

TELLING THE NEWS WITH PICTURES

PROBABLY THE WORST TRAFFIC JAM IN ALL HISTORY—Only New York, London, Paris or Chicago could stage such a holdup. When fire wrecked switchboard of Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, 1,690 elevated and subway trains and 1,500 surface cars were tied up two hours and more than 500,000 inhabitants had to walk mile-long Brooklyn Bridge. (N. Y. A.)

MOTHERS SHOP WHILE MEN NURSE BABIES—If we have Charles Gruba, "baby watchman," before a large Harlem, New York City, department store, checking a baby so mother can make her purchases. He's been on the job eleven years, checked 30,000 kiddies, and never made a mistake. (C) (K. V.)

PRETTIEST HOME FOR BIRDS, RENT FREE—Queen Anne cottages, provided by Miss May Flynn, Rye, N. Y., for songbirds, and she even feeds them.

CAPTAIN GEORGES THE NAULT, who commanded famous Lafayette Escadrille of American flyers in French army during World War, is new air attaché to French Embassy EXPECTED HAPPENS—How often, when you watch a steeplejack at work, do you shudder at the thought he may fall? Happily these brave men rarely fall, so skilled are they in their profession. But Edward Pickett, a Roxbury, Mass., steeplejack, plunged 312 feet to death when ladder slipped on First Baptist Church, Cambridge, Mass. Scores saw the accident.

COCKERHAM BARRINGTON (right), owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, American banker, was the first prize winner at a cattle show at Peterborough, England. (Int'l News Reel.)

HARRY F. SINCLAIR, wealthy oil magnate, whose $100,000 judgment in Playfellow case has been upheld. The horse, brother of Man-o-War, was adjudged a "wind-sucker."

LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF MISS POPPY WYNDHAM, daughter of Lord Inchcape, of England.

CHARMING TURBAN of black crepe de chine, trimmed with violet gros grain ribbon, created by Lewis, of Paris. (Int'l News Reel.)

JAMES "BUD" STILLMAN, son of James A. Stillman, millionaire New York banker, saved Miss Lois Butler from drowning at East Hampton, L. I., his second rescue.

"LOST WITH ALL HANDS!" is the tragic story so often told at Lloyds. This remarkable photograph shows British steamer Blue Sky sinking in the North Sea. All her passengers and crew were drowned. Rescue boats could not live in the heavy sea. (I. I.)

DANCE OF MODESTY—Miss Nina Garrett, of Los Angeles, heard her dance so called, because—well, because it's so different in costume from modern professional dancers.

ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTH CAVALRY, Pennsylvania National Guard, on guard in a mining settlement near Johnstown, Pa.

SMILING AND CAREFREE, Mrs. Clara Phillips (in centre, wearing hat) faced a Los Angeles court on the charge of beating Mrs. Alberta Meadows to death with a hammer. She pleaded "not guilty."

GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB, Philadelphia, will be the scene in September of the all comers' singles tennis championship of the world, competed for by stars from Australia, France, Spain and the United States. (C) (K. V.)