

MAGAZINE FEATURES

Miss Watt Names Committees for Concert Series

The general committee for the popular priced concert series to be given during the winter by the woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce at the City Auditorium met with Lucius Prior Tuesday evening to formulate plans for the concerts. Miss Belle Ryan, chairman of the committee on arrangements, is being assisted by the Misses Grace Rowland, Beulah Hall, Esther Johnson and Fay Watt, president of the woman's division.

The ticket committee includes: Miss Mary Austin, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Macready, Mrs. May Simpson, Dr. Emila Brandt, Miss L. M. Montgomery and the following sub-chairmen: Mesdames Pearl Haugeat, Sadie Johnson, Florence Chamberlain, M. L. Marti, Veretta Crane, Eva L. Hutchinson, Mary Marston Kinsey and the Misses Cassie Royce, Mary Hoffman, Mary Goerne, Margaret Lyle, Florence McCabe, Florence Moore, Mary Cooper, Mae Mullin, Charlotte Burgess and Jane Mustain.

The concerts are being given in the interests of better music, according to Miss Watt. Proceeds will be given to local charities.

The five artists to be presented are: Madame Schumann-Heink, contralto; Barbara Mauril, mezzo-soprano; Paul Althouse, tenor; Florence Macbeth, coloratura soprano, and the Christian Male quartet. The dates for the concerts have not been set.

More than 80 members of the woman's division met for dinner at Carter Lake club last evening, after which they attended the Venetian carnival.

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase of "REVELATIONS OF A WIFE" (Copyright 1922)

The Way Junior Got Madge Into Trouble and Out Again.

Either Mother Graham must have slept more soundly than usual or Katie's keyhole-tapping under my direction must have been especially efficacious. At any rate, Lillian's tear that she might smell the coffee and descend upon us proved to be unfounded, and the lunch which Katie served us was undisturbed.

There was no lingering around the table, however; no heavy over-seemed to feel the seriousness of the adventure to which we were committed. And after Katie had served us, and at my bidding had gone to her room, leaving the clearing up for the early morning before Mother Graham should be astir, we were not long in following her example.

Dicky before his adoring little son.

So I made my voice tender instead of stern, and murmured softly: "Mother doesn't know, but it will be soon—just as soon as Daddy possibly can get away."

Junior pouted adorably.

Junior is indifferent.

"Daddy had to stay away from Dooner," he announced. "Make him turn home, Mamma."

Mother Graham, knowing the futility of argument. Already my little lad has a very decided will of his own.

Junior considered this a minute. Then, evidently sensing the hollow-ness of the promise, he dug his fists into his eyes and began to howl loudly and wholeheartedly.

"I want my Daddy! I want my Daddy!"

"Hush, darling! I took his tiny hands in mine and kissed his tear-wet face. "Mother's here; won't mother do?"

"Don't want you!" with a burst of baby temper. "I want my Daddy, and he renewed his howls.

I was afraid he would arouse the house, and I tried a ruse which never fails with Junior.

"Very well," I said coldly, getting out of bed, "if Junior doesn't want mother she will have to go away, too."

He stopped open-mouthed in the middle of a yell, scrambled up and jumped frantically for me, clinging to me with arms and legs.

"Don't go away, mamma," he pleaded. "Dooner be good boy."

"Margaret! My mother-in-law's voice sounded sternly from the doorway. "I should think you would select some other time to exhibit your senseless jealousy of the baby's preference for Richard than when the darling is crying his eyes out for his father."

She advanced toward me and held out her arms, with her eyes fixed pitifully upon Junior.

"Danzie's baby come to Danzie," she crooned. "Danzie won't go away."

I try very hard not to answer my mother-in-law when she gives way to her capricious temper, and I was able to keep my lips closed at her unjust accusation. But I would have been less than human had I not rejoiced fiercely when Junior spoke with superb indifference:

"I don't want you. Go away. I just want my mamma."

KEEPEY-TIME TALES MORE TALES OF CUFFY BEAR BY ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

CHAPTER XLVI
Cuffy Bear's Share.

