

Howell Pleased With Selection of G. O. P. Leader

Candidate for Senate Says Committee Selection Assures Clean and Vigorous Campaign.

"The republican party is to be congratulated upon the organization of the new state central committee. With Judge Perry as chairman, a vigorous, clean campaign is assured," said R. B. Howell, general manager of the Metropolitan Utilities district, who returned Tuesday from a trip to the east, where he and E. P. Larson, chief engineer, inspected filtration plants in connection with the designing of the proposed plant for Omaha. They inspected plants in St. Louis, Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland.

"St. Louis, some years ago, installed a 200,000-gallon plant and is now perfecting plans for a second plant of the same size, to be located on the Missouri river," Mr. Howell said. "We are in hopes that, by taking advantage of the information obtained, our proposed 50,000,000-gallon plant can be constructed within a cost of $600,000."

"While east, I took occasion to visit Washington for a couple of days where I was warmly received in connection with my candidacy for United States senator. "As to political developments here since I have been gone—my attitude, should I become senator, is clearly outlined by the republican state platform, and in my printed and oral speeches during the primary campaign. Upon the conclusion of that contest, I stated that the result was not a personal triumph, but was rather an economic expression. This fact is evidenced by the action of the Grand Island convention, and I am not only welcome but am grateful for this further support."

"The official had not made the trip in three years and was astonished at the tremendous improvement which had taken place in that time. G. S. Hoag, field secretary, is now in the city, en route to Detroit after making a trip to the western coast over the highway. He concurs with Mr. Benet on his opinion of the highway's condition."

Americans in Ireland Held Up and Mistreated

Two Priests on Sight-Seeing Tour Robbed of Car—Their American Passports Laughed at.

Dublin, Aug. 30.—(By A. P.)—American tourists attempting to see Ireland are returning to Dublin deeply disappointed and strong in their condemnation of conditions in the province.

Recently despite the advice given them at their hotel here two young American priests rented an automobile and started out sightseeing. They had reached a point only 20 miles from Dublin when they were halted by three presumably republicans. They showed their American passports, but said these brought them nothing but laughter and they were forced to alight from their car, which the soldiers appropriated. The priests made their way to the nearest town in a donkey cart.

Other tourists have had similar or worse experiences. John J. Cox, grand knight of the Oakland, Cal., council of the Knights of Columbus, reached Dublin with his wife and daughter after being repeatedly held up while motoring in the interior. Mrs. Cox had gone to Roscommon to visit her mother only to find her mother had died a fortnight before.

The condition of the roads which had been blocked by felled trees or the digging of trenches, had made it necessary to carry the body six miles across the fields and hills to the cemetery.

Subsequently the Cox family visited Sligo where they found conditions greatly disturbed and had to leave. "I awoke one morning to find a machine gun pointed at my window," says Mrs. Cox, "and we left Sligo right away."

Irish Irregulars in Jail Set Fire to Mattresses

Dublin, Aug. 30.—Irregulars, imprisoned in Maryborough jail, set fire to their bedding when they were released for exercise yesterday. They interfered with the guards and fire fighters who attempted to put out the blaze, and when the water pressure failed, it was discovered that the pumping machinery had been tampered with.

An engine from the Dublin fire department went 52 miles by road, but it was not needed. Five prisoners were wounded by ricocheting bullets fired over their heads to quiet them. The prisoners' outbreak followed disciplinary action when guards discovered three irregulars digging a tunnel. The men threatened to go on a hunger strike yesterday unless their privileges were restored, but they ate lunch. Later they fired the mattresses.

London, Aug. 30.—The American vice consul at Munich, Albert Halstead, and his wife were subjected to a hostile demonstration by a menacing crowd of German sight-seers at the Schloss Herrenchiemsee Sunday, says a Munich dispatch to the Times. When Mr. Halstead procured authority from the Bavarian government entitling him to exemption from the special prices charged foreigners, thereby admitting him to the building for 25 marks instead of 600 marks, collectable from foreign visitors, there were angry protests, and the cry was taken up: "Americans have full pockets and empty hearts!"

Wife No. 2 Seeks No. 1 to Give Aid

Young and Beautiful Mate of Mine Owner Seeks "Other Woman" as Sister.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Eleanor Bock, young and beautiful wife of a wealthy California mine owner, who formerly was a struggling painter in Chicago, has traveled 2,500 miles to find "the other woman."

When she finds her, there will be no bitter words, no recriminations. The wife will greet the "other woman" as a sister and undertake to recompense her for grief and hardships she has endured. Herein the story differs from the usual triangle. Twenty years ago Bock, who was not breaking even in the game for a livelihood here, went to the Klondike to make his fortune. His wife was to support herself as best she might—chiefly by sewing—while Bock fought the snow and ice in search of gold. Eventually he found the fortune, but he did not return. Instead, he stopped in San Francisco, where he met the present Mrs. Bock. The first wife heard of it in some manner and dropped out of sight. "Things will never be right with us until I find her," said the second wife today. "Her shadow is between us and I must find her and help her in every way I can."

"Mr. Bock has plenty of money and she must have her share. I must be assured that she is not deprived of any comfort," she said.
