Pastor Ousted by Methodists Recites Creed

Rev. J. D. M. Buckner, in Statement, Says He Does Not Believe All Bible Equally Inspired.

In the storm of public discussion relative to retirement of Rev. J. D. M. Buckner of Aurora, Neb., from the Methodist conference for alleged teaching of a creed of his own, the minister yesterday issued a statement from his room in Hotel Fontenelle. Whether his creed, which follows, conforms in toto with the Methodist foctrines is the question in argument, he said. Here is Rev. Mr. Buckner's statement.

answer to the resolutions dopted Monday by the official board of the Methodist church in Aurora denouncing the action of the Omaha Methodist conference in retiring the minister, Rev. Buckner yesterday wired the following message:

"Mrs. Buckner and I deeply appreciate and are greatly moved by the E. Ring, P. A. Edquist, A. G. Swanresolutions adopted by you yesterday. I urge you not to permit the piece of Prussianism by which I have een denied a pulpit in the Methodist church without trial to cause you to lose sight of the larger issues involved. While my fate naturally is of large personal concern to me, it is of no particular consequence to the great cause of progressive Christianity and liberal interpretation or the Bible. That cause can best be served by your continuing the fight for freedom of speech and freedom of thought inside the Methodist Do not be discouraged and urch.

Rev. Mr. Buckner Credited With Making David City 'Dry'

David City, Neb., Sept. 12 .- (Special.)-The stand taken by Rev. J. D. M. Buckner of Aurora has been the cause of much comment in David City. He was once the very popular pastor of St. Louks M.
