

Sloan Speaker at Republican Women's Meet

Former Congressman Praises Success of Nebraska Under Administration of G. O. P.

Lincoln, Sept. 29.—(Special).—Ex-Congressman Charles H. Sloan, in an address before republican women meeting here today to perfect an organization, said:

"Mr. Bryan proposes to reduce taxes by repeal of the code. Repeal of the code certainly would reduce the influence of the governor with the legislature in the attempt to keep down appropriations. As a member of many boards, a state executive certainly would be in no position to keep down expenses."

"In touching on the so-called unholy Hitchcock-Bryan alliance, Mr. Sloan said:

Democratic Alliance. "A good democrat described it as an unstable union of oil and water with not enough water to drink and not enough oil with which to operate a flivver."

In discussing national issues, he called attention to the desire on the part of Senator Hitchcock to establish an international banking system, the purpose of which being to raise the value of every form of money credit and securities of other nations at the heavy expense of the good credit of the United States.

He described the republican party as a national party and the democratic party as international.

"The democrats sought through establishment of a league of nations to make us a mere unit of a super-government. This would destroy our primary in the affairs of the world. We have the best credit in the world. The United States could, if necessary, borrow more money at a lower rate than all the rest of the world."

"While we have more wealth than the rest of the world, we do not want a course followed that will reduce our values to the level of values in other countries. We have the best labor market in the world. We do not want it reduced to the basis of European labor markets."

Benefits of Tariff. "We have passed the best tariff law in the interest of the producer of the northwest, particularly of Nebraska, ever passed. It repealed the Underwood tariff law which was passed largely to remove practically all protection from the farm products of this country. The democrats favor free trade as against protection as favored by the republican party. They would open our ports to cheap incoming products of foreign labor. Our tariff puts a strong protective duty on all things that the farmer produces."

"The farmer cannot combine. In lean years, if he must sell against open competition, he must accept partially no return for his year's toil. If, however, he is assured an American market, a partial crop will mean nearly as much as would a bumper year under the free trade plan."

"In Nebraska, they talk about taxes. There is one common item of expense we do not have to pay. That is interest on the public debt. I looked over the financial conditions of all of the states of the union and I found that every state which had no public debt is republican, while every democratic state in the union does have a public debt."

"And in the face of that, we find a democratic candidate for governor, running on a low-tax platform. I wonder how he would do it. Perhaps he intends to reduce taxation by borrowing money like all the other democratic states. In fact, Nebraska in the democratic column without a public debt, would be like the guest at the feast without a wedding garment."

First Migratory Duck Is Killed Near Blackbird

Agee, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special).—While hunting near Blackbird, Neb., William Harvey killed a blue-winged teal duck with metal bands on its legs. The bands had the following inscriptions: "Biel—103 Eury—238." It is believed by hunters that this is a marking made on migratory birds by the federal government and that the arrival of this duck in Nebraska waters marks the first of the northern duck visitors. The hunting for domestic ducks has ended and hunters are awaiting the flight of the northern birds which usually come through Nebraska before the first cold waves.

Smith W. Brookhart Scored by Father of President Harding

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 29.—The statement by Dr. George P. Harding, father of President Harding, that if he were a resident of Iowa he would vote the republican party and vote for Clyde L. Herring, the democratic candidate for United States senator, is causing comment in political circles here today.

Dr. Harding, who is in Des Moines in connection with the G. A. R. encampment has been the guest of E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture and has been entertained by Mr. Herring and other democrats.

Yesterday in an interview, Dr. Harding said the republican candidate for United States senator, Smith W. Brookhart, is a "socialist," adding that he did not want to "see him in Washington causing trouble."

"We have enough of these socialists in Washington now, causing trouble and we don't want any more of them," he declared.

Highest Priced Steer on Market Sold by Iowa Girl

Eighteen-Months-Old Animal, Weighing 1,260 Pounds, Sells at $12 a Hundred in South Omaha.

The highest priced steer sold on the local market this year was brought to the local yards yesterday by Miss Mildred Saunders, 11-year-old daughter of "Chuck" Saunders, farmer and livestock raiser of Manila, Ia., and granddaughter of the well known breeder who founded the famous herd of Shorthorns.

The steer was given to Miss Saunders in January of this year and she fed and looked after it ever since. When brought in yesterday it was 18 months old and weighed 1,260 pounds and sold for $12 a hundred, 15 cents higher than any sale made here since December, 1920.

Lamb From David City. Four carloads of lambs were brought by J. W. Schlenz and were shipped to his farm near David City where he said he would put them on feed on the corn lots.

Mr. Schlenz said he expected quite a run of cattle from the David City neighborhood in the next few weeks and that several farmers had expressed the intention of getting stockers to be fed this winter for the summer trade.

Porkers Sell at $19.15. A mixed load of live stock which included 25 head of spring shoats was brought to market by John Smith of Long Pine. The porkers were sold for $19.15 a hundred, the top for the day. "I have quite a number more hogs," said Mr. Smith, "that I expect to bring to market soon. There will be considerable live stock feeding done around Long Pine as the prospects for a good corn crop are the best."

Compelled to Sell. T. G. McKean of Moorcroft, Wyo., was on the local market yesterday with five loads of cattle two of which were horned steers averaging 1,100 pounds and sold for $7.40 a hundred. The rest of the shipment was made up of horned cows which sold for $5 a hundred.

Mr. McKean said range conditions around Moorcroft were excellent and there was more feed than there was live stock. He also said the financial situation was compelling stockmen to sell off their cattle down to a small margin, some of them letting their yearlings and calves go.

Shortage of Cars. According to E. E. Grimes, local joint agent for the railroads at the stockyards, the shortage of cars is becoming a handicap to the livestock business.

"The packer refrigerator car situation is more acute right now than I have seen it for years," said Mr. Grimes. "This is partly the result of the recent strike, but is further aggravated by the necessity of moving coal as well as the fruit and grain crops before rough weather sets in."

Knox County Petitions for Change in Government

Bloomfield, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special).—A move is on foot in Knox county to change from the supervisor system to the commissioner system of county government. Petitions are being circulated and it is reported that enough signatures have been obtained to insure the placing of the question on the ballot at the coming election. There is a strong opposition to the move and backers of the supervisor system will put up a strong fight to beat the proposition. There is in favor of the change point to the fact that many counties in the state have the commissioner system and, with out exception, the expense is far below that which exists in Knox county.

Nonpolitical Candidate Speaks at County Fair

Beatrice, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special).—Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, nonpolitical candidate for state superintendent, spoke here at the Gage County fair. Miss Pyrtle was introduced by the president of the Farmers' union and discussed educational needs in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Sept. 29.—(Special).—Neither Charles Maister nor H. H. Barge, north Nebraska bankers serving terms in the state penitentiary for wrecking their institutions, will receive paroles or pardons at the hands of the state board, says Attorney General Davis. The denial will be officially recorded at the October meeting. Mr. Davis says that he is opposed to releasing any banker before he has served his term.
