

How to Keep Well

Questions concerning hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease...

ON FIGHTING BACTERIA.

Comparatively few organisms are present on a surface exposed to the light and circulating air when the surface has been dry for some time.

This is a conclusion of Drs. Conover and Laird of the Pennsylvania health department, after making very careful examination for bacteria...

After a case of contagion it is customary to advise that the doors and woodwork be washed down with soap and water, and that some antiseptic be applied.

Conover and Laird's observations indicate at least a possibility that this is bad advice. They say: "Thus it will be seen that a greater number of probable disease producing bacteria are to be found on a surface which has been recently washed than on an area which has been dry for some time."

As the text indicates, this opinion is based on actual bacterial examinations. The explanation is that the moistening kept more bacteria alive than the soap killed or that drying and exposure to light were better germicides than anti-septic soaps.

These experiments indicate that washing with the following antiseptic soaps had no germicidal action: 2 per cent formaldehyde cream, 10 per cent formaldehyde cream, 10 per cent sodium hypochlorite soap.

The conclusion arrived at was that yellow soap removed the dangers of infection in sanitaria and homes, as regards these two tests.

Apparently these two opinions are contradictory. On closer inspection, they are not found to be so. Dr. Conover's observations were founded on tests of cleaning done with boiling water.

Again the results are not comparable, because there is no detailed information as to the length of time of drying and exposure to light.

The Dove experiments more closely duplicate actual conditions in the home while Laird and Conover followed laboratory procedures, and finally, I think the general advice to wash up and scrub still stands.

After the dirt has been removed by scrubbing with hot water and soap, I am sure drying and sunlight will have increased germicidal powers.

Consumption is Serious. Miss M. C. writes: "I. What is tuberculosis? 2. Is it a serious sickness, if caught in time? 3. This person had it, and do you think that eight months of good care and treatment in the country and medicine will cure the person, and it is the first stage? 4. Person has gained 20 pounds in two months. Do you think that after his disease is arrested and he returns to work, he should remain under directions."

REPLY. 1. The bacillus which causes consumption. 2. Consumption is a serious illness. 3. Not unless he is under directions and living the rest open air good feeding life.

But Keep Baby Well. Mrs. J. G. writes: "I have been giving my 3-month-old baby a bottle feeding of condensed milk between each breast feeding, and find that the bottle feeding seems to satisfy her more than the breast milk."

REPLY. It will help you to get stronger provided you can keep the baby from getting sick. Condensed milk contains too much sugar.

It is a common mistake to think that the baby, in addition, one feeding at least of diluted and some fruit or tomato juice daily.

You should start with a little strained soup at about 5 months. At 6 months a little finely mashed vegetables.

Babies fed on condensed milk need to suck meat and bones early in their lives.

Tempest in the Night. S. G. writes: "I. What causes walking and talking in the sleep? 2. How can they be prevented?"

REPLY. 1. Emotional disturbance. 2. By training oneself in emotional control.

Omaha Grain

Omaha, Aug. 3, 1922. The grain markets were slow, with a lower trend. The news generally was bearish, but trading was not active.

There was little doing in export circles early and receipts were somewhat heavier. Rains were reported in the southwest and the condition of the growing corn is very satisfactory as a rule.

A better export demand developed on the break and Chicago reported 1,000,000 bushels worked out of that market.

Omaha receipts of wheat were 102 cars, as compared with 170 cars last year; corn, 61 cars, against 60 cars last year. Receipts of other grains were light. Total shipments were 192 cars, against 310 cars last year.

There is a very good demand for all grains in the Omaha market, and all samples were cleaned up early. A large percentage of the arrivals are grain bought on to arrive bids and are not sold on the floor.

Cash wheat sold 1/2c to 1/4c lower. Corn was generally 1/4c to 1/2c lower. Oats sold unchanged to 1/4c lower. Rye was quoted 1/4c to 3/4c lower and barley was nominally 2c lower.
