

Patriotism Is Keynote of Talk by Legion Chief

Commander MacNider Given Hearty Welcome by Omaha; Urges Aid for Disabled Veterans.

Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, was accorded a hearty welcome Friday night by members of Douglas county post and others who attended an open meeting in Brandeis theater.

The commander was met at Union station by Post Commander Samuel Reynolds, Post Adjutant Harry Hough and State Commander William Ritchie, Jr.

Speech Broadcast. Commander MacNider's address was broadcast by The Omaha Bee through the Omaha Grain Exchange radio station.

A tender bit of sentiment marked the meeting of the distinguished guest and Mrs. A. H. Mielzner, 2573 Baseman avenue, both natives of Mason City, Ia.

The Douglas County Post band entertained with several numbers. On the stage were attendants of the Bellevue vocational school, with B. M. Mace, Jr., director.

Mr. MacNider, accompanied by his secretary, George Harvey, left this morning for Sioux City.

Patriotism was the keynote of the address delivered by Commander MacNider.

He referred to laws having been passed in nearly every state requiring the teaching of the constitution in the schools, that coming generation may realize what it means to be an American.

Our work along this line, he said, "includes everything from putting up a flag on the country school house to fighting for proper immigration laws."

In his reference to disabled veterans he said: "Our first duty is now and always will be to see that those buddies of ours that came back blind, maimed, broken in health and body, get a square deal from the country they fought for."

Questionnaires to be Sent Out by Omaha Strikers. Questionnaires may be dispatched to every senator and congressman in Washington by railway shopmen strikers in Omaha inquiring as to their stand on the railroad strike, according to a discussion held in the Labor temple yesterday by the strikers' executive board.

"We are interested in legislation that may be under way pertaining to the strikers," said a member of the board.

One speaker stated that "floaters" are traveling from strike center to strike center, "touring the country" on employment passes. The speaker reported he had information of 25 strikebreakers who came here on a Union Pacific train from the west to go to work in Omaha and left shortly after for the east on a Rock Island train.

Prince of Wales Orders Cigarettes From War Hero. London, Aug. 5.—The prince of Wales has ordered 5,000 monogrammed gold cigarettes from a Cirencester tobacconist, blinded in the war.

The prince espied the sightless man, asked about conditions and when told his occupation and how he was blinded, he decided to replenish his cigarette stock from him. Unable to obtain the special brand of finest Turkish tobacco which the prince uses, the tobacconist had to contract for an order through a Piccadilly concern.

Three Gold Star Babies in War Mothers' Contest

This trio of fatherless babes enjoyed a glorified, but pathetic distinction at the War Mothers' contest at Krug park yesterday. They are the "gold star" babies—daughters of men who gave up their lives for their country while these wee bits of humanity were yet unborn.

"Perhaps the adulation of the throngs today may in some way compensate for the father's caresses they will never know," said Mrs. Florence Meadows, one of the women in charge.

The War Mothers themselves awarded special prizes of gold lockets to each of the three. They are Grace Barker, 18 months old, whose father, Fred Barker, died two months ago of tuberculosis contracted while nursing tubercular buddies overseas.

The third is Dolphine Anne Drabek, named for her daddy, Adolphine A. Drabek, who died at Fort Sill, Dolphine was 3 on July 10. Her mother, Mrs. Agnes Drabek, lives at 528 Park avenue.
