

Coal Settlement Serves to Clear Labor Situation

Agreement in the Anthracite Strike Regarded as Indication That Workers in No Mood for Walkout.

By GRAFTON S. WILCOX.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Labor day finds organized workers of the United States in a turmoil over the federal government's injunction against the railroad shopmen's strike, but the settlement Saturday night of the prolonged anthracite coal strike in the wake of Samuel Gompers' announcement that a general strike would be considered in retaliation against the injunction move by the government has served to temper the wind that has been blowing over industrial America since Friday afternoon.

The ending of the coal strike, which came as a result of government pleadings on behalf of a suffering public, is regarded here as an indication that the workers of the country are in no mood to rally around a general strike leader. Even some of the representative labor leaders are known to have received Mr. Gompers' Friday night interview on the government injunction with considerable surprise. While they agree with everything he had to say about the drastic character of the injunction and are willing to enlist in a fight to overcome it, they do not believe that a general strike can be precipitated in the United States nor that such an effort would avail under the circumstances.

Possible Development. Mr. Gompers himself, some of his closest friends assert, is not advocating a general strike. They argue that he merely referred to it as a possible development which the American Federation of Labor executive council must consider when it meets next Saturday. When the council does meet, they do not believe that it will recommend any general strike. There never has been anything of the kind in the United States and, if some of labor's counselors are to be regarded as wise prophets, there will be none now. Their argument against the general strike is that it is this very thing that the workers are seeking to precipitate in their warfare against trade unionism and that it would be a suicidal move for organized labor to rush into the trap.

Organized labor, they assert, is still organizing in the United States, and will not plunge into a general warfare with capital at this stage of the game. Some of the organized labor leaders point to Mr. Gompers' own statement to the American people, issued for publication on Labor day, as an indication that he is looking for no general strike and is, in fact, very well satisfied with conditions generally as they relate to the unions after several years of conflict with organized capital.

Urges Organization. "Organize! Organize! Organize!" says Mr. Gompers. "Organize in trade unions. This is my message to the workers of America on Labor day, 1932."

"For four years the enemies of the working man have waged an incessant war against the trade union movement in particular and labor in general."

"It is apparent that the workers who have suffered least in the anti-labor war are the workers who are most thoroughly organized in their respective trades."

Mr. Gompers referred Friday to scores of messages that had come to the American Federation of Labor urging a general strike to punish the government for its attitude against the railroad strike. An analysis that has been made of these messages, however, is said to show that they came from the radical wings of various unions and do not represent the thoughtful conclusion of any great labor organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Strike Last Resort. One of these indications as to how the executive council of the federation probably will stand when it gets down to consideration of recommending a general strike is contained in a message received here from James Danahy, first vice president of the federation, which said:

"The general strike idea could only be considered as a last resort for maintenance of freedom."

In this message, it was declared here, is a guide to the probable course to be pursued by the federation with respect to the injunction. It is going to fight, but will fight in the courts and not in the streets of the country. Already, it is declared, the attorneys for the railroad shopmen and the American Federation of Labor are "preparing the case against the injunction, which will be based primarily on the contention that the injunction granted by Judge Wilkerson is in direct violation of the Clayton anti-trust act, and an assault upon the liberty of the citizen and his right of freedom of speech. There is doubt that the provision of the injunction against peaceful persuasion will be vigorously assailed."

State Police Probe Shooting of Johnson

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 3.—An investigation of the shooting Thursday night of A. M. (Buddie) Johnson, husband of Peggy Marsh, actress and professional dancer, at the camp of Jack Clifford at Chateaufort Lake, has been begun by state police under the direction of District Attorney Harold Jerry of Clinton county, it was learned tonight. At the time of the shooting it was announced that Johnson had accidentally shot himself.

Statements already have been obtained from Mrs. Johnson and her wounded husband and state troopers made inquiries for further details in connection with the case at Mr. Clifford's camp, it was learned. District Attorney Jerry, while admitting that the investigation is being pressed, declined to make public any of the facts he had obtained.

"Shell Shock" Is Misleading Say Military Heads

British Will Discontinue Use of Term—Found to Be Desirable Complaint of Soldiers.

London, Sept. 3.—If Great Britain should have the misfortune to be engaged in another big war, it is safe to predict that no cases of "shell shock" will appear among its list of casualties. The first recommendation of the war office committee on shell shock, whose report has just been published, is that the term should be cut out of the official language.

