War Veteran Quits Army Post for Pulpit

Col. Arthur P. S. Hyde.

It is a far cry from command of an artillery brigade in the battle at St. Mihiel to the quiet of an Episcopal pulpit in California. Yet that is the march about to be completed by Col. Arthur P. S. Hyde, United States army veteran of three wars during his 26 years of service, who has just arrived in San Francisco from Fort Amador, Panama Canal zone.

Dethroned Third Party Head Goes to North Platte

J. H. Edmisten, Pilot of New-Born Organization, Leaves Lincoln With Broken Health.

Lincoln, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—J. H. Edmisten, dethroned third party chairman, has left Lincoln for his home near North Platte for a stay of at least two weeks. His rooms at the Lindell hotel, which have been used as third party headquarters for several months, are closed. It was stated at the hotel Edmisten relinquished the rooms.

Picture of Health. Before leaving, Edmisten told friends he intended to return to Lincoln in two weeks. At that time he expects to make an announcement relative to his course of procedure in endeavoring to place $2,500 in his pockets which he claims due him from the third party.

Stricken Blind. Meantime, he was stricken totally blind. Specialists told him blindness was caused by infection from his teeth. Almost daily for some time he was led to the office of a dentist, where teeth were extracted in accordance with his instructions. Edmisten refused to relinquish his leadership. For weeks he directed the campaign from a darkened room suffering much pain. Recently his eyesight has been partially restored.

(Continued From Page One.) root once more becomes a candidate for re-election and will again be opposed by the La Follette machine. Supported by Labor. The character of the support being given Senator La Follette is indicated by the recent number of Labor, the national weekly organ of organized labor, which has published a special Wisconsin edition.

Government Control. The various commercial transactions contemplated by the soviet authorities in the export of commodities from southern Russia and the import of others through northwestern Russian ports naturally call for a definition of policy on the part of the soviet government to be followed in its dealing with foreign nations and subjects. Such a policy was enunciated at a recent conference on foreign trade in Moscow which was presided over by Krassin.

Courts Attacked. Urging the election of Senator La Follette, this group among other things says: "Complete the greatest fight of his career which has recently been launched to curb judicial oligarchy, which from the supreme court down to the meanest federal judges have usurped and are daily asserting powers to issue injunctions, to make laws, and to declare legislation unconstitutional, which were never conferred upon them by the constitution or by the laws of the land. This has the unanimous support of the American Federation of Labor and will be backed by every labor organization in the United States."

National Guard Notes

The recreation tent was crowded Friday night for the entertainment furnished by chautauqua talent from Lincoln and a splendid program was provided.

The boys of First battalion headquarters company, Nebraska City, are enjoying some extra fine cats just now as a result of a check for $25 contributed to their mess fund by William Pitzer, Nebraska City law partner of Major Cline, who commands the First battalion.

Maj. Otis C. Davis, senior battalion commander, has the western Nebraska companies in his outfit, several of which came over 400 miles to attend the encampment. Major Davis is from Scottsbluff, which was the first town in the state to organize a National guard company after the world war.

First battalion headquarters company is the first on record to secure a mascot, having adopted a Spitz dog named "Nellie."

An ammunition truck got stuck in mud last night at the range Friday morning after the rain and it was with considerable difficulty it was gotten out.

Rain Friday morning was good for the drill field, which the Chamber of Commerce had just had diked and harrowed and had intended to soak down when J. P. Pluvius saved them the trouble.

The officers' tents have all been moved up to line and the company streets dressed up in anticipation of the visit of Governor McKelvie Monday.

One of the strange paradoxes is that successful borrowers are usually poor collectors.

Death of Code Law Is Stab at Laboring Men

(Continued From Page One.) from accident insurance companies on policies taken out by employers. This system is one in use by all except six states. Strangely enough, it originated in the suggestion of employers themselves. It is based on the belief that the cost of human wastage in industry should be borne by the industries themselves rather than by the crippled workers. Instead of wage earners being catapulted into poverty by the chance of injury, their hospital expenses are paid, their doctor is paid, and they are given enough money to live on while they up. The system works to the advantage of business as a whole. Grocers do not have to wait for their pay and the incapacitated workman is not pauperized.

