How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS
Questions concerning hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, submitted to Dr. Evans by readers of The Bee, will be answered personally...

TRENCH GAS AND T. B.

The men who were gassed during the war are in no special danger of contracting consumption. According to the law of averages, everybody is in some danger of developing that disease. But very careful studies made by the War department show that the soldier who was gassed in 1917 and 1918 is in no more danger of becoming a consumptive than he would have been had there been no gas warfare.

This information will bring relief to the minds of thousands of worrying relatives. Gas was such a mysterious substance, a consuming body was so mysterious. By reason of this mystery, veterans who had been gassed were always fearful that this year or next their lungs would show the effects of the gassing.

The War department felt the effects of this uneasiness and learning of stories that were floating around in the form of rumors, it decided to investigate. First, they undertook to find out who the men thought by studying 1,036 applications for compensation filed with the veterans' bureau.

Of these 34 per cent attributed their disability to the after effects of being gassed. Of the cases of consumption, 22.5 per cent held gassing to have been especially germane to this question were as follows:

- Of the claims for disability due to consumption, 23.5 per cent thought gassing the cause; Heart disease, 14 per cent thought gassing the cause; Asthma, 4.4 per cent thought gassing the cause;

Next, they wrote to a large number of physicians, formerly in the army, of which 13 per cent replied that they thought there was some relationship between being gassed and consumption.

Next, they wrote to 30 medical officers, associated with hospitals, where ex-soldiers were being treated for consumption. Five thought that consumption might be an after effect of being gassed.

A questioner went to thousands of physicians, through medical societies, showed that 16 per cent of these thought there was some such connection.

All this induced the government to study further. They sent a board of medical officers to Camp Grant, Ill., to study the question. They were in session several months. They had laboratory experimental work done in Chicago and they gathered from the literature reports on similar experimental work done in France.

They obtained the best opinions available on the subject from the British, the French, the Germans and the Swiss, and the conclusion drawn from all this material was that consumption is not one of the after-effects of gassing.

The conclusions after citing the expectations of consumption in each 1,000 men regardless of whether their occupation or previous history has been—

"As to the incidents of pulmonary tuberculosis resulting from exposure to gas, it would seem that it is far from convincing that gas played any particular part in this connection and it is doubtful if the incidence of lung tuberculosis among ex-servicemen is much greater by reason of the part that gas played."

Those who claimed to have developed tuberculosis a year after leaving the service from conditions experienced in the army certainly have no basis for such assertion.

Work Harder; Eat Less. Mrs. L. A. W. writes: "I am 4 feet 11 inches high and weigh 138 pounds. I would like to reduce 20 pounds, at 110 pounds was my former weight."

"Is there any kind of a tablet I can get at the drug store to reduce my weight that will not injure my health in any way, especially my heart, as I had been very weak since I had the flu two years ago?"

REPLY. No. There is no safe way to cheat. You are fat because you ate more than your work called for. The only way to reduce is to work more than you eat for call for.

Therefore, work harder, but especially eat lighter. You can make light eating comfortable by filling your stomach three times a day with greens, turnips, tomatoes, radishes and other filling raw foods.

It May Be Consumption. Mrs. H. D. B. writes: "I am 38 and have had chronic bronchitis for a number of years. It is very dangerous?"

REPLY. Are you certain it is not consumption? Most cases of chronic bronchitis are. Be examined very carefully for consumption and asthma.

T. B. Can Come Back. S. B. writes: "I am going out with a young man whom I like very much. He told me when he was a boy of 17 he had a touch of tuberculosis, but that he was cured right away. I want to know whether that can come back?"

"He is very strong and healthy now. He has worked hard. It is 22 years ago now."

REPLY. It can come back. If he lives right it should not do so.

Omaha Grain

Omaha, Aug. 2. Grain markets were dull and featureless today. The news were generally bearish. The financial condition of Germany caused some concern, many selling at another new low today, and that country was out of the market. There was also talk of exporters reselling. However, the car situation is hampering the movement of grain and there were reports of much damage by floods in the river districts of Australia. The weather continues favorable for the growing corn crop with the exception of Oklahoma, where high temperatures still prevail.

Receipts of wheat at Omaha were 137 cars, against 227 cars last year; of corn, 73 cars, against 60 cars, and of oats, 25 cars, against 17 cars last year. Total shipments were 205 cars, as compared with 226 cars last year.

Prices of cash wheat in the Omaha market were steady and offerings were in fair demand, with prices unchanged to 1/8 higher. Corn sold unchanged to 1/8 higher. Oats were unchanged. Rye was quoted 2/32 lower, and barley unchanged.
