

THE MORNING BEE

MORNING-EVENING-SUNDAY
THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY
WILSON R. UPHOFF, Publisher, E. BREWER, Gen. Manager

BE TELEPHONES
Private Branch Exchange, Ask for the Department AT 1010
Editorial Department, AT 1011 or 1012

HOWELL AND THE HOME FOLKS
Nebraskans have long known R. B. Howell as an engineer of great attainments, a business manager of experience, and an originator of enterprises of unusual capacity.

TESTING 'DOLLAR MATCHING' LAW
Massachusetts has been given permission by the supreme court to test the constitutionality of the Sheppard-Towner maternity law.

W. J. Bryan's Opinion of Hitchcock
In his paper, The Commoner, in March, 1920, W. J. Bryan, after his own signature, had the following to say of the present democratic nominee for the United States senate:

He Made Their Hair Curl
Fifty years ago a young Frenchman, M. Marcel, gave to the world a new idea. He proved that any girl could have a curl.

THE PEOPLE'S VOICE
Editorial from readers of The Morning Bee. Readers of The Morning Bee are invited to use this column freely for the expression of their views on matters of public interest.

A Long Way to Re-Election
The Omaha, Neb.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: To the tune of "Tipperary."

TOPICALLY BRYANESQUE
If the $11,000,000 which America lent the allied nations were wiped off the books, undoubtedly a great load would be lifted from Europe—but one may well pause to consider what it would mean to the people of the United States, who would have to shoulder this added burden.

THE MAN WHO OWNS A CAR
The Cleveland Trust company quotes figures based upon many thousands of transactions which show that the typical purchaser of an automobile may be described as follows:

A TREMENDOUS NATIONAL SAVING
A billion-dollar reduction in the public debt is not to be scoffed at, even by opponents of the republican administration. Nor is a cut of more than three billions in the ordinary expenditures of the federal government a matter for anything but universal rejoicing.

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for SEPTEMBER, 1922, of THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 72,093
Sunday 76,202

That's My Home
HIGH RENTS are not going to bother this man. Scarcity of homes does not distress his family. Years ago he determined he would have his own home some day. His pride is justified. There is no more basic aspiration in men's minds than the hope of owning one's home.

GRAIN CATTLE-HOGS
AGRICULTURE is the basic bond between the people of our cities and those of our farming and ranching communities. Both groups are interdependent — one for the necessities of life — the other for the market.

FREE A NEW LUDWIG DRUM
to the best boy drummer. Come in any day from 3 to 5 p. m. and play for "Scotty," who will be the judge.

Corn Exchange National Bank
Has an "Interest" in You
1303 FAIRBANK STREET

taxes" has shrunk $1,400,000,000 since the repeal of the excess profits tax, and the scaling down of taxes on huge incomes. They do not mention the relief that has been afforded to small income taxpayers, through the enlargement of exemptions. Nor do they speak of the natural disappearance of excess profits, due to deflation of business. Nor of the load on business that was threatening to choke it—imposed by high taxes.

As to treasury operations under the democrats and under the republicans: The total turnover in treasury certificates for the year July 1, 1919, to June 30, 1920, was $15,589,117,458.63; in the next year this had been reduced to $8,552,225,500, and since then the reduction has been even greater, the total turnover for 1922 being less than $6,000,000,000.

On August 31, 1919, the war debt reached its peak, $26,696,701,648.01. Just after Mr. Wilson went out of office, on March 31, 1921, the debt was $23,980,104,397.83; on September 30, 1922, it was $22,812,407,791, having been reduced by more than a billion dollars by the republicans, along with the reduction in taxes and the reduction in expenses.

Other laws, such as the road aid, the battle against tuberculosis and other preventable diseases, contain the federal aid principle to which Massachusetts objects in the maternity law. An exception is noted, in that the Sheppard-Towner law deals with persons rather than with things, yet it may be questioned if the control of the citizen is more sacred to the state than is the control of its highways; or is the state's right over its citizen more infringed upon when the federal government seeks to provide protection prior to birth than when it undertakes to relieve an ailment that follows after birth.

Conceding that tax raised in Massachusetts may possibly be spent in Nebraska, under the law that is being attacked, the answer is that the federal government levies its taxes for general purposes, and expenditures are for the good of all. Massachusetts may not care to take advantage of the maternity law, but she is the gainer if another state does and as a result saves the life of its babies and brings them to the state of useful citizenship, for in that instance all states are benefited. The progress of the case will be watched with interest, because of what it holds.

He did not show much pride in his state when he joined the republican members of the senate's currency committee and tried to force Wall Street's financial views on the country. Nebraska was quite unanimously on the side of the treasury bill, as the democrats prepared and adopted it.

In the face of this record, which Mr. Bryan showed he knew thoroughly, can he now urge the election of Hitchcock?

