughfares of the city always in presentable condition. Not alone on the downtown but on the outlying streets is care expended, and ordinarily it may be truthfully said that no city in the land presents cleaner streets than Omaha.

Nebraska democrats have plenty to talk about.

On Second Thought BY H. E. STANNEBER. The only difference between the difficult and the impossible is that the impossible requires a little longer time.