

McKelvie Shows Democrats' Tax Statements False

Assertion Untrue That More Than 19 Per Cent of Tax Dollar Taken by State.

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—(Special)—Democratic misrepresentation of taxes continues to be the chief stock-in-trade of the political orators and propagandists. The most recent is the publication of a statement that the state is taking from 19 to 29 per cent of the farmers' tax dollar. The fact is that the state takes but 19 per cent on the average. The taxpayer is easily deceived because the state and county taxes are consolidated on his receipt. Governor McKelvie took occasion Monday to make this comment on this new charge:

"I note by a statement regarding state taxes that the democrats are pursuing their favorite pastime of misrepresentation. "With reference to the percentage of state taxes, the newspaper statement says: "Figures have been collected from the different counties by the democratic state committee, which proves that in numerous cases the state's share of the tax dollar from farmers amounts to 25, 40 or 50 per cent of the farmers' tax dollar. The fact is that there are thousands of farmers in Nebraska who contribute more to the support of the state than for county, school and other local expenditures combined. It is doubtful whether any of them get off as lightly as 19 per cent. The average proportion of state tax paid by farmers is probably not less than 40 per cent of their total taxes."

"The democratic state committee then proceeds to itemize certain identical tracts of land in Buffalo county and gives, in each instance, the amount of the state taxes as compared to the total tax. Officials of the state government have made the statement that an average of only 19 per cent of the total tax dollar is returned to the state for state purposes, and this statement is true. This percentage varies in the various localities of the state, in some instances it being more than 19 per cent and in other instances less, but the total average for the state, as it has been given by the officials of the state government, is correct and any effort that may be made to refute it will fail.

The taxpayer who wants to know the amount of his state taxes for 1922 should make a deduction of approximately one-third from the total state tax of 1921. The reason for this is that the state levy for 1922 is approximately one-third less than it was for 1921.

Gold bars to the amount of $21,750,000 have been received from abroad by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York, this year.

Pioneer Trail Blazer, 92, Defends Flapper Skirts

Ezra Meeker Stops Here Enroute to Capital to Plead Oregon Trail Fund.

Ezra Meeker, 92, dating back to the days when transcontinental women travelers wore poke bonnets, who is making his fourth trip to Washington to plead that congress make a national highway of the old Oregon trail, also rushed to the defense of the flapper.

He's sorry to see the long skirt beating back. "The flapper," he echoed yesterday as he leaped up a flight of stairs, two steps at a time, after brushing away the insulting arm of a younger man who offered aid. "You mean the modern girl with the short skirt?" "I'm for them. I believe the day is coming when women will wear bloomers, a sensible, healthful, convenient and economical garb. It is too bad girls are threatening to permit fashion to use them for clothes racks again."

Holding Their Own. "Despite all the walls of the reformers our young women are holding their own with those of a generation or two gone."

That from a patriarch who lived 41 years on an Oregon farm, heads a family of 41 descendants, doesn't drink coffee nor liquor, and isn't proud occasionally to fling a whip over the backs of a team of oxen by way of showing how he used to travel.

Meeker is traveling by train this time. Twice he has gone to Washington with an ox team, once in a motor car. As a result of his efforts, 20 monumental markers have been erected along the Oregon trail.

To Appear Before Senate. "An old bill to make a national highway of the Oregon trail was permitted to die," Meeker said. "A new one, looking to the appropriation of $100,000 for additional improvements, now is before the senate, and I will appear before a senate committee in its behalf. I am hopeful of arousing interest, meaning eventually the spending of millions on the route as a monument to the pioneers of the '50s and as a means of improved national defense."

Mrs. Heyn Opposed to Reconciliation

Mrs. Lester Heyn, wife of the photographer, told Judge Sears of the domestic relations court yesterday that she will never be reconciled with her husband. The testimony was given at the preliminary hearing of their divorce suit to determine what alimony should be paid. Judge Sears ruled she should be paid $150 a month temporary alimony.

Although his wife alleged his income exceeds $1,000 a month, Heyn told the magistrate that he had "extremely large expenses." He said his household expenses totaled $450 a month, as he had been forced to support households for his wife here and in Chicago, one for their children at the home of his parents and one for himself.

Governor's Ward Weds South Dakota Ranchman

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—Lincoln society has just had a thrill. It learned only Monday that Miss Josephine Bruno, ward of Governor and Mrs. McKelvie, was married early in the month at Rapid City, S. D., to Donald Bullen, a ranchman.

Although never formally adopted by the McKelvies, the young woman had been a member of the family for years and had but recently begun to take part in social affairs. She was with Mrs. McKelvie for several seasons at their summer home in South Dakota, and there she met Bullen.

The governor and his wife, it is understood, disapproved strongly of Miss Bruno's wedding at this time, as she is not yet 17 years of age. The young couple will make their home on a ranch of the groom's uncle in Wyoming.