Cuffy Bear stopped and looked around. Somebody in the woods had spoken his name. He soon saw that it was Tommy Fox, who sat on a knoll and grinned at him.

"Do you want to talk with me?" Cuffy inquired.

"Yes!" Tommy answered. "I have an invitation for you."

"A party! Cuffy cried, pricking up his ears.

"Yes! You might call it a party," Tommy Fox replied with a leer. "There'll be plenty of share of the hen."

"Then I'm going to it," Cuffy decided.

"Good Tommy" exclaimed.

Run! Run for the woods! Tommy Fox urged him.

"There'll be just two in the party—you and I. We'll go down to the henhouse tonight and get us a fat hen. And don't you tell your mother!"

"Why not?" Cuffy demanded.

"Wouldn't you rather surprise her? She'll be pleased when you come home with your share of the hen." Tommy Fox's bright eyes twinkled merrily as he looked at Cuffy Bear, thinking what a fine meal he would have made a year before, when he was younger and tenderer. It was a great pity that cubs grew so fast.

Cuffy liked the idea of surprising his mother. So he promised to meet Tommy Fox beside the spring at dusk.

They met at the time agreed upon.

And keeping a careful eye upon each other, they traveled down the mountain to the farm buildings. All was quiet there. The hens had long since gone to roost. Even the rooster was asleep, though there were signs of rain and it was a wonder that he wasn't crowing to warn Farmer Green of the coming storm.

"Now whispered Tommy Fox to Cuffy Bear, "you burst in that old door and grab the fattest hen you can find. I'll wait outside here."

Cuffy threw his weight against the door. It yielded instantly. And the next moment he found himself inside the henhouse. In one corner he saw a big, white shape huddled low, fast asleep. Above his head were fows of hens on their roosts, likewise lost in slumber.

"This white one on the floor is certainly the biggest," he thought. "She must be so big that she couldn't fly up to the roost." So he seized the white sleeper and dashed out of doors.

"Run! Run for the woods!" Tommy Fox urged him. And together they dashed away.

When they reached the woods Tommy Fox declared that they were safe.

"I'll carry the hen for you now," he told Cuffy. And when Cuffy joined the sly rascal there was no goose to be seen, anywhere. There was nothing to suggest a goose, except a pile of white feathers that gleamed in the moonlight.

"She wasn't very tough," said Tommy Fox with a smirk. "I've eaten worse."

"Where's my share?" Cuffy demanded.

"There!" and Tommy pointed at the heap of feathers.

Cuffy Bear was angry. He opened his mouth to roar, but Tommy Fox said quickly, "I saved you the best part of all. You want to please your mother, don't you?"

"Yes!"

"Then take these feathers home to her. There's nothing makes so soft a bed as goose feathers. She'll be sure to like them."

All this was news to Cuffy. He began to feel somewhat ashamed because he had been angry. And gathering up the feathers, he thanked Tommy Fox for his kindness.

"They parted then. And Cuffy Bear went home.

"See, mother! See what I've brought you! Goose feathers!" Cuffy cried as soon as he crept inside the den.

"Oh! oh! oh! Aren't those fine?" Mrs. Bear exclaimed.

"Where's the goose?" Mr. Bear demanded, rising swiftly.

"Tommy Fox ate that," Cuffy explained. And he told his father everything.

Mr. Bear was so upset that he stamped upon the goose feathers and sent them flying in every direction.

"The next time," he thundered, "you bring home the goose and leave the feathers for Tommy Fox. That young man, is the way to please your father," Mr. Bear growled. (Copyright 1922)

Think twice before you speak evil—then say nothing.

