

New Synod Bodies to Hold Separate Conventions Here

Organizing Finished for Both Nebraska Districts—Board of Support Chairman Reads Report.

The Nebraska district of the Missouri Lutheran synod, which began its sessions Wednesday, will today continue as two bodies. In accordance with a vote Wednesday to split the district into the North Nebraska and the South Nebraska districts, these two were organized yesterday afternoon and today will hold separate meetings.

G. W. Wolter, chairman of the board of support of the Nebraska district, reported that receipts of the fund in the United States in 1921 were $185,000, five times as much as in 1917.

Last year 11 pastors, 1 teacher, 12 wives, 12 pastors' widows, 1 teacher's widow, 22 children under 16, and 2 students, a total of 61 persons, were supported, $7,992 was disbursed and $4,852 was collected in this district.

In the entire country, the fund helped to support 122 pastors and professors, 38 men teachers, 135 wives, 207 pastors' widows, 68 teachers' widows, 391 children and 26 students, a total of 997 persons.

So great is the volume of business coming before the synod meeting that it was announced it will continue until Monday evening and maybe until Tuesday.

Betty Compson has just purchased a new home in Hollywood. The star recently finished playing one of the two featured roles in "To Have and to Hold," a George Fitzmaurice production. Bert Lytell is in the masculine lead.

One of Louise Dresser's earliest jobs in the theatrical profession was in a "Peck's Bad Boy" company on the road, for which she was engaged at $10 a week. Since then she has gotten as much as $1,000 a week in a vaudeville act.

She is now engaged in her second motion picture, "Burning Sands," which features Wanda Hawley and Milton Sills.

Pauline Starke and Rosemary Theby, who played together in "The Conscientious Yankee in King Arthur's Court," are renewing their association in the production of "Passions of the Sea," from Carey Wilson's story, "Captain Blackbird," in which House Peters and Antonio Moreno have the leading masculine roles. The company sailed recently for two months' work in the South Sea isles.

Diphtheria Halted.
A few years ago there were no public health nurses to send in throat cultures in the fight on diphtheria. Today there are 33 counties maintaining school nurses who depend on the state laboratory. Last year the Red Cross in one town sent in cultures from every child in school, and from the report was able to locate diphtheria carriers and halt the spread of disease.

With this great increase in work only one chemist and an office girl has been added. Frequently some of the staff find it necessary to work at night or on Sunday. Investigation of the code department contradicts the general impression that public employees come down to work at any old time before noon and leave shortly after lunch. Each employee under the code signs a time slip, morning, noon and evening. A glance at one of these shows some to have arrived as early as 7:40 a. m., almost all by 8, and only one as late as 8:20. Doctor Dillon has computed that the over time for which his staff of 20 persons gets no pay amounted to 88 days last year.

Receives Federal Aid.
"Why is this," he asks, and answers "because it is necessary in order to get the work done. If there is any duplication here, I would like to have some one point it out so that we can eliminate at least the overtime work."

Prayer Each Day

How shall He meet with Him?
Truly give us all things—Rom. 8:32.
O God, our Father, we thank Thee that we may come to Thee, Thou art holy, and we know how unfit we are to present ourselves before Thee, yet, O our Saviour, Thy sufferings and death for us give us the precious knowledge that Thou dost love and will forgive us. We thank Thee that we come so freely and tell Thee all that is in our hearts. We are deeply conscious of our weakness; we pray for strength and power. Many times we fail to do what we should; help us to make our lives useful and helpful to others.

Thou knowest, too, how many things fall to our hands to do in the midst of it all give us sweet hours of quiet and repose, keep us from becoming anxious or complaining. We ask for a trust in Thee that will still the soul and help us to see that Thou art in our lives. Lord, Thou hast been so much to us, we want all the world to know Thee. Help us ever to see Thy blessings that of those near and far away, some may be led to know and love Thee. Help us to be so that our lives shall be a testimony of our love for Thee and thankfulness to Thee, our Jesus, who Amen.

this cause. Since the first of the year 245 investigations have been made. Nebraska is one of the states taking advantage of the Shepherd-Town or maternity act. To date it has received $17,296 from the federal government and in January it will get $9,371 more. The state is required to add to this sum $7,296 this year and $13,090 each year thereafter, unless the suit against the constitution-ality of the act which has been brought by Massachusetts goes against the federal government. Miss Margaret McGreevy and her assistant carry on this work and draw their salaries from the federal treasury.

Examining Boards Centralized.
Vital statistics kept by the bureau of health show that 1,880 infants died last year before they were 12 months old. The death of 204 mothers is attributed directly to child birth. The design of this law is to reduce mortality among mothers and children. Public health nursing and health centers are encouraged. Bulletins, slides, conferences and lectures are a means of educating along these lines.

For the first time all examining boards except that for law have been centralized, under the code system.

In the old days, members were scattered over the state and their records were very incompletely kept. As now grouped, under the supervision of H. H. Antles, secretary of the department of public welfare, complete information on the standing of every professional man is obtained at the state capital. Once a year an inspector is sent out to deal with charges of unprofessional conduct.

These boards are more than self-supporting through the collection of fees. Athletics Department.
The newest division of the department is that of athletics. It also is self-supporting and, after paying all expenses will this year contribute $10,000 to the state treasury. Boxing became popular during the world war. When the service men returned they insisted that the Nebraska law against boxing matches be repealed. The American Legion drew up a bill to license boxing exhibitions and wrestling matches. This measure as passed provides strict supervision of this form of athletics and has enabled more than 250,000 persons to enjoy the sport.

Enough has been said to indicate clearly that the duties of this code department have been assumed only upon the insistence of the public. A great many of its functions are highly necessary, but doubtless some could be dropped if the public is willing to sacrifice their benefits. However, since many of these activities are self-supporting through a system of fees and licenses, and even add income to the state treasury, little, if any reduction in taxes could be assured by their elimination.
