Bridge Luncheon
Mrs. L. L. Henninger was hostess of Wednesday last when an attractive luncheon was given at the Brandois Restaurant.

A huge mound of roses made an attractive centerpiece for the luncheon table and the afternoon hours were devoted to bridge. Miss Elizabeth Quinn having high scores. Mrs. E. L. Emplie received the consolation.

Sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Henninger were Mesdames Roy DeVol, Henry Jennings, Frank Riker, John McAtee, W. A. Cutler, R. B. Wallace, Howard Butler, Garland Rounds, Edson Damon, J. A. Clark, Norman Filbert, E. L. Emplie, A. H. Dunn, C. E. Swanson, George Damon, Eugene Reynolds, Don Waller, Glenn Reed, Donald Annis, C. E. Hulsebus of Harlan, Richard Bennett of Lincoln, Misses Theda Berensheim, Elizabeth Quinn and Ruth Wickham.

Visitor Feted
Included in the round of gayeties planned last week for Miss Polly Holbert of Pasadena, Calif., who is visiting Miss June Davis, was a jolly breakfast supper at the Country Club on Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Davis host and hostess.

Wednesday Mrs. Luther Drake invited 21 guests to the Omaha Country Club for a beautifully appointed luncheon which was followed by bridge. The cleverly selected place cards bore miniature "Polly Parrots," and the prizes, which were won by Miss Davis and her guest, were tied with ribbons of lavender and white, the colors of Marlborough school from which these young ladies were graduated and of which Mrs. Drake was principal.

Wednesday evening a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emplie, whose daughter Gretchen was also a Marlborough girl, and Thursday evening John Allen complimented this visitor with a supper at the Brandois restaurant, preceded by an Orpheum party.

In honor of their house guest and also for Miss Betty Perrin of Fresno, Calif., who was a Council Bluffs visitor last week, Mrs. John Davis gave a lovely luncheon Friday and on Saturday Mrs. Fred Davis had a luncheon and theater party in Omaha.

Dancing Recital
Nearly 40 dainty little children and young girls paid homage to Terpsichore on Thursday evening, when Miss Frances Earenflight, celebrated danseuse with the Pavley-Oukrainsky organization, presented her pupils in recital at the Strand theater.

The well-arranged program gave an excellent opportunity of showing the training which these young dancers have been privileged in receiving, and as a piece de resistance Miss Earenflight herself contributed an exquisite solo number, "The Snow Bird," which was a particular treat for the audience. She also appeared with two of her classes in the final ensemble, "Hymn of Joy," displaying in a most charming manner her graceful art.

The "Trip to Candyland" was a very clever production, exceptionally well done by about 16 little tots, who, with Kitty Sue Hess as the fairy queen, brought from a sugar-stick candy house all sorts of tempting dainties which were portrayed by these youthful dancers.

Lovely solo group numbers and ballets were beautifully done by the more advanced pupils, and most enjoyable and appropriate music was furnished by Miss Bess Hattey at the piano and M. H. Slater, the popular organist.

Mrs. Karl Kehrer's two vocal numbers were also added features of the program.

Birthday Celebration
A family dinner was held at the S. L. Etnyre home last Wednesday evening in honor of the 58th birthday of W. L. Patterson, father of Mrs. Etnyre, who arrived in the city that day from Philadelphia where he has been visiting another daughter.

Mr. Patterson's children, grandchildren and two great grandchildren were present for the occasion and a huge birthday cake adorned the center of the dining table.

D. A. R. Luncheon
Mrs. C. G. Saunders, newly elected regent of the D. A. R., opened the winter activities of this organization with a buffet luncheon on Thursday at her home on Oakland avenue.

She was assisted by Mrs. J. E. Swan and Mrs. O. D. Wheeler, and about 20 members attended.

Quantities of asters were used throughout the rooms.

Event to Come
The Halloween card party planned by the American Legion auxiliary for the last afternoon in this month, and the dance which will be given that evening by the same organization are awakening local interest and indignant point to very successful affairs.

With each ticket that is sold for these entertainments a number is given which entitles the holder to a chance on an automobile which is now on display, and which will be awarded to some lucky person before the close of the dance on the evening of October 31.

Both of the affairs will be held in the City Auditorium.

Miss Earenflight Departs
Miss Frances Earenflight left Friday night for Chicago and on Tuesday, next, will appear with the Pavley-Oukrainsky ballet in St. Louis, where they have been engaged to give a performance at the "Veiled Prophet," a fall festival, which is an annual event in this Missouri city.

During their festivities last year this ballet was such a drawing card that a contract was immediately signed for a return engagement.