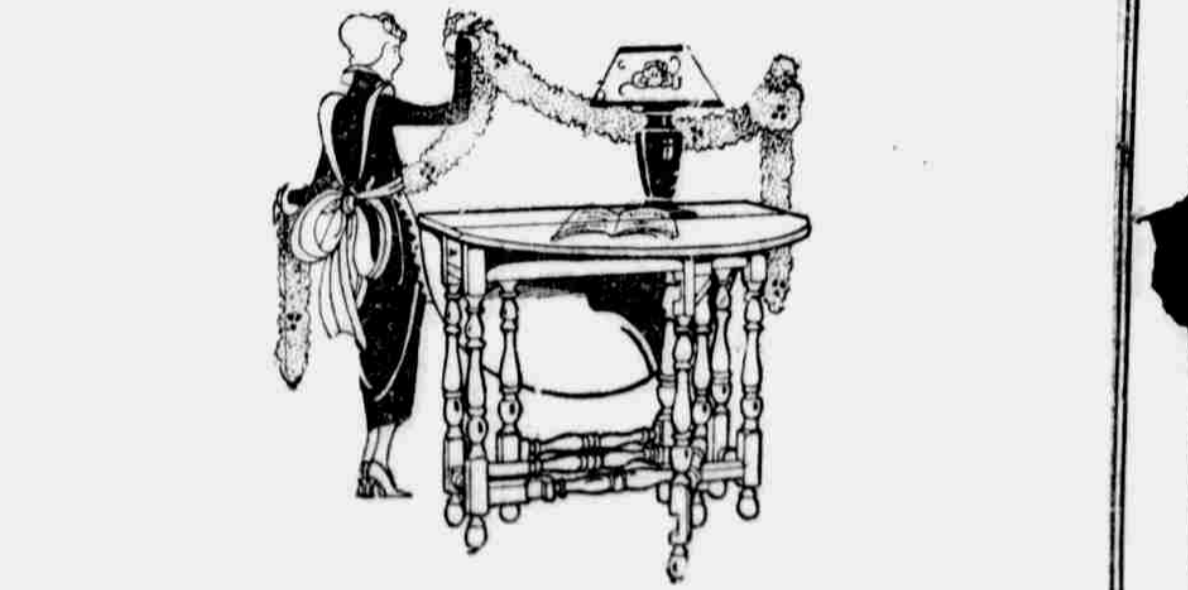

Two Sales in One

Bowen's
"THE VALUE GIVING STORE"
August FURNITURE SALE

and Clearance Sale of Furniture, Rugs and Draperies That Were Damaged by Fire, Smoke and Water in Our Basement Thursday Evening, August 10th

As has been announced in our advertisements the past few days, we are disposing of all merchandise that was in the least bit affected by either fire, smoke or water in our recent fire, at unheard of low prices. Many have taken advantage of the extreme low prices to furnish their homes, while many others have secured odd pieces at a fraction of what the article cost originally. All articles of this character have been segregated to one floor space and this sale is apart from our Regular August Furniture Sale, where all perfect Furniture, Rugs and Draperies that were not in the least bit affected by the fire are selling at from

10 to 50 Per Cent Discounts

Gate Leg Tables All Perfect in Every Respect

$65.00 Mahogany Gate Leg Tables...$39.75
$40.00 Mahogany Gate Leg Tables...$29.75
$30.00 Mahogany Gate Leg Tables...$19.75

$25.00 Mahogany Gate Leg Tables...$16.75
$20.00 Mahogany or Oak Tables...$10.75
35 other styles, sizes and prices to select from.

Just a Few of the Many Items in Our Fire Clearance Sale:

Three-quarter Iron Beds...$5.00
$5.00 and $6.00 Iron Beds...$2.50
$55.00 Brass Beds...$6.50
Bed Springs...$5.00
$7.50 Sanitary Springs...$1.05
$10.00 Sanitary Springs...$2.50
$9.00 Dining Couches...$3.45
$6.00 Dining Chairs...$1.25

$55.00 Base Burners...$12.50
$90.00 3-piece Dunfold Suite...$37.50
$78.50 Toupe Velour Arm Chair...$24.50
$72.50 Chaise Lounge...$22.50
$48.00 Kitchen Cabinet...$18.75
$19.50 Library Tables...$18.75
$50.00 8x10-6 Axminster Rugs...$23.85
$32.50 9x12 Brussels Rugs...$10.75

FREE! It Pays to Read Bowen's Sunday Ads
Thurs., Aug. 31 at 2 P. M.
We will give away free an 8-piece Walnut Dining Room Suite and 37 other useful household articles. Come in and ask about it.
No Purchase Required.

