

A Queer World

Brass Band Funeral in New Orleans for Poor Fish—Driver on Truck Hit by 65-Mile an Hour Train Thanks Engineer for Lift—Etc., Etc., Etc.

All for a Poor Fish. New Orleans, La., Sept. 27.—Jasper, "the poorest fish," purchased from the goldfish tank of a 5 and 10-cent store, is dead at the New Orleans Press club. Brass bands have been retained for his funeral, which is being arranged by local newspaper men. Jasper had lived almost four years among college students and newspaper men. He died, it was announced, from eating too many mosquitos.

Some Are Born Lucky. Cincinnati, O., Sept. 27.—"And that is all there is to it," said Blair Runyan, employee of the Ohio state highway commission, as he lit a cigarette and walked away. In 30 minutes the remains of what was once a five-ton automobile truck were cleared from the Pennsylvania tracks and the New York flyer proceeded on its way. "Some persons are born lucky," mused the engineer. "Here is a fellow in a truck hit by a train going 60 miles an hour and not a scratch."

The motor truck which Runyan was driving was hit by the train when at King's Mills, O., yesterday. The engine of the truck was thrown more than 200 feet and the truck, filled with gravel, was dragged a half mile, while the engineer made frantic efforts to stop the train.

Instead of finding Runyan's body as they expected, the train crew found him on the cowcatcher of the engine, unharmed. "Thanks for the free ride, old top," said Runyan, as passengers and train crew rubbed their eyes.

In Demand. Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 27.—A new and fairly lucrative business is coming into being in these parts as a result of prohibition, according to J. E. Jones, assistant national prohibition commissioner, who is here from Washington on a trip of inspection. It is the selling of photographs of prohibition agents to saloon keepers, who violate the prohibition law. New Jersey saloon keepers, said Mr. Jones, are glad to pay $5 apiece for authentic photographs and are anxious to have a complete collection of government agents who operate in their territory.

A Family Reunion. Shawnee, Okl., Sept. 27.—"There is going to be a family reunion for shore," John Davis, negro, said when he left here today in custody of officers for the state penitentiary at McAlester to begin serving a five-year sentence for burglary. "I got two brothers, an uncle and three cousins there besides a lot of other acquaintances," explained the negro.

Davis requested the judge yesterday to give him the limit. "There's three good meals, tobacco and a good bed down there," he told the court.

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—C. E. Mitchell, having finished dining in a cafe, asked the waiter the time. "The waiter pulled out a time piece—then the trouble started. "That's my watch! Help! Police!" yelled Mitchell. "Thief! thief!"

But the waiter said as the police soon proved, that he had paid a young man $16 for it.

The arrest of Cecil Davis, 29 years old, on a charge of stealing the watch from Mitchell's room, soon followed.

Once Is Enough. Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 27.—Ray Lloyd, a trusty at the state penitentiary here, was assisting in training prison bloodhounds yesterday afternoon. The bloodhounds "caught" Lloyd about five miles from the penitentiary and the trainer, who accompanied the dogs, got off his horse. Lloyd mounted the animal, as the trainer's intention was that they would both ride the horse back to the penitentiary. Lloyd galloped away and was still at large early today.

The dogs seemed to think they were being worked overtime; anyway, they showed but little pep in the second chase. Lloyd was sentenced to serve five years on a charge of perjury and larceny.

RADIO

St. Louis Station on New Wave Length

Station KSD First to Use 400-Meter Wave of Class "B" Plants.

Omaha radio amateurs who have been tuning in nightly on St. Louis, may have to do more careful tuning hereafter in view of the fact that station KSD of that city is now operating on a 400-meter wave length. It is the first authorized station in the United States to start to use the new wave length recently innovated by the department of commerce.

This wave length will be used for the 4 o'clock and 8 o'clock p. m. concerts. Market reports and news bulletins earlier in the day will be broadcast on the 485-meter wave length as formerly.

The result of the change in wave length will enable persons having receiving sets to choose which station they want to hear. Other broadcasting stations of lesser power and efficiency than Class "B" will continue on the 300-meter wave length, and amateur sending stations on the

When mounting jacks in panels, the long sleeve support should be turned so that the contacts will extend beneath the jack. This will prevent the dust falling in between the contact points. It often happens that a small particle of dust will cause an open circuit or at least noise in the receiving circuit.

The operation of changing the adjustment of a crystal or mineral detector often results in a slight change in the wave length of the circuit. This is caused by the relatively high internal resistance of the crystal.

In view of this fact, slight readjustments of the tuning coil or of the variable condenser will be found advisable after the detector has been adjusted.

Do not throw out your old dry cells. The tar insulating material may be used. Binding posts may be filed down and made into ideal switch points. Fifteen or 20 old batteries may be soldered to a heavy wire and buried four feet in the ground and used for a ground connection.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Prohibition and anti-prohibition organizations of the country are respectively disappointed and jubilant over the prospect of referenda in Ohio and Illinois on the issue of light wine and beer.

Wet leaders believe that the opportunity afforded for an expression of popular sentiment will show that the people are opposed to the right prohibition restrictions established by the Volstead act. The drys are deprecating the referendum as a useless effort to get an expression of sentiment on a question that is already settled by the existing law and the amended constitution.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in a statement issued today, said: "The advocates of modification of the existing prohibition laws have just won an important victory in Ohio which will result in having a vote on the question of legalizing the sale of beer and light wines in the state at the coming elections in the Buckeye state."

"Under the instruction of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which is the foremost organization of its character in the country, the required number of signatures was obtained in Ohio for the submission to the voters of an amendment to section 9.1 of the state constitution providing no beverage containing 2.75 per cent or less of alcohol shall be deemed intoxicating, together with other provisions for liberalizing the present laws regarding manufacture and sale of beverages." A similar triumph has also been secured by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in Illinois. Agitation carried on by the association and its members in that state resulted in arrangements for submitting a referendum to the Illinois voters, calling for modification of the state and federal laws to permit the manufacture of beer and light wines for home consumption. Practically no opposition was encountered in Illinois by the association in its efforts. A swordfish caught in Hawaiian waters had attained the remarkable weight of 1,290 pounds.

Cashier Kills Self.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—David Carlson, former cashier of the Cottage Grove Avenue State bank, missing 10 days, cleared himself within an hour of his return of blame of what was reported to be a $100,000 debit to the bank's deposits, according to H. H. Raveng, state bank examiner.