"War neurosis" is considered to be the best general term. "Shell shock" is declared to be wholly misleading, because it occurred to patients who had never been even within hearing of a shellburst.

"It is no surprise to find that the general lay conception of the term was very loose and ill-informed," the committee states. "There was such anxious solicitude during the war as to the incidence of such a word as the appeal of the term 'shell shock,' that this class of case excited more general interest and sympathy than any other, so that it became a most desirable complaint from which to suffer."

No case of psycho-neurosis, or of mental breakdowns, even when attributed to a shell explosion, should be classified as a battle casualty any more than sickness or disease.

"In many cases," says the committee, "it is extremely difficult to distinguish between war neurosis and a natural condition to begin with, but it should overcome it, and if he were told also about the effect of shells and that it was up to him to control himself, I think it would have some effect."

4,500 Delegates Expected at 47th Episcopal Meet

Plans Rapidly Rounding Into Shape for Opening of General Convention at Portland.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 3.—Final preparations were rounding into shape today for the opening next Wednesday of the 47th triennial session of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church here.

According to the recording officers preliminary figures are that more than 100 bishops and 600 deputies will attend. Delegates to the women's organizations are expected to bring the total attendance to 4,500.

In all the larger Episcopal churches of western Oregon services were conducted by bishops in the state to attend the convention. At the pro-cathedral, the Right Rev. G. A. Bennett, bishop of Duluth, preached in the morning and Right Rev. Charles P. Anderson, bishop of Chicago, in the evening.

Foreign Nations Represented.
Many foreign countries were represented among the distinguished prelates who are already here, including China and Syria.

First business sessions of the two houses of the convention proper and also of the Women's auxiliary, leading women's organization, will be held Wednesday afternoon.

The organization of the house of bishops requires the election of a new chairman if the body accepts the tendered resignation of Secretary George E. Nelson, a new Secretary has been chosen. The Rt. Rev. William A. Leonard, bishop of Ohio.

Clergyman's Secretary.
As secretary of the body, the bishops select a clergyman and not a member of the house. Dr. John F. Plumb of New Milford, Conn., is assistant secretary.

In the house of deputies organization, it is held quite possible that election of a new secretary may be necessary. This is because of the current impression that Dr. Henry Anstice, who has served as assistant secretary and secretary since 1877, may tender his resignation.

Dr. C. M. Davis, formerly dean of the cathedral of St. Louis, and a secretary of the department of missions with headquarters in New York, is assistant secretary of this house. He has attended every convention since 1883, and is said to be the logical man for secretary if his chief resigns.

Disciples of Christ Name International Officers
Winona Lake, Ind., Sept. 3.—T. W. Grafton of Indianapolis was elected president of the international convention of the Disciples of Christ (Christian church) at the closing business session of the convention here today. Other officers elected were:

Vice presidents, Mrs. John M. May, Versailles, Ky.; Walter W. Williams, Benton, Ill.; and John W. Williams, Dallas, Tex.; recording secretary, Mrs. George W. Buckley, St. Louis; general secretary, Graham Frank, Dallas; secretary of transportation committee, M. B. Holloway, St. Louis.

To this girl, whose name the medical examiner withheld, Hammit left a note which said he hoped to meet her in heaven.

Local representatives of the Southern railroad took charge of the body.

Coast Line Pump House Damaged by Explosion
Lakeland, Fla., Sept. 3.—The pump house at the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad was dynamited tonight and destroyed by an explosion. No one was injured.

Railway officials, after an examination, said the blast had been caused by some high explosive, probably dynamite. One end of the building was demolished and the pump put out of commission. The night engineer, who was the only employee on duty, was at his home about 100 yards from the pump station when the explosion came.

Woman Killed as Auto Plunges Over 200-Foot Cliff

Car Parked Near Cataract at Niagara Falls Goes Over Bank—Body Found at Water's Edge.

Buffalo, Sept. 3.—An automobile plunged over the cliff near the Cataract at Niagara Falls this afternoon when it was dashed to pieces 200 feet below on the river's margin. Mrs. Agatha Miller, 34, wife of D. H. Miller, Cleveland, fell to her death with the car. Her body was found on the water's edge.