It is a fact that great numbers of workmen never have taken the trouble to learn of this protection. Many men are insured without ever knowing it. However, if a man who is injured in his line of duty notifies his employer and goes to the doctor recommended, he will begin to receive insurance compensation one week later.

Money Given Weekly. This compensation amounts to two-thirds of the man's regular wage, but does not exceed $15 a week. No pay is awarded for the first week he is unable to work, unless he loses six weeks' time or more. The compensation is given weekly, not in a lump sum. In the event of his death, the widow gets $15 a week for almost seven years. The following table shows the compensation paid for specific losses:

Thumb $ 900
First finger 525
Second finger 450
Third finger 300
Fourth finger 225
Hand 2,025
Arm 3,375
Foot 2,250
Leg 3,225
Eye 1,875
Death 5,250
Burial benefit 150

In addition, there is no limit on medical and hospital costs. One of the advantages of the system is that no lawyer has to be hired, nor any suit brought. For the protection of the uniformed, the rule is made that no compromise on a lump sum payment is valid without the consent of the secretary of labor. A better feeling is engendered between employer and employee, and no one loses his rights for fear of being deprived of his job. And if the injured man recovers, he can return to work without being weighed down by debt due to his illness.

Many Injured in Omaha. Half the accidents coming under this new law occur in Omaha—almost 500 a month. Secretary Kennedy spends each Saturday at his branch office in the Douglas county courthouse, which is usually as crowded as any barber shop. An instance from the record illustrates the working of the law.

"Fred E. Brooks received an injury to his left eye while unloading receiving treatment, but finally the doctors decided he had lost the vision of the eye. A hearing was had, August 24, 1921, and compensation was allowed him for 125 weeks at $15 each week, together with medical and hospital expenses."

There is, of course, a great deal more than this single activity under the secretary of labor. But before passing to the other functions it is well to contract the shabby way in which this compensation bureau formerly was treated. Until Governor McKelvie got the code bill through no check was made to make sure that the victims of accidents received their due and there was no appropriation sufficient to keep the records. Governor Neville was commissioner of this bureau and 16 others. Under him was a deputy, paid $4.14 per day, and a stenographer.

Gives Full Time. Now the head of the labor department devotes his full time to the work. He has charge of the enforcement of labor laws, including those protecting women and children, factory inspection, safety rules and employment agencies.

Here in Lincoln a free employment office is maintained which has proved useful to farmers in need of harvest hands and to city employers as well. The federal government pays the salary of the manager, and the state bears the expense of upkeep. For a time, when such assistance was needed, the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce shared the expense. Employers prefer to patronize this state agency, and the fake employment bureaus have been driven out by competition.

The republican platform contains a pledge that the scope of the department of labor and the department of agriculture will be enlarged. The platform on which the democratic party is running on the other hand, promises to repeal the code law and destroy the code departments, returning to the condition of the past. It does not seem possible that this great work would be overthrown with the consent of the people affected.

"For Mothers Only"

It hurt, that knowledge. All day long I went around with a wound in my heart. But at night, when I was lying in bed staring at the ceiling, I looked the matter straight in the eyes. Molly was right in her feeling. Here I was, barely forty, yet I looked sixty!

The next morning I had a talk with my husband. I told him what had happened. "I want some new clothes," I said. "Thank heaven!" he cried. "Go to it! If you're through in time come to the office and take lunch with me."

Well, I did it! I went to a store that was noted for its good taste. They entered into my problem wholeheartedly. I came out looking ten years younger! My husband stayed out to lunch two hours! And Molly, coming downtown to meet us, had her soul in her eyes. I could see she was so proud of me she was near to bursting with joy!

We do not happen to be the place to which Molly's mother went, for that's in another town, but we do make a specialty of apparel for matrons. Many of the best-dressed mothers in town buy their clothes here regularly. How soon will we have the pleasure of showing you how we can take years from your looks?
