Peace Meet Called on Near East

Allied Conference Decide on Action for Settlement of Threatened War in Dardanelles.

Fear Drive on Straits

London, Sept. 20.—(By A. P.)—The British headquarters at Chancery have advised the Christian, Moslem and Jewish civilians to evacuate as the town may be shelled by the Turks, says a dispatch from the Times' Dardanelles correspondent under yesterday's date.

Paris, Sept. 20.—(By A. P.)—The allied conference on the near eastern situation decided late today to call a peace conference of eight nations interested in a settlement to determine the terms of peace. This conference will meet probably within two or three weeks.

The conference, it was announced, will consist of representatives of Great Britain, France, Turkey, Italy, Greece, Japan, Rumania and Jugoslavia.

Constantinople, Sept. 20.—(By A. P.)—The Turkish Nationalist assembly at Ankara by an overwhelming majority has extended the dictatorship of Mustafa Kemal Pasha and has authorized him to continue the war until all the conditions prescribed in the national pact have been fully achieved.

Malta, Sept. 20.—Various units of the British Atlantic fleet are on their way to join the naval forces in the Dardanelles. It is learned, however, that a second destroyer flotilla has been ordered from England, and that the light cruisers Caldon and Cayrol are due here shortly on their way to Constantinople.

Preparing for Drive

Constantinople, Sept. 20.—(By A. P.)—Information that Mustafa Kemal Pasha is preparing to launch an assault on the possession of the Dardanelles in spite of the exhortations of Gen. Pelle, French high commissioner, is causing undisguised anxiety in allied military circles in the capital.

It is not improbable that such an attack will be made before the end of the present week, it is stated, the Turks taking advantage of the fact that the British have not yet concentrated all their forces.

The British, however, are declared to be determined to hold the straits at all cost.

British Leave

One of the best evidences of this is the fact that many British subjects, including the families of officers, are leaving the city.

It is understood here that the French cabinet warned the Ankara government of the inadvisability of an assault on the neutral zone, but the nationalists are believed to have replied that the proposed attack is in the nature of a defensive and protective movement in view of Great Britain's military preparations in support of its alleged policy of demoralizing Turkey.

Urges U. S. Co-Operation

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—The United States should be prepared to cooperate with Great Britain in handling the Turkish situation that the nations of the world may be maintained, declared Sir John Gibson, of Hamilton, Ont., at the 110th convocation of the supreme council, 33d degree, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Masonry, for the northern jurisdiction of the United States.

John touched upon the Turkish problem in conveying the fraternal greetings of Canadian Scottish Rite Masonry to the council.

Shop Working Forces Approaching Normal

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Shopcraft forces of the nation's railways are gradually increasing to their normal size, according to indications today. The shop forces are being built up by different methods, according to the policies adopted by various roads. While some roads are restoring jobs to erstwhile strikers under the terms of the Baltimore peace plan for ending the shopmen's strike, other roads, holding aloof from the arrangement with strike leaders, continued to recruit shop workers independent of all negotiations with the shop craft unions which went on strike July 12.

Thousands of strikers are due to return to New York Central shops under the terms of the Baltimore agreement, as a result of yesterday's settlement.

Roads remaining out of the Baltimore agreement reported shop forces at work ranging from 75 to 100 per cent of normal.

On western roads 122,415 shopmen, or 77.5 per cent of the forces employed last June were reported to be at work the early part of this week.

Governor Talks on State Taxes and Civil Code

Scouts at Democratic Promises and Points Out Splendid Condition of State's Finances.

North Loup, Neb., Sept. 20.—Likening the promises of the democratic party to reduce taxes to the promises of professional rainmakers in the drought periods of 1893 and 1914, Gov. S. R. McKelvie, speaking here today in defense of the civil administration code, of which he is the sponsor, declared that such promises of tax reduction were in varying amounts up to 50 per cent.

He said that in no case had the opposition to the code administration been specific as to how the reduction in taxes was to be accomplished.

