

Daugherty Holds Church Property Is Vested in God

Attorney General Acquiesces in Return of Seizures Made by Alien Custodian During War.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(By A. P.)—Holding that in the final analysis title to church property is vested in God and that it would be sacrilegious to hold this an enemy interest, Attorney General Daugherty, in a formal opinion, has acquiesced in the return by Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller of property seized by a former alien property custodian from the Reformed Church of Hungary in America.

Youngest Bank Official Here Began as Messenger

Newly Appointed Assistant Cashier at Live Stock National Started Work at 16.

Distinction of being the youngest bank official in Omaha is held by R. H. Kroeger, 24, who was appointed assistant cashier of the Live Stock National bank at a meeting of directors Wednesday.

"I attended the public schools of Grand Island, Neb., until I was 15," said Mr. Kroeger, "and then came to Omaha with my parents. I took a business course in a local business college and shortly after my 16th birthday applied, in 1914, for a job at the Live Stock National bank. "I started as bank messenger, from which I was promoted to clearing house clerk, then to transit clerk and then to auditor, from which position I was promoted to assistant cashier. For the last three years I have been a student of the American Institute of Banking, having been consul for the Omaha chapter and at present am a member of the board of governors of the Omaha chapter. "I always had in view the career of a banker and was earnest in my efforts to learn every detail of the work. I am satisfied that persistent and well-directed activities are bound to put anyone in tune with the world, with success as the result."

What's What in Capital

MABELLE JENNINGS TALBOT. In spite of the obvious improbability of his doing so, there is a persistent and insistent demand that President Harding make a tour of the west during October. Invitations continue to reach him from cities and towns all the way to the Pacific coast, and some persons in Washington believe he should, if possible, undertake the tour. Within this week he was invited to attend the Nevada rodeo at Reno.

Mr. Harding did not go to the west during his campaign for the presidency in 1920, and the people of that section have been urging him to pay them a visit. He had hoped to do so in connection with his Alaskan tour this summer, but the pressure of business in Washington forced him to forego that. The railroad situation would seem to render a trip this autumn out of the question, yet the president has been urged to consider it seriously should any sort of adjustment be effected in the transportation controversy.

It would not, of course, be becoming in the president to indulge in a "stump speaking" tour in behalf of republican candidates for congress, but by his presence in many states under the auspices of civic, fraternal or commercial organizations, he could not help but have a stimulating effect on the fortunes of his party. His addresses would have to deal, necessarily, with problems of government and affairs at Washington and while refraining from technical campaign speeches, republicans in congress believe he could help a lot.

Cohens Oust Smiths. The tribe of Smiths must look to its laurels. Once the top of the list in the New York City directory, the Smiths have been ousted by the Cohens. And in the halls of congress, where they once held sway, the Joneses, the Reeds and the Watsons have taken the lead in the senate.

There are two Joneses and two Reeds in each house. The Moores have three representatives in the house, while the Smiths can boast of but one Senator Smith and two Representatives Smith.

In the preceding congress, there were four Smiths in the senate—from Arizona, Georgia, Maryland and South Carolina. Mr. Smith of South Carolina was the sole survivor of the democratic Waterloo of 1920.

Nebraskans Favor Payment. At least two of Nebraska's representatives in the halls of congress, feel that the interest, if not the principal of our loans to foreign countries, should be paid.

Senator Norris, when the senate had under consideration the original adjusted compensation measure, offered an amendment thereto, directing the secretary of the treasury to collect interest due on the various loans made by our government during the war, to foreign governments, which funds together with interest subsequently collected, should be used to carry out the provisions of the act.

Representative Andrews computes that the annual interest due on the British loan will exceed the largest annual payment under the adjusted compensation bill by more than $70,000,000 and the interest due for 20 years will exceed the total cost of the bill by more than $50,000,000.

Canadians Get Hearing. The American Farm Bureau federation has done an uncommonly gracious thing in giving publicity to the grounds of the opposition of western Canadian cattle growers to the pending prohibitive schedules in the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill against importation of foreign stock. In doing so it acknowledges a mutuality of interest between American and Canadian cattle raisers on many points, and having urged the adoption of the cattle duties in the tariff bill, is willing to let the Canadians have a hearing before the American people.

The primary contentions of the Canadians are that the depleted cattle ranges of Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota are now drawing on and will need to continue for sometime to draw on the range cattle of western Canada for restocking. That their grass-fed cattle are raw material for the American farmer to convert into marketable beef by corn feeding, the latter not being practicable in western Canada. The foregoing, it is argued, is especially applicable in view of the immense corn crop and "the profit to be obtained by converting corn into beef." That is said to apply all the way from Pennsylvania to Kansas and Nebraska. The Canadians, to eliminate competition between American corn-fed cattle and the Canadian range cattle are willing to pay 2 cents a pound duty on grain-fed finished calves, steers and fat cows.

One funny thing prohibition has led to—women no longer are the only sex to exchange recipes.—Life.