From the Omaha Bee.
Fifty years ago a young Frenchman, M. Marcel, gave to the world a new idea. He proved that any girl could have a curl. She had but to provide sealings, and two certain twists of the wrist and many a flirt and flutter she could appear with an undulating coiffure that would catch the eye, and if Dame Nature herself had done the job.

Wherever women wear their hair up, quite a celebration of this half-century has been going on. In France M. Marcel has emerged from his heroic retirement on a farm near Paris to receive the plaudits of those who make money by imparting the Marcel wave to other people's hair.

As a candidate for the mud wasp, Lord Kelvin never seen this mother, never having been told how they go out, when they grow up and get ready to lay eggs. And they find a big fat caterpillar, and after it just the same way as their mother did, in the right spot, and so it goes.

When the top gets tired of spinning it begins to wobble. Lord Kelvin told Frank Munsey that the earth has a wobble something like that and that wobble caused the axial periods to sweep over the earth.

A soap bubble is part of an education. How does it hold the air inside of it? How is it possible that it can last so long with its beautiful colors, when it is so thin that man cannot conceive its thickness? It is thinner than gold leaf, which is the thinnest substance man produces.

A little boy flying a kite recalls Franklin's important experience with electricity. You read the government reports and know they are sending up kites on a big scale, billions that go up ten miles, twelve miles and farther, and tell us all about the cold air and the thin air and the lack of oxygen above us.

Grown up boys that concentrate their massive intellects on playing billiards have heard the click of two billiard balls as they come together thousands of times. If you ask them:

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

W. J. Bryan's Opinion of Hitchcock

In his paper, The Commoner, in March, 1920, W. J. Bryan, after his own signature, had the following to say of the present democratic nominee for the United States senate:

Senator Hitchcock's appeal to state pride in support of his candidacy would have been stronger if he had ever shown any pride in his state, but his record is sufficient answer to any state pride argument.

After the state went dry by a 29,000 majority, he had so little state pride that he voted with the champions of the liquor interests against the submission of a national prohibition amendment.

The senate voted five more than three to one for the amendment, and the democrats voted just three to one. Mr. Hitchcock was one of the 13 democrats who voted NO against 35 democrats who voted YES. Not much state pride there.

Then on the subject of woman suffrage, he voted with a minority of the democrats and a minority of the senate, against suffrage at a time when his vote would have given the democrats the prestige of having submitted the amendment while the republican party was in control. And he voted against suffrage in spite of the request made by the legislature of Nebraska that he vote to submit the amendment.

He did not show much pride in his state when he joined the republican members of the senate's currency committee and tried to force Wall Street's financial views on the country. Nebraska was quite unanimously on the side of the treasury bill, as the democrats prepared and adopted it.

In the face of this record, which Mr. Bryan showed he knew thoroughly, can he now urge the election of Hitchcock?

From the Omaha Bee.
Fifty years ago a young Frenchman, M. Marcel, gave to the world a new idea. He proved that any girl could have a curl. She had but to provide sealings, and two certain twists of the wrist and many a flirt and flutter she could appear with an undulating coiffure that would catch the eye, and if Dame Nature herself had done the job.

Wherever women wear their hair up, quite a celebration of this half-century has been going on. In France M. Marcel has emerged from his heroic retirement on a farm near Paris to receive the plaudits of those who make money by imparting the Marcel wave to other people's hair.

As a candidate for the mud wasp, Lord Kelvin never seen this mother, never having been told how they go out, when they grow up and get ready to lay eggs. And they find a big fat caterpillar, and after it just the same way as their mother did, in the right spot, and so it goes.

When the top gets tired of spinning it begins to wobble. Lord Kelvin told Frank Munsey that the earth has a wobble something like that and that wobble caused the axial periods to sweep over the earth.

A soap bubble is part of an education. How does it hold the air inside of it? How is it possible that it can last so long with its beautiful colors, when it is so thin that man cannot conceive its thickness? It is thinner than gold leaf, which is the thinnest substance man produces.

A little boy flying a kite recalls Franklin's important experience with electricity. You read the government reports and know they are sending up kites on a big scale, billions that go up ten miles, twelve miles and farther, and tell us all about the cold air and the thin air and the lack of oxygen above us.

Grown up boys that concentrate their massive intellects on playing billiards have heard the click of two billiard balls as they come together thousands of times. If you ask them:

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

"From State and Nation"

Editorials from other newspapers

Lawyer Criminal
From the Chicago News.
Officials of the Chicago Bar association have offered to the criminal court the cooperation of that organization to the end that there may be more certain and more efficient administration of justice in Cook county.

There are endless ways, of course, in which the members of the bar association can assist in the better administration of justice. They can help greatly, as many of them now propose to do, in giving their services gratis to the defense of indigent prisoners who too often fail to get justice for want of proper defense.