The governor declared that forty-five per cent of the tax dollar is levied and used for the purpose of government within the county and such levies were made by county agencies over which the state has no control. Yet, he said, the democrats would have the voters believe that the state is responsible for the entire tax dollar.

Departments Self-Supporting

In explaining the civil administration code the governor said the code departments were more than self-supporting, and the revenues of the office, other than from taxation, for the year 1921 had exceeded the expenditures by nearly a quarter of a million dollars. He stated that the code has not interfered with the administrative functions of the constitutional state office but has abolished 21 boards and commissions and incorporated the functions of these under six executive heads of government.

Budgetary study and control of expenditures he said enabled the calling of a special session of the legislature this year to reduce appropriations by $2,000,000, which in turn resulted in the reduction of one-third in the state general fund levy for 1922.

Charles W. Bryan, the democratic candidate for governor was expected to address a North Loup audience later this afternoon.

Speaking of Hoax Rainmakers

Gov. McKelvie said: "Turn to Heretic. 'Nearly everyone who is old enough to vote knows of the drought years of 1893 and 1914. I was living on the farm in Clay county then and I remember well how sick at heart the people were. They counted the days since it had rained; they watched with eager eye each passing, fluffy cloud, and finally they lifted their voices in prayer to God that they might be given relief. But the rain did not come."

"It was then that a rainmaker came to town. He told the people that for $100 he could make it rain. The movement of the planets in their orderly course meant nothing to him. The causes of rain or drought as reasoned out by the scientists were all a myth, he said. Leave it to him."

Ak-Sar-Pen King Visits Chief City

Thousands of Spectators Enthusiastic in Praise of Annual Electrical Parade.

'Joy' Delays Parade

Thousands of admiring spectators bestowed enthusiastic praise as they viewed the Ak-Sar-Ben annual electrical parade, which moved through the principal thoroughfares on schedule, a mighty panorama of living pictures, a mighty panorama of living pictures, a mighty panorama of living pictures, a mighty panorama of living pictures.

It was the 27th showing of this classic feature of the fall festivities and it carried on the last float King of Ak-Sar-Ben XXVIII, noble descendants of a noble line of rulers of the realm of Quivera.

A benediction of sunshine over Omaha and the countryside heartened those who have labored for months in fashioning this great spectacle and also the thousands of visitors who arrived during the day on railroad trains and by motor vehicles.

Early in the afternoon, hundreds of automobiles were parked in advantageous locations, occupants waiting for hours for the coming of the mobile pageant.

Start on Time

At 7:30 the doors of the Ak-Sar-Ben den on North Twentieth street were opened and at 8 the floats were at Sixteenth and Cuming streets, ready for the signal to start.

The brilliant illuminations of the floats blued with the special street lighting, giving a fairyland touch to the scene.

From the reviewing stand in front of the city hall Mayor J. C. Dahman presented to the king a key to the city, accompanied by a few words of official welcome and assuring his highness that he will be extended every courtesy during his visit. The king accepted the key and expressed his intention to use it decorously and properly. On the reviewing stand were Governor S. R. McKelvie and Gen. George B. Dugan.

Men of the 89th Division Reviewed the Parade from a Stand in front of the Courthouse

Sidewalks and windows along the line of march were filled with spectators who were unstinted in expressing appreciation as the various features of the parade moved within their line of vision. Lines of cable were stretched to keep the streets clear and to facilitate the work of the reviewing stand through an orderly arrangement. The board of executive Ak-Sar-Ben crowd, good-natured and appreciative.

'Joy' the float carrying the Concord club singing band, broke a wheel at Twelfth and Douglas streets and delayed the parade. The singers completed the march on foot as the emergency crew was unable to make repairs at once.

The floats, representing the theme of 'Human Traits' and 'Popular Proverbs,' were designed and constructed under the direction of Gus Benz, chief artificer. For Ak-Sar-Ben, who has been in the service since the first electrical parade, 28 years ago.

