

Norway Fears for Safety of Capt. Amundsen

Fear Entertained That Explorer Unable to Find Safe Landing on Dangerous Flight to North Pole.

Copenhagen, Sept. 12.—(By A. P.)—It is generally believed here that Capt. Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, has already undertaken his daring flight across the north pole from northern Alaska. This belief is further strengthened by the fact that the Norwegian government has asked the well known Danish explorer, Capt. Gottfried Hansen, to undertake a relief expedition.

Capt. Hansen, who is today working out a scheme for the exploration of western Greenland next spring, is unable to accept the request, but in any event, an urgent relief expedition to pick up Amundsen, whose airplane crossing in his opinion, is extraordinarily dangerous, it being virtually impossible to land anywhere on the rough polar ice without serious accident.

He believes Amundsen is apt to land in the vicinity of one of the food depots which Hansen established in Grant's land, and northernmost Greenland, but nevertheless, fears he will be unable to reach Thule—the northernmost colony in Greenland—should he meet with the least accident.

It is reported that the expedition, headed by an explorer friend of Capt. Hansen, will leave here on October 1, on the steamship Hans Egede.

Reported Abandoned.
Advices from Nome, Alaska, on August 29 to The Associated Press were that Capt. Amundsen had definitely abandoned this year his plan to fly over the pole, as the season was too far advanced to permit of success. He was said to have landed his plane and equipment at Wainwright, 100 miles southwest of Point Barrow, intending to make that place the base for his flight.

Ice conditions in the Arctic off the northern Alaska coast were declared to be the worst in many years. Capt. Amundsen's ship, the Maud, was last reported to be frozen in the ice near Wrangell island.

Feature Transactions on Livestock Exchange

C. M. McCuller of Riverside brought in a head of hog yesterday that brought the top price, $15.15 a hundred. The shipment consisted of 10 head of hogs, 205 pounds, which were sold at $15.15 a hundred. The hogs were from the McCuller farm near Riverside, and the results in weight and prime condition brought a good price, more than paid for the trouble.

"Corn is in the best condition in my section and the crop will be one of the largest ever raised. The late corn was not damaged and showed up well."

Gilbert Swanson of St. Edwards is known as a "hog raiser" and has been having several times marketed some very heavy hogs and recently he brought to the local market some cattle averaging close to a ton in weight.

Yesterday Mr. Swanson was on the local market with some heavy hogs, some of which averaged over 300 pounds, for which he received $15.15 a hundred. He said that he had another, almost full load of porkers that he expects to market in South Omaha in the near future. He also has on feed a string of yearling cattle that have been here for four months, which he expects to fatten up in a heavy figure.

Prayer Each Day
Love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself; is not puffed up; doth not behave itself unseemly; seeketh not her own; is not provoked; thinketh no evil; rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeeth all things, endureth all things. Love never faileth.—1 Cor. 13:4-8.

Most merciful God, Whose we are and from Whom we receive our daily supplies, accept the adoration and gratitude of our hearts for Thy fatherly care and bounty. We have sinned and come short of Thy glory. Be merciful unto us in the forgiveness of all our sins, for the sake of Him Who loved us and gave Himself for us. May the love of Christ abound in our hearts, and manifest itself in our daily lives. May the Holy Spirit enlighten our minds, and enable us to understand and appropriate the Word of God, in order that it may be food for our souls and light unto our pathway. May He comfort our hearts and help us to lay down every burden that hinders our Christian progress. Deliver us from the power and temptations of Satan and wicked people. Employ our lives every day in Thy service, and make them a blessing to others. In mercy deal with the afflicted and save the lost, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Language Law Trial of Six Deacons Starts

Lincoln, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Six deacons of the German St. John Evangelical church of Emerald are on trial in district court here charged with violation of the law by discriminating against the use of English.

In questioning jurymen the attorney for the defense asked: "Would it affect your decision in this case to know that the American Legion is interested in securing a conviction? Would the same hold true if the Klan is interested?"

Assistant County Attorney Lum R. Doyle, representing the state, in his opening statement declared that the American Legion is not interested in the trial and had no knowledge of its filing until it was actually in court.

Minister Practiced Medicine, Jury Finds
Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Rev. F. B. Williams, former pastor of the First Baptist church in this city, was found guilty last night by a jury in district court of practicing medicine without a license. The jury was out but a short time and recommended leniency in its verdict. Rev. Mr. Williams was convicted in the county court several weeks ago and appealed to the district court. Rev. Mr. Williams prescribed a menu program for a paralytic named Stephenson here several months ago.

Expert Finds Gage County Corn Will Yield 50 Per Cent
Beatrice, Neb., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—E. T. Weeks, state agent for the Bookwalter farms, has returned from a trip over Gage county, during which time he inspected many fields of corn. In his opinion there will be fully half a crop of corn over the county.

Harness Thieves Operate
Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—William Rohls of Berlin precinct notified Sheriff Fischer yesterday that his barn had been robbed of harness valued at more than $150 Sunday night and that the thieves left no trace in making their escape. Harness thieves have been busy in the northern part of the county during the past few weeks.

WAOW Tonight
Professional talent from the "Smiles of 1922" and the Orpheum theater will fill the ether between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight when The Omaha Bee broadcasts a special concert of songs from station WAOW.

Mary Thomas, prima donna, and David Quirano, tenor, both with the "Smiles of 1922" a feature attraction of Alo-Sar-Ben every night, will entertain radio audiences with their choice song numbers. Young Quirano was formerly with Eddie Cantor. Mary Thomas has a rich soprano voice.

Harry Carroll, song writer and composer of "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," will be the third feature of The Omaha Bee's radio program at 6 o'clock. He will broadcast his new song hit, "When Winter Comes." Miss Kathleen Martin, the most photographed girl in the world, and who is appearing at the Orpheum theater this week with Carroll, will sing to the composer's accompaniment.

WAOW Program
Local musical celebrities featured The Omaha Bee's radio concert last night from station WAOW from 7 to 8 o'clock. Mrs. B. M. Anderson, an assistant leader in the music department of the Omaha Woman's club, will be director of the program. The concert will be the second arranged by the Women's club musical group under the leadership of Mary Adele Abbott.

These artists performed:
Miss Winifred Traynor, pianist.
Miss Clara Schneider, violinist.
Miss Marion Kelly, soprano.
Mrs. Doris Treibach, contralto.
Miss Marie Hopkins, soprano.
The musical numbers were announced from station WAOW.

When using a buzzer test the noise from the buzzer itself is at times troublesome and drowns out the sound in the phones. One way to do away with this is to place the buzzer in a cigar or similar box and packing cotton all around it. The box is suspended from the table on which the set is placed by a few rubber bands. The crystal may now be adjusted without the interference from the buzzer's own noise.

Have you ever been in need of some use for cambric tubing, spaghetti, and discovered that there was none at hand? If this happens to you at any time, just hunt up a round shoestring used on ladies' shoes and you will find that this makes good insulation for small wire. Just push the wire through the center.

Secure a large fountain pen cap and two strips of sheet brass or copper one-quarter inch wide and one-half inch longer than the fountain pen cap. Insert these strips on opposite sides of the cap and bend the ends down. Take a lump of galena and break it up into pieces about the size of buckshot and fill the cap within one-half inch of the top. Fit a rubber cork tightly in the cap and this will retain the crystals and hold the brass strips in place. Connect flexible wires to the brass strips and connect in the circuit in the usual manner. It is not necessary to hunt for a sensitive spot as some are always sure to be in contact. For changing the adjustment just shake the detector.