Luncheon and Orpheum
A group of Council Bluffs people have been invited to luncheon at the Brandois tea room, followed by an Orpheum party, which has been arranged for Wednesday, next, by Mrs. Orville Foster, formerly of this city, but now of Omaha.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Going Out With Boys

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have received advice from you before, so I am coming to you again. Now this is my problem. I am past 17 and considered good looking and have many friends. These friends are all real good boys and girls. They are of the better class. My father does not want me to go with any boys. I don't know why, but I think I will get in bad company, but I am very careful whom I go with and I think a girl can be good wherever she goes if she wants to be, and the boys tell me I am self-conscious and call me a little innocent girl. Do you think it is right for me to go with the boys? I am working away from my home town and my father does not know I go with boys, although I do not sneak out, as these people are quite strict with me and I get their permission before I go.

Is it good to be self-conscious and take things serious? I have been going with a boy several times and like him much better than the other boys. I am not happy when I am with other boys because I always think of him. I love him, Miss Fairfax. How can I go about it to see him often? He has said something about going with me steady, but I don't know if he meant it. Can I encourage him to go with me and how? Thanking you, I am, SMILES.

You ought to tell your parents that you go out sometimes. If they know it, if you don't go too much, and if the friends you are staying with meet the boys who take you out and approve of them, I don't see why it isn't all right for you to go. Innocence is a charming virtue, but self-consciousness is utterly silly. Nothing detracts more from charm, or makes a girl appear more awkward and ill at ease, than to be too young for you to be seriously in love. You may like one boy better than the rest—we can't help preference, but you would be foolish to limit yourself to his society, and I wouldn't encourage him to "go with you steady." If you did that, your father would be justified in objecting and saying you are too young.

Mentally Unbalanced
My Dear Miss Fairfax: Wish you would give me a little advice. I am a girl of 21 years, am going with a man 25 years old, have gone with him nearly three years. We dearly love one another and he has been very true to me the last year. He went with another girl nearly five years before we ever met. He took other girls out at the time when he went with her. He tells me now he don't love her. She is very jealous of me. He receives letters from her off and on. He never answers them. He tells me what she writes and the letter he received the last time he gave me to read. She insists on committing suicide, she wants to die if he ever marries and makes another girl happy. She has told him several times she would, and she seems to be very honest about it. She told him she has waited five years for him and is still waiting. We never see her with anyone, she knows I go with him, and she won't look at me or speak to me when we meet. She and her folks are very good friends of his. His parents once wanted him to marry her. She is very much thought of in this city. He has told her time and time again just what he thought of her, and it seems to do no good. What would you advise? It troubles me so and I know it does him. We would marry, but this is keeping us from it. Do you suppose she would do anything of the kind if we marry? MARY ANN.

The girl must be mentally unbalanced and the think has probably gotten to be an obsession with her. I don't believe that she would really commit suicide, but it is up to her own family to see that the girl doesn't do anything reckless. Since the man is an old family friend it would be comparatively easy for him or for his mother to go to the girl's parents, tell them the whole story and make sure that the girl is looked after properly. The affair ought to be allowed to keep you from marrying.

Douglas County Democratic Women's club will meet at the Paxton hotel, Assembly hall, at 8 p. m. Monday, I. J. Dunn will be the speaker.

Freedom from Fatigue: Wear Flexible Shoes

"The foot is a cantilever spring, so made that when it is allowed to function normally it carries the body with ease and resilience."—Dr. Douglas Stewart of New York, in Physical Culture Magazine.

The average person takes about 5,000 steps a day. If the natural flexibility of the foot is restrained in a stiff shoe, if the muscles are bound by a wrongly shaped shoe, if the nerves are impinged and abused, if circulation is impeded, foot fatigue will follow.

Thousands of tired feet the country over could be comforted and rested by the Cantilever Shoe. Each year more and more women and men are wearing Cantilever Shoes to get free from foot fatigue. They find that Cantilevers make them feel younger and more ambitious and give them greater endurance.

Arched Like the Foot.
The Cantilever arch is flexible and shaped like your foot arch. There is room for the toes to spread out; the heel fits comfortably. The Cantilever Shoe fits snugly at the arch and supports the foot without interfering with it. Avoidance of foot strain and restriction makes a big difference in the way you feel after standing or walking a while. Unrestrained—not handicapped—your feet, in Cantilever Shoes, will go the limit for you.

Try on the Cantilever at our store. Take a few steps and note the comfort. The Cantilever is good looking, well made and priced as reasonable. We are the exclusive agents for this shoe.