Five hundred men were in the parade, including horsemen, torchbearers, electricians and those who were on the floats. In addition, there were 17 bands of music, the band of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben were on horses. W. S. Jardine was at his usual post in charge of the horses. O. D. Kiplinger supervised the music and Oscar Lichen was director of costumes and actors.

Rush Street Paving

Paving along the street car tracks on Sixteenth street was completed in time to permit the parade to move along this street to Douglas street, from which point it moved east to Tenth street, thence to Farnam and west on Farnam to Twentieth street.

The police redoubled their efforts to keep the route clear and to make it possible for all to see the parade at any point. The portofolio steps clear its usual quota of early arrivals, some gaining this advantage point early in the evening.

The ideas worked out in this year's parade appealed to the popular fancy and imagination. Such topics as 'Love,' 'Jealousy,' 'Vanity,' 'Frustrations,' and 'Deception' brought a real response from the multitude. Theater curtains were held until after the parade.

Hearing Is Denied in Nebraska Hotel Case

Lincoln, Sept. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The supreme court has overruled a motion for a rehearing of the suit of Henry Furrer against the Nebraska Building and Investment company and the Nebraska Hotel company. It has denied the right of stockholders to intervene as plaintiffs. The case stands reversed and remanded to the district court of Lancaster county for further proceedings. The court thus adheres to its former opinion reversing the district court order which confirmed the receivership sale of the Lincoln hotels, hotels at Columbus, Table Rock, Franklin and Scottsbluff and a lease on the Fontenelle hotel in Omaha. They were sold to Eugene C. Eppley, the price being $1,000,000, of which $300,000 is said to have been paid. The court now holds that President Furrer, Schaaf and other stockholders did not have a free opportunity to be heard fully on the charge that they acquired stock by fraud without consideration or on the demand for personal judgments against them.

City Is Invaded by 89th Division War Veterans

Auditorium Citadel Stormed by Heroes of Midwest Division—Former Commanders Are Coming.

The snappy caps with the circled "W" on them are becoming more numerous on downtown streets.

Which is another way of saying that members of the famous 89th division are arriving in large numbers for their three-day reunion here.

Three hundred of these middle-western fighters had registered at the division headquarters in the Auditorium up until 10 yesterday. Three thousand are expected.

There will be many of the war's noted heroes among those attending the reunion. Sgt. Harry J. Adams of Company K, 354th infantry, who on September 12, 1918, captured 300 Germans with an empty gun in his hand, for example.

Generals Are Coming

Gen. Wright and Gen. Winn, two of the three division commanders, were to arrive late yesterday or today. Col. Levi Brown, Fred Riley, Kansas, who was the first ranking officer of the auxiliary, and the division commander, Gen. Thomas G. Hanson, San Francisco, who was captured in the 178th infantry brigade, and now president of the Eighty-ninth Division War society, is on his way. Lieut. Col. Burton Smead and Frank E. Samuels of Topeka already are here. The latter is secretary of the war society.

There are 700 local men who were in the 89th division, according to F. O. Malm, secretary of the local re-union committee. The 89th lost 7,000 men, was second in individual heroism and fifth in the distance of advance made on the western front.

Here for Good Time

But despite this brilliant record the boys say they're not going "to fight the war over again" here. They're here to get together and to enjoy themselves. The program arranged for them should make it busy. Registration was the principal business yesterday. But last night was the great electric parade, followed by a dance at the auditorium with music by a 50-piece military band.

The visitors are advised to "keep their wrist watches wound and follow the schedule closely" today. First there will be an address of welcome by Mayor Dahman. Then memorial services in honor of the division dead, followed by the first business session and reunion of regimental units. In the afternoon is the free barbecue chow, "limbo" park, with plenty of "seconds" for everybody, and a field meet, with prizes for winners, not to mention band music. The "gigantic 89th division show—vaudeville, cabaret, wrestling, boxing and beautiful dancing" will climax the big day. Friday also is filled with events that should prove enjoyable, including an address by Governor McKelvie at 10 a. m. at the Auditorium.

