ten millions in the United States this is impossible. