Maid of Wealthy Real Estate Dealer, 72, Found Slain in December, Nabbed at Oakland.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Clara E. Sharin Winborn, 72, was arrested here on a request from Seattle, where she is wanted in connection with the death of Ferdinand Hochbrun, wealthy retired real estate dealer. Hochbrun's body was found in his locked apartment December 21. She declined to discuss the affair.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—Clara Winborn was the maid of Ferdinand Hochbrun, a wealthy real estate dealer, 72, from the time she was 12 years old until his death.

Hochbrun, a bullet wound in the back of his head, was found dead in a small alcove off the bedroom of his ward who also was his housekeeper, December 21, 1921. The coroner believes Hochbrun had been dead two months. The body was found by Pierre Chetodai, who occupied an apartment below Hochbrun and who had gone up stairs with a plumber to repair a water pipe.

Search Begun.
Police immediately started a search for Clara Sharin Winborn. She was known to have visited the Hochbrun apartments two or three times a week over a period of five weeks prior to the last time Hochbrun was known to have been seen. She left Seattle November 28, almost a month before the body was found.

Soon after Hochbrun's disappearance letters to Edward von Trobel, the old man's attorney had directed him to send money rentals to Hochbrun at various addresses in Portland, San Bernardino and Oakland. Police search for Mrs. Winborn followed in the three cities, also in San Francisco, Santa Barbara and other California cities. On the evening of the day of the homicide discovery, Captain Charles Tennant, chief of detectives of the Seattle police department, learned that she had been staying at a hotel in San Francisco up to within a week of that time. San Francisco detectives found on calling at the Doran that the young woman had left the hotel that morning.

No Motive Established.
The police have been unable to establish any motive for the killing of Hochbrun. In a locked trunk in Hochbrun's room, detectives found $1,900 in currency. No attempt had been made to open the trunk. The man's trousers pockets had been cut out and only a few pennies were left. Hochbrun was known to be of a jealous disposition and violent temper.

A Queer World

Teacher "Mesmerizes Children and Hypnotizes School Committee"—"Dry" Workers Help Pull "Wet" Truck From Ditch—"Drys" in California Face Extinction.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 4.—"Those hypnotic eyes must go," chorused the parents and pupils of the Stoneville district, and then they called in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

"She mesmerized the children and she hypnotized the school committee into keeping her eight years," the girl exclaimed, "and then they accused the principal of their school, Miss Gladys Daggett, of cruelty."

Grace Houghton, an investigator for the society, has recommended to the school committee that the teacher be dismissed. She also has made an appeal to the state board of education.

The school committee is standing pat, and says Miss Daggett will stay, but two assistants, Frances Gallery and Mildred Wallis, have been asked to resign.

Well Well Well

La. Salle, Ill., Sept. 4.—(By A. P.)—The irony of fate, early this morning brought O. Christgau, editor of the American Issue, and two Anti-Saloon league dramatic debaters from the University of Minnesota to the scene of the motor truck which Friday delivered the big "Wine and Beer" petition at the state capital in Springfield, as it was stuck on a highway construction detour and about to slide into the ditch between La. Salle and Erie.

It had blocked traffic more than two hours when finally dislodged about 2:30 a. m. by the combined strength of the "wets" and "drys." Working shoulder to shoulder with the "drys" and beer advocates, the three "drys" saw the big truck on its way to Chicago again.

Mr. Christgau said, with banners torn and the painted "Liberty Bell" with an honest crack awash it alongside the painted crack.

The truck was held in the road by a rope thrown around a telephone post when help arrived. Each attempt of M. G. Delure, the driver, to get it out, sent further into the ditch until the "drys" lent a hand.

After the truck was dislodged, Editor Christgau acted as a traffic "cop" until the accumulated cars had been cleared and was on the way again at 3 a. m.

Nobody to Lead 'Em

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4.—Unless the prohibition party in California can get together a ticket that will bring about 3 per cent of total vote next November in the general election it faces extinction, J. H. Zemansky, registrar of voters for San Francisco, announced today.

With the defeat of Governor W. D. Stephens and Mattison B. Jones of Los Angeles in the recent primary, the prohibition ticket was left without a head. Governor Stephens was the prohibition candidate as well as the republican candidate for nomination for governor. Mr. Jones was a gubernatorial candidate on both the democratic and the prohibition tickets.

The defeat of the candidates on the democratic and republican tickets, it was asserted, barred them from making the race in the fall on the prohibition ticket.

St. Rita Honored First Time Here in Public Novena

Special Shrine Is Constructed in Holy Ghost Church and Relic Is Offered.

The first public solemn novena ever held here in honor of St. Rita, the saint of the impossible, was opened yesterday morning in Holy Ghost church, Fifty-sixth and Q streets.

Augustinian fathers have erected a beautiful shrine in the church and services will be held at 8:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. every day of the novena with Rev. John G. Groell conducting.

Intimations may be delivered by mail or in person and all will be placed in the shrine and prayers will be offered for them. The relic of St. Rita will be offered for veneration.

Rita of Cascia, Italy, was born in 1380 and married at 12 to become the mother of twin sons, and when they sought to avenge the murder of their father, she prayed and they died, reconciled to God. Church history shows that, although a widow, she was enabled by divine intervention to become a nun. It was in Spain that reports of her intercessions caused her to gain the name "The Saint of the Impossible." She was canonized May 24, 1900.

Japan Expected to Refuse to Recognize Sovietism

Chang Chun, Manchuria, Sept. 4.—(By A. P.)—Delegates of the Japanese, soviet and China governments arrived here yesterday prepared to discuss terms for a settlement of the outstanding problems between Japan and Russia. Marsh Daira, head of the Japanese delegation, indicated that Japan intends to decline the Russian delegates' proposal for recognition of the soviet government.

It was suggested that Japan will never recognize sovietism without a similar action by the other great powers.

Adolph Joffe, representative of the Moscow government, insists that recognition is necessary as preliminary to any substantial understanding, but they will proceed to discuss other problems when negotiations begin on Wednesday.

Both sides profess to foresee results mutually beneficial. They will endeavor, first, to settle disputes affecting Siberia, then to reach a trade agreement.

Motor Horn Routs Ferocious Beasts

Lions Attacking Oxen Put to Flight by Shriek of Siren.

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, East Africa, Sept. 4.—The toot of a single motor horn has been found sufficient, in Africa, to quiet stampeding oxen and cause a trio of flesh-hunting lions to slink away into the bushes.

Two native drivers were recently conducting a wagon drawn by 16 oxen to the railroad camp, in the wilds near Nakuru, the site of the new Uasin Gishu railroad, when the oxen were attacked by three lions. The drivers fled to nearby trees. The oxen became panic-stricken and dashed down the rough road, dragging the body of one ox killed by the lions, with the swaying wagon behind them. The lions followed their prey.

This was the mad procession that greeted a lone motorist at a curve of the road. He had no rifle and it was almost an unconscious movement that took his hand to the horn button. At the first sound the lions seemed nonplussed. The motorist then blew long and loud, as the uncanny and sustained shriek rose above the clamor of the frightened animals, the lions slunk away among the rocks, headed for the shelter of the bush, and the oxen swung clear of the dust-covered automobile and came to a stop at the side of the road.

Darkened Attics Reveal Relics

Achievement Day at Meadow Grove Brings Forth Many Relics.

Battle Creek, Neb.—(By A. P.)—It is surprising what the darkened attic rooms of the average Nebraska contain. This was made evident at the Achievement Day program and community fair held at Meadow Grove, when a huge exhibit of these antiques was shown.

A number of the relics that attracted attention were: a mortar from Bohemia, 150 years old, exhibited by C. A. Ostrodabec; a shawl from Bohemia which has been in the family of Anton Poplar for 65 years; a powder horn 100 years old, shown by J. R. Dow; hand painted dishes that belonged to Dr. Kindred's great-grandmother; a quilt made by Dr. Kindred's mother, which took prizes at a number of fairs 75 years ago; papers disclosing accounts of the assassination of President Lincoln and hard tack brought back from the civil war, shown by Mrs. Kibbler; a Moravian head-dress belonging for 50 years in the family of Mrs. Verbony; a wedding vest that belonged to Mrs. F. M. Acton's grandfather and in use 75 years ago.

In addition there were homespun and woven counterpanes, feather wreaths, spinning wheels and old-time bed warmers.

The guardians, not being armed with night sticks or even day clubs, but with rapid-fire revolvers and second-line reserve rifles and hand grenades, could do nothing else to restore order but fire into the crowd. Two of the rioters were mortally wounded and a score of others received gunshot wounds. The fact that bloodshed took place in Berlin's aristocratic west end is regarded as significant.