Exchange your old furniture, rugs or stoves for new while our prices are down during our August Furniture Sale. We will allow you what your old article is worth as first payment on the new.

H.R. Bowen & Co.
"OMAHA VALUE GIVING STORE"
Howard Street Between 15th and 16th Sts.
Have the Metropolitan Van and Storage Co. Move You.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Waiting for Right Man.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl in my 20s and am going about with a man eight years my senior. When I first met this man I did not fancy him at all, but I got used to him after a while. He presented me with a pretty friendship ring. He keeps telling me how much he loves me. A girl friend introduced me to a man and he gave me a position in his place.

Miss Fairfax, I love this man more than my own life. But he is engaged to another. What shall I do?

BLUE EYES.

Conquer your fancy for the man who would probably be annoyed if he knew how you were building romance about him. You must not break up another girl's happiness, nor yet find yourself at a man who has befriended you and given you work. But on the other hand, don't marry the other man merely because you are "used" to him. Wait for a real love and one to which you are entitled.

The Need for Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a very nice girl about my age—20. This girl was married and has a child; her husband is looked up on a bigamy charge, as he was married before, so she is getting an annulment. This girl told me all this, then told me to let her let me know if I still cared for her. Now what should I do?

PUZZLED.

The girl has done nothing wrong. She has suffered and needs love and understanding. If you were five years older I should say "Go ahead and try to bring her the happiness she has missed." But your youth makes me doubt your stability and judgment. The whole situation hinges on your character—not on what has happened to her. And you don't make me feel that you aren't ready to measure up to the situation. It is a grave responsibility to marry at all—but under these circumstances a real man is required—not a boy.

Personals

Walter D. Williams has returned from a trip to New York.

Paul Leussler and Allen Holmes are camping at Lake Okoboji.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander announce the birth of a daughter August 22 at the Stewart hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorins J. Fries announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday, August 20, at their home.

Miss Mary Larmon is spending the month of August with Mrs. Marian Sturtevant at Lake Koreris, Minn.

Mrs. W. A. Sinclair and son motored back Tuesday from Lake Okoboji, where they have been spending 10 days at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith will leave on Saturday for a trip through the Yellowstone, and later may make plans to go on to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Gage and son left Wednesday by motor to return to their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Miss Anna Traub.

On Saturday Mrs. John K. Morrison and sons, Jack and Donald, returned from Crescent Beach, Lake Okoboji, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Williams of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Williams and their children, Margaret and Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. John Crookham and sons of Oskaloosa, Ia., were week-end guests of Mrs. L. M. Lord.

Mrs. Ralph West returned early last week from a summer spent at Long Beach and Carmel, Cal. While at Long Beach Mrs. West was accompanied by her husband later joined Miss Olive West at Carmel. Miss West arrived in Omaha Saturday.

Our 9th August Fur Sale

But one week more of our August Sale. Do not fail to attend this extraordinary event.

Unusual Savings on Furs!

Every woman who is contemplating the purchase of a fur garment should, by all means, attend our August Fur Sale and take advantage of the unusual Savings it offers.

All of our garments are designed and finished in our shops by expert craftsmen. The skins and pelts are received Direct from the Aulabaugh Trading Posts in northern Canada—thus providing our patrons with only the Perfect Furs selected from the entire season's catch.

Buying the skins and pelts direct from the Indian trappers eliminates the profits of the middle-men; at Aulabaugh's you can purchase the Finished Garment for approximately the same price the manufacturer must pay on the open market for the raw skins required to make that garment.

Your selection will be placed in our vaults until fall without additional charge.

Special August Fur Sale Prices

Fine Quality Sealone Coat, 40 inches long, collar, man-darin sleeves	$135	Russian Kolinsky Cape shawl, collar, tail and paw trimming	$275
Perlan Lamb Coat, 40 inches long, skunk collar and cuffs	$385	Skip Seal of Scotch Mole	$30
Black Fitch Cape, with Hudson Seal trimming	$250	One skin Stone Martin Cloaker, unusually long fine skin	$60

Aulabaugh Furs
Southeast Corner 19th and Farnam