The accident happened just north of the upper steel arch bridge. Mrs. Miller was alone in the car, in the rear seat. The car was parked on the grass near the customs office at the American end of the bridge, facing the river on a slight slope. There is no guard rail at the cliff edge. The owner and driver of the car, Edward Meyers of Buffalo, had left it as he thought it was parked.

For some reason it began to slip down the slope and Mrs. Miller, who was of very heavy build, realized her danger. Her screams aroused bystanders and two men, Harry Anderson, a negro of Buffalo, and the Rev. Mr. G. A. Bennett, bishop of Duluth, rushed to the car, and tried to stop it. They kept their hands until it reached the very brink and plunged into the gorge.

Mrs. Miller tried to extricate herself, but she was not quick enough. The Millers and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kerrigan also of Cleveland, came to Buffalo this morning and hired Meyers to drive them to the falls sightseeing.

Prospects Point to Bumper Grain Crops in Russia
Mother Nature Appears to Be Trying to Make Up for Small Production Last Year.

Moscow, Sept. 3.—Mother Nature appears to be trying to make up for Russia for what she did to her last year. Accurate estimates of the grain crop of 1932 still are lacking, but from nearly every province reports pour into Moscow that not in many years have such growing crops been seen.

When rains were needed, they came in a profusion that made up for last year's drought. When sunshine was necessary, it was on hand. Unless some unprecedented weather condition develops between now and the time of the harvest, the crop is expected to be a bumper one.

In some localities stricken last year by the drought an unusual phenomenon has been noticed. Grain crops have been seen to grow in the spring of 1932, which failed to sprout at all last summer, has come up this year to swell the small sowings which were available in the spring of 1932. In other places, where the grain was so short and undeveloped last autumn as to be unworthy of harvesting, the crops have been seen to grow in the spring of 1932, which failed to sprout at all last summer, has come up this year to swell the small sowings which were available in the spring of 1932.

Generally speaking, the ground seems to have gained strength during the famine year, and the rich nitrates which a big 1921 crop would have exhausted have been found to fatten the kernels and strengthen the stalks of this summer's grain.

The areas sown this year perhaps were less than last in many provinces, but the crop itself is so good that the yield is expected to be more than three and a half billion pounds of grain for all Russia, a billion more than last year. (A good is 36 pounds).

If the surplus of fruitful regions can be transported to the cities and the nonproductive localities, and if the peasants do not hoard it, Russia's officials express the conviction that famine will be practically dead and that after October full stomachs will succeed hunger for most of Russia's population.

Japan Expected to Refuse to Recognize Sovietism
Chang Chun, Manchuria, Sept. 3.—(By A. P.)—Delegates of the Japanese, soviet and Chita governments arrived here today, prepared to discuss the terms of a settlement of the outstanding problems between Japan and Russia. Matsu Daira, head of the Japanese delegation, indicated that Japan intends to decline the Russian delegates' proposal for recognition of the soviet government. It was suggested that Japan will never recognize sovietism without a similar action by the other great powers.

Adolph Joffe, representative of the Moscow government, insists that recognition is necessary as a preliminary to any substantial understanding, but they will proceed to discuss other problems when negotiations begin on Wednesday.

Both sides profess to foresee results mutually beneficial. They endeavor, first, to settle disputes affecting Siberia, then to reach a trade agreement.

Alliance Plans to Protect Men at Work in Shops

Burlington Appeals for Police Aid When Employees Visit Town—Railroad Now Supplies Wants.

Albany, Neb., Sept. 3.—(Special.)—Increased police protection for Burlington shop employees in Alliance was promised by the city council and county attorney at a meeting of the city, which was attended by General Superintendent A. G. Smart, Master Mechanic J. B. Irwin, Chief Dispatcher A. V. Gavin and other railroad officials.

Superintendent Smart appealed to the city authorities for sufficient police protection to enable the shop employees, who have taken the place of the strikers, to come up town and do their trading without being molested, as they have been in several instances recently.

Shops Nearly Full.
At present the men who have taken the place of the strikers number between 250 men and 300, an approximate number. The men seldom come up town for fear of causing trouble with the strikers. They are being lodged and fed in the railroad yards and do all of their trading at temporary stores established by the railroad company. A barber shop, soda fountain and other facilities have been installed in the yards for the accommodation of the men, but they are growing restless under the restrictions and demand that their rights as American citizens be protected. The railroad company, prior to the council meeting, planned to install a motion picture show in addition to the other accommodations.

Mayor R. M. Hampton and the council took a vigorous stand for law enforcement and announced that the police force will be doubled and tripled if necessary to afford protection to the railroad employees.

Situation Intolerable.
"The situation has become intolerable and we are not going to stand for it any longer," the mayor announced. "If the railroad employees want to use our streets they are entitled to do so, but they are going to get it from now on. We will not stand for any more monkey business in this city."

A law enforcement meeting is to be called immediately, at which plans will be formulated to adequately cope with the situation.

Woman Gives Tip on Liquor Ring

Counterfeit Labels and Large Quantity of Whisky Seized in Chicago Pharmacy.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Important steps were taken today in smashing what is considered the greatest and cleverest bootlegging and counterfeiting gang recently discovered. Acting upon information furnished by a woman social worker who came upon a vast amount of counterfeit whisky and wine labels, prohibition agents arrested two men and are after a dozen others. These arrests followed a raid upon the Harrison pharmacy, in which great bundles of spurious liquor labels, forged prescriptions and several hundred filled whisky flasks were seized. Sam Steiner and Fred Reinigert, said to be joint proprietors of the pharmacy, were arrested.

It is said that this gang worked in conjunction with the bootlegging crew whose ramifications extend from Minneapolis to points all over Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. The Minneapolis gang specialized in re-distilling denatured alcohol and shipping out hundreds of barrels.

The capture of the Minneapolis plant and the discovery of the supply of counterfeit labels, it is thought, will serve as a knockout.

Elsassers Hold Family Reunion for Tenth Year

Over Three Hundred Relatives of Omaha Clan Meet to Renew Acquaintances.

There were three hundred and twenty-five members of the Elsassers family in Omaha that gathered at Elmwood park yesterday to make a gala day of the tenth annual reunion picnic. Near relatives, distant relatives and relatives-to-be all took advantage of the occasion to renew acquaintanceship.

Nor was Mrs. Jacob Pflug, 70, and the eldest living member of the Elsassers clan, too senile to attend the functions of the day. The grey-haired mother and queen of the family was there with smiles and joy, taking part in the festivities to her heart's content. When Peter Elsassers presented her with a basket of American Beauty roses in behalf of the descendants, the elderly lady was moved to emotion.

"Queen" Is Happy.
"I'm as happy today," she said, "as in my childhood days. Though I'm getting real old, I don't want to live to be 100. That's too long for anyone to be on this old earth."

Mrs. Pflug came to this country in 1870 from Wurtemberg, Germany. She was married to Gottlieb Zimmerman, who died shortly after. In 1898, she was remarried to Jacob Pflug and moved to Papillion, Neb., where she still resides.

Peter and Fred Elsassers were the next oldest members of the family present at the reunion. Each has a large family that in years past, has branched out into a more lengthy family tree.

Three Weddings Promised.
The youngest attendant at the outing yesterday was Charles Elsassers, Jr., 3-months-old son of Charles, Sr. Even the infant's smile and liveliness indicated that the name of Elsassers would not die with him. That the renewal of the Elsassers family shall go on, it was learned yesterday that three more members of the reunion are to be married this month. They are: Ella Elsassers, Katherine Laible and Clara Keller.

The ball game between members of the family bearing the name Elsassers, and their brothers-in-law resulted in a victory for the brothers-in-law.

When everyone of the family reunion sat down to lunch, the tables made a line longer than a democratic ballot. The production of the big attraction in the park was the picnic and athletic events.

Mrs. J. E. Davidson Boosts for Ak-Sar-Ben Smiles Show

Mrs. J. E. Davidson, 621 South Thirty-seventh street, is an ardent booster for the Smiles shows which have been inaugurated by Ak-Sar-Ben.

"I'm sure that the 'Smiles of 1932,' which was put on last year at Ak-Sar-Ben field in connection with the annual fall festival, was the best and cleanest show that Omaha ever saw," she declared. "I have been told by local people who have seen the 'Smiles of 1932,' which will be displayed this year, that it is even better than the production of last fall."

The "Smiles of 1932" will be produced on the platform in front of the grandstand at Ak-Sar-Ben field, evenings only, on September 12-16, inclusive.

Mrs. Elsie Billings Dies
