

What the Theaters Offer.

THE six-act vaudeville bill now at the World theater should prove one of the most popular of the successful summer season at the new playhouse. Hazel Green and her jazz band headline. Miss Green is a captivating singer of songs of the syncopated type while her band are saxophone artists said to be second to none. In "Odds and Ends," Wilson and Larsen are scheduled to provide 15 entertaining minutes. For something different the World management commends "Pastel Shades," a colorful composition of rhythm and song cleverly interpreted by a company of three.

Cats in Films.

To the outsider it would seem an easy task to find a genuine Persian cat which would photograph convincingly and yet beautifully. Assistant Director Ewens, who is helping James Young on "Omar the Tentmaker," spent hours studying the qualifications of the scores of felines which were brought to him, and even made screen tests of a number of them. Several of the cat entries for this screen position were show champions, yet they photographed like alley intruders. Finally the difficulty was solved when Evelyn Selbie, who plays the role of Sarah in support of Guy Bates Post, the star of "Omar the Tentmaker," volunteered to lend her own cat for the production. It photographs like the prize-winning animal that it is and furthermore seems to be as much at home in the Persian settings as the several Persian actors who are working on this production.

Indian Babe Plays.

"High-Mucky-Muck" is the name the men of the Cornopolitan company filming "The Valley of Silent Men," gave to the little papoose of John Powderface, chief of the Stony tribe of Canadian Indians who worked in the picture. The child is 4 years old and was taught to say "high-mucky-muck" by Frank Borzage, director. Consequently whenever he sees a white man he lifts his tiny hands to his ears in a fanlike spread, wrinkles his eyes tight and lips "high-mucky-muck." The child said the phrase so often that the boys of the company applied the name to him.

New Model Liberties Soon to Be Announced

It is stated that two entirely new models of the Liberty are soon to be announced—one, a four-passenger speedster of the Cavalier type, the other a two-passenger closed car. While little definite information is yet available on the latter model, it is understood that this car is to be priced at so very little more than the open Cavalier models that it will offer sensational value. The top will be of sturdy construction, to be upholstered in Spanish leather and gray wool fabric, and many of the details in equipment and finish are distinctly out of the ordinary.

Prices Reduced for Nash Motors

"Buyers' Market," Company Head Declares an Advance May Be Necessary.

Word comes from the Nash factory announcing substantial reductions in the price of all Nash models, ranging from $150 to $200 on the six-cylinder cars, and from $50 to $100 on the fours.

In making these reductions C. W. Nash said, "The dollar now has greater purchasing power in the automobile field than anywhere else. The quality of Nash cars has been steadily improved and in construction and performance they are the finest cars I have ever produced. In fact at no previous time in the history of the industry has there been such great value offered at such low prices.

"Considering labor and material costs, it is seriously questionable as to whether or not such low prices can be maintained. If ever there has been a 'buyers' market' it is right now."

Durant's Distribution Spreads Wide in Year

The Durant Motor company of New York announces that nearly every large city in the United States now has a Durant distributor, according to O. A. Wilson, sales manager for Andrew Murphy & Son, Durant distributors for Nebraska and western Iowa.

This, according to Wilson, is a remarkable record. The Durant company has been in business only a year and has distribution over the entire United States and Canada, while many manufacturers have been in the auto-manufacturing business for years without gaining such wide representation.

Wilson adds that every important town in Nebraska and Iowa now has a Durant dealer.

The mystery of her silence: stupidity.

Production Figures Show Big Increase

One of the most striking developments in the automotive field this spring is recorded in production figures shown by the Willys-Overland company.

The total production of all cars for the first six months of 1922 is estimated at 1,137,000 cars. Figures of carload, boat and driveway shipments indicate an increase of approximately 75 per cent over the first six months of 1921. The total production of all cars for June was 288,000, 61 per cent more than June, 1921.

Willys-Overland, which has now reached a production of 700 cars per day, produced in June more than 170 per cent more cars than in June, 1921. The increase of Willys-Overland production for the first six months was 173 per cent over the first six months of 1921. This increase is almost equally proportioned among Overland and Willys-Knight cars.

Total shipments of Overland and Willys-Knight cars for the first six months of 1922 lacked only 113 cars of being equal to the shipments for the entire year of 1921.

Quiet in Factory Is Feature of Cadillac

"Absence of noise in the Cadillac factory motor department causes constant comment among the crowds of visitors that flow through the great new plant of the Cadillac Motor Car company," says J. H. Hansen, distributor of the Cadillac for Omaha, Lincoln and Sioux City, who visited the factory at Detroit last week.

"This quietness prevails, despite the great production schedule maintained by Cadillac. Machined with care, each part is fitted into the whole by hand. The Cadillac engine has been compared with Solomon's temple, in that it is built noiselessly. The clink of wrench and screwdriver is practically the only sound heard in the long aisles where craftsmen assemble the motors. Each master-mechanic in the factory assembles only two or three engines a day, so painstakingly is the work performed. The parts are wheeled into the room on trucks and placed within handy reach of the mechanic who, with the aid of his adjustable iron bench, proceeds to fit the units of the machine together."

The Jean Jackson troupe, known throughout the big-time vaudeville circuits as wonder cyclists, are to present a featured act of the new show which opens at the Empress today. This aggregation presents an act so replete with new, novel and original feats as to make their offering stand out superior to any in their line. Gould and Leroy will surely please theatergoers with their comedy, songs and dancing. Josselyn and Turner are to offer an instrumental program in which they play selections on the saxophone, banjo, mandolin, flute and ukulele. They finish with an exhibition of acrobatic, Russian and soft-shoe dancing. Completing the vaudeville program are the team of Walzer and Lee, who feature the toe and eccentric dancing. They are numbered among vaudeville's classiest dancers.

It is the way Essex cars continue their unusually fine and reliable performance that chiefly wins the admiration of owners.

They say it does not grow old. It keeps its new car smoothness. It remains economical, efficient, and inexpensive to maintain and operate. These are qualities expected only in costly cars. And that is what particularly gives emphasis to Essex value at this price.
