

Farmers of State Lose 10 Cents a Bushel on Grain

So Says National C. of C. Head Advocating Tidelwater Project in Address Here.

Lack of a Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway is costing Nebraska farmers from 8 to 10 cents a bushel on their grain at the present time, according to Julius H. Barnes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who introduced nine members of that organization's board of directors to a large audience at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon.

All nine speakers, who represent almost every section of the country, were at least moderately sanguine over the prospect for increasingly better economic conditions.

A sympathetic view toward labor and its aims was shown by several of the speakers. Ernest T. Trigg of Philadelphia, as a cure for labor troubles, advised the employer, in planning his method of treating employees, to ask himself, "Would I like to work for myself?" Mr. Trigg said that labor has the right to organize, even as has business, and that most labor trouble is caused by the selfish motives of a few leaders.

Guests at Luncheon. Other speakers were Alvan T. Simonds, Pittsburg, Mass.; John M. Crawford, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Frank Kell, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Clarence H. Howard, St. Louis; Max W. Babl, Milwaukee; L. S. Gillette, St. Paul, Minn.; Thomas H. Stearns, Denver, and J. H. Bloedel, Seattle, Wash.

These, with other members of the national Chamber of Commerce board of directors, were guests of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon before the speaking.

The two-day session of the national chamber's board came to an end yesterday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at Galveston, Tex., beginning November 20. The board also will visit several other southern cities during the speaking trip.

A clash over the bonus issue and the care of disabled war veterans between the board and the local American Legion post marked the meeting here, the board reiterating its stand against a blanket bonus to untrained service men and the Legion inquiring if the national chamber would inaugurate a program properly financed which would result in investigation of the specific needs of the disabled service men and places in Washington a permanent organization to aid the American Legion in its efforts in their behalf.

Trip to Rome. President Julius H. Barnes replied that at the first meeting here Thursday the board had appointed a committee of serious-minded business men to investigate whether it is possible, with proper protection against imposition, to develop any plan of relief for unemployed service men who were unfavorably affected in their status by war service.

A large delegation will sail for Rome February 10 where, from March 19 to 26, will be held a meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce. Among the Omaha men who will go are C. C. George, D. A. Skinner, secretary of the national chamber, said.

First Meeting of Beal Club Postponed to Next Tuesday. The first meeting of the newly organized Beal-for-county attorney club scheduled for last night was postponed until Thursday night, according to H. M. Baldridge, organizer of the club.

Election of officers and an executive board for organization work for the entire republican ticket will be the important feature of the meeting. Baldridge announced that O. E. Engler, county republican chairman, and Mrs. Draper Smith, vice chairman, will talk.

The club headquarters are in the Patterson block, Seventeenth and Farnam streets.

Ball Player Jailed on Complaint of Girl

Evelyn Cope.

Roy Spencer, catcher with the Omaha Western league baseball team, was jailed into police court yesterday on a complaint signed by Laura Cope, widow, in behalf of her daughter, Evelyn Cope, 14.

Mrs. Cope alleges that Spencer showered attentions on her daughter and asked her to marry him, but backed down when the time came. She also charges that he mistreated the girl.

Preliminary hearing was set for next Friday. Spencer's bond was set at $1,000.

Burlington Says Shop Force 600 Below Prestrike Days. Thirteen thousand one hundred men now are employed in the mechanical department of the Burlington railroad as compared with 12,000 on June 29, the day before the strike was called, according to a statement by Vice President Bracken, who declared the road also is employing men now on an average of 100 daily. Mr. Bracken was in Omaha from Chicago Friday on an inspection trip.

Last Wednesday the road handled 500 more loaded cars than on any other day in the history of the system, he declared, adding that there positively will be no settlement between his railroad and representatives of the shopcraft unions.

Surviving her are a son, E. C. Schornborn, of Puyallup, Wash., and three daughters, Minnie, Fern and Leah of Omaha.

Funeral will be held from the home Sunday at 2 p. m. Burial in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Surviving her are a son, E. C. Schornborn, of Puyallup, Wash., and three daughters, Minnie, Fern and Leah of Omaha.