Members of the bar association know what judges on the bench have frequently asserted, that there are in Chicago lawyers who are in virtual partnership with criminals and have a recognized place in organized crime; lawyers who resort to any trick and subterfuge to bring a bond to the court, or to get criminals out of the courts or to get them free when brought to trial.

Those who are interested in the popularization of good music may learn much that is worth knowing by a study of the experience of St. Louis and its Municipal Opera company.

St. Louis gives its operas in an outdoor theater situated in a public park. A natural amphitheater has been improved to provide sealings, and two big oak trees, with their overhanging branches make the proscenium. The men who went back to nature considerably modified by art for their theater, also had a wise respect for human nature.

That part of society which thinks it cannot enjoy itself at the opera unless somebody spends too much money, would never be pleased with an enterprise like the St. Louis Municipal Opera, but for the purposes of pleasure and musical culture, St. Louis' willingness to be content with humble beginnings and to have its opera grow as popular interest and appreciation grew, is much to be commended.

He Made Their Hair Curl
Fifty years ago a young Frenchman, M. Marcel, gave to the world a new idea. He proved that any girl could have a curl. She had but to provide sealings, and two certain twists of the wrist and many a flirt and flutter she could appear with an undulating coiffure that would catch the eye, and if Dame Nature herself had done the job.

Wherever women wear their hair up, quite a celebration of this half-century has been going on. In France M. Marcel has emerged from his heroic retirement on a farm near Paris to receive the plaudits of those who make money by imparting the Marcel wave to other people's hair.

As a candidate for the mud wasp, Lord Kelvin never seen this mother, never having been told how they go out, when they grow up and get ready to lay eggs. And they find a big fat caterpillar, and after it just the same way as their mother did, in the right spot, and so it goes.

When the top gets tired of spinning it begins to wobble. Lord Kelvin told Frank Munsey that the earth has a wobble something like that and that wobble caused the axial periods to sweep over the earth.

A soap bubble is part of an education. How does it hold the air inside of it? How is it possible that it can last so long with its beautiful colors, when it is so thin that man cannot conceive its thickness? It is thinner than gold leaf, which is the thinnest substance man produces.

A little boy flying a kite recalls Franklin's important experience with electricity. You read the government reports and know they are sending up kites on a big scale, billions that go up ten miles, twelve miles and farther, and tell us all about the cold air and the thin air and the lack of oxygen above us.

Grown up boys that concentrate their massive intellects on playing billiards have heard the click of two billiard balls as they come together thousands of times. If you ask them:

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

AMONG THE FOLKS IN HISTORY

THE OLD FASHIONED 'HIRED GIRL' AND HER COOKIES.

of the elements of strong friendship of one man for another, misplaced confidence, the rocky road of the transgressor and the reward which comes to crown honest endeavor. The book shows that a man who is fundamentally right has more than a fighting chance to win.

A Book of Today
NORTHWEST by Harold Bindles, Frederick A. Stokes company.
Harold Bindles knows how to mix the proper ingredients to make a story that is interesting and entertaining. He has written 20 books, mostly about people and affairs in the frontiers of civilization. "Northwest," his latest contribution, is a stirring adventure in the wide of the Canadian Rockies.

Ask Nash-Vriesema
The name of your product, service, telephone number, etc., can be impressed upon the public mind indelibly through Art Animo Film Ads. The telephone number of the Nash-Vriesema Auto Co. was omitted from the book. They started using full-dress Art Animo Ad Service in the World-Sun-Moon and Music. Roll full screen display with plenty of action and repetition was used. This experiment has converted them to using the same service to sell cars.

HALLGREN
Film Advertising Service
636 Paxton Bldg. JA 1993
VERNE HALLGREN, Mgr.

PIANOS
TUNED AND REPAIRED
All Work Guaranteed
A. HOSPE CO.
1813 Douglas St. Tel. Doug. 3556

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for SEPTEMBER, 1922, of THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 72,093
Sunday 76,202

Money to Loan on Omaha Real Estate
Present Interest Rate Charge is 6%

The CONSERVATIVE SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION
1614 HARNEY

That's My Home
HIGH RENTS are not going to bother this man. Scarcity of homes does not distress his family. Years ago he determined he would have his own home some day. His pride is justified. There is no more basic aspiration in men's minds than the hope of owning one's home.

AGRICULTURE is the basic bond between the people of our cities and those of our farming and ranching communities. Both groups are interdependent — one for the necessities of life — the other for the market.

FREE A NEW LUDWIG DRUM
to the best boy drummer. Come in any day from 3 to 5 p. m. and play for "Scotty," who will be the judge.

Corn Exchange National Bank
Has an "Interest" in You
1303 FAIRBANK STREET

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.

The New York street beggar who recently begged a dollar or two may soon be begging again—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

When Greek meets Greek they start either a restaurant or a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

We live expectantly to progress people who try to change a revolution—Hoanoke Times.

Once upon a time when it began to get cold all you had to do was to call up and order your coat—Springfield News.