Box Butte County Assessor Capitulates to State Board

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—The rebellion of John Pilkington, assessor of Box Butte county, is at an end. Pilkington had refused to turn over to the county clerk and board his assessment for 1922, because they had refused to pay a claim of $750 for extra work done in 1921, the validity of which was denied.

Cited to appear Monday before the state board to show cause why he should not be removed from office, he capitulated and turned over his keys. The case was continued until October 17 to ascertain if the desks to which the keys belong contained the entire records. Pilkington must sue the county if he wants to test the validity of his bill.

Boston Church Members Hunting for Faith Healer

Man Who Created Sensation With Marvelous Cures—Accounting of Funds Asked.

Boston, Sept. 25.—Boston Episcopalians yesterday sent out an alarm for James Moore Hickson, the "English healer," who created a near sensation in New England through his alleged cures of the blind, lame and sick. A demand was also made on the headquarters of the Episcopal church in New York that the huge sums of money which Mr. Hickson collected here be accounted for.

Healer Hickson was to attend the general convention in Portland, Ore., but did not appear. Every effort has been made to locate him. He cannot be found, however, and the single club resulting from a thorough investigation points to South America where it is alleged he arrived less than a month ago.

Made Much Money. While Mr. Hickson made no charge for his services he carried away from this country many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Leading Boston Episcopalians insist that this money should in some way be accounted for, hence their anxiety at Mr. Hickson's sudden and mysterious disappearance. While in this city Mr. Hickson held healing services at the Cathedral of St. Paul, with the Church of the Advent, St. John the Evangelist and St. Johns, Roxbury and it is alleged large sums of money were given him here. He became very popular during his stay in this city, hundreds of ailing people coming from all sections of New England. His work was marked with considerable success.

Whereabouts Unknown. "It is true that the alms bureau were heaped with money at Mr. Hickson's healing services and turned over to him," states Rev. William Austin Smith, who is editor of the Churchman. "It is likewise true that every effort has been made to ascertain the present whereabouts of Mr. Hickson. We wish for his own sake and for the sake of the church and his friends in every city in this country and Canada that some statement had been forthcoming from Mr. Hickson in connection with the disposal of the money he collected."

Delegation of Voters' Organization Declare Pamphlets Sent Out in Bulk Lots for Distribution.

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—A delegation of members of the Nebraska League of Women Voters, headed by President Mrs. C. C. Ryan of Grand Island, told Secretary of State Darius M. Ambery today they feared the referendum pamphlets on the four laws to be submitted at the election were not properly mailed to voters.

Mrs. Ryan said that in a number of instances the pamphlets had been sent in bulk lots to organizations or individuals with instructions for their distribution. In Douglas and Lancaster counties, Mrs. Ryan said, the pamphlets were not generally received by the voters 35 days before the general election, as she says is required by the law.

Mr. Ambery said there was a shortage of the pamphlets and 40,000 more had been ordered printed for Douglas and Lancaster counties. Livestock Rates to Be Readjusted

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—(Special)—The state railway commission will hold a hearing in October on livestock rates to Omaha. Commissioner Browne is just back from Washington, where he arranged for cooperative effort on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The situation at present is satisfactory to neither cattlemen nor railroads.

Several years ago, on complaint of Missouri river point competitors of Omaha, the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the Burlington to make a spread of 1 cent on cattle and 8 cents on hogs to Omaha as compared with the other Missouri river markets.

The Burlington raised the rates to Omaha and left the others undisturbed. This left the Union Pacific, a competitor, with the old rates in force and led to much driving of cattle across country from Burlington territory. The federal commission later dismissed the old case, after reopening it, and then began an action in which all interested roads are made parties.

Fremont Suffers "School Strike"

Patrons of Closed Suburban School Refuse to Send Children to City.

Fremont, Neb., Sept. 25.—(Special Telegram)—What is believed to be the first "school strike" of this vicinity developed in Fremont today when patrons of the Sheldon school, a subdivision of the city schools, refused to send their children to the Fremont public schools when the board of education decided to close the Sheldon schoolhouse.

According to officials, the closing was the result of the light attendance at the Sheldon school. The enrollment of the institution totals eight with an average attendance of six pupils. The board decided that it did not pay to hire a teacher for so small a class, and believing that the graded schools of Fremont would give the students better advantages, a bus was hired to transport them to and from the city proper.

This action, however, is opposed by the parents and property owners of that vicinity, who refused to send their children to the Fremont public school.

Friday's bus brought in one pupil. Farmers in vicinity of the school complain that the closing of the school will reduce the value of their property. The loss of the school, they say, deprives them of community uplift. The same school was closed once before, but the board was prevailed upon to reopen it. Patrons of the school point to the grades of pupils in proof of their arguments that the school is having good results.