Reduced railroad fares and the assurance of reasonable hotel rates are inducements which are expected to bring exceptionally large numbers to the reunion.

Then—and Now

Here members of the heroic 89th division are shown returning from the big European conflict in 1919, and as they looked at their reunion in Omaha. They're still saying mean things about the former kaiser, even though he is about to be married, as can be seen on the signs that the group is holding.

Attempt to Override Veto Fails

Roll Call Shows Four Less Vote Than Necessary to Pass Measure Over President's Head.

Big Majority in House

Washington, Sept. 20.—(By A. P.)—The soldiers' bonus bill failed of enactment today, the senate sustaining President Harding's veto. Previously the house had overridden the veto by a large margin.

The senate roll call showed 44 yeas to 28 nays, or four less than the two-thirds majority necessary to enact the measure without the president's approval. The vote in the house was 238 to 54, or 50 more than the required number.

Although it was reported that a new bonus bill might be introduced Thursday, it was certain that the bonus fight would not be renewed, at least until the session of congress, which will begin on December 4th.

Roll Call in Senate

The senate roll call follows: The override veto: Republicans: Brandegee, Bursum, Capper, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Jones, of Washington, Kellogg, La Follette, McCreary, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McLean, McNary, Nicholson, Norbeck, Oddie, Rawson, Shortridge, Stanfield, Sutherland, Townsend and Watson of Indiana.

Democrats: Ashurst, Brunsard, Culbertson, Fletcher, Gerry, Harrison, Hellin, Hitchcock, McKeller, Ransdell, Reed of Missouri, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Trammell and Walsh of Massachusetts—17. Total 44.

To Sustain the Veto

Republicans: Ball, Borah, Calder, Cameron, Dillingham, Depout, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, France, Keyes, Moses, Nelson, New, Newberry, Pepper, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania; Smoot, Sterling and Wadsworth—21. Democrats: Duff Glass, Myers, Owen, Shields, Underwood and Williams—7. Total 28.

Members Paired

Caraway and Jones of New Mexico for McKinley against. Harrison and Walsh of Montana for Frelinghuysen against. Pitman and Pomeroy for Swanson (present) against. Overman and Norris for Warren (present) against. Ladd and Kendrick for King against. Poindexter and Willis for Weller against. Johnson and Spencer for Page against.

Total 21

Abstained and not paired: Elkins, Stanley and Watson, Georgia—3. Grand total 96. The house vote on the first passage of the bonus last March 23, was 333 to 70, or 475 to 1, as compared with 427 to 1 today. The senate vote today, compared with 47 to 22, by which the measure was first passed on August 31.

Most of the house votes to sustain the president were cast by members from eastern and southern states, with western delegations voting almost solidly for the bill.

Two Changes in Senate

There were two changes in the senate. Senator Cameron, republican Arizona, who voted for the bonus originally, voting to sustain the veto while Senator McKinley, republican Illinois, who it was announced, was to change to the bill on the first vote, war paired against it.

There was only brief consideration of the measure in the house. In calling up the bill, Mr. Mondell said it had been considered for a long time and that further debate was not likely to change a single vote and was unnecessary. Mr. Garrett asked that there be an hour's discussion, but after cries of "vote, vote," from the republican side, the majority leader moved the previous question and the roll call was ordered.

Announcement of the result of the voting was received in silence by both the membership and the fairly well filled galleries. The same was true in the senate.

Reed Supports Bill

Within an hour after the house acted, the bill and the president's veto message were sent to the senate. Discussion had been under way for some time, with Senator Reed (democrat, Missouri), supporting the measure and Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, opposing it.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, made a speech in support of the bonus and was interrupted while the house clerk delivered the bill. The president's veto message then was read and when Senator Ashurst concluded Senator McCumber, North Dakota, in charge of the bill, moved to delay action until Thursday.
