Near East Relief Active in Smyrna

Telegram to Nebraska Director From Scene Tells of Humane Work.

The Near East Relief is exerting every effort to relieve conditions in fire-swept Smyrna, according to a wire received by the Nebraska director, Burr Jones, last night. The cablegram came from Smyrna, where Jaquith, general director of the Near East Relief is at work.

The wire follows:

"Jaquith is at Constantinople with 400 Armenian orphans brought from Smyrna on the destroyer Litchfield. Girl orphans removed from Piraeus. All American women removed. Policy is to evacuate as many Christians as possible. Appropriations used for temporary feeding and securing transport vessels. Estimate is 10,000 are dead; 20,000 are moved in boats; 20,000 are still on quay; 55,000 are still unaccounted for. Thousands of Greeks and Armenians were jailed before the fire. Probably 10,000 were started for the interior.

"Present relief program is to prevent starvation. After we have secured permission for transportation to islands and Greek ports responsibility reverts to Greece and the allied governments. Immediate supplies of flour, rice, beans, milk, shipped to Smyrna, requiring complete replenishing of orphan food stock at Constantinople. Smyrna emergency is far-reaching along the Mediterranean coast. Seventy-five thousand refugees are already at Rodosto, Thrace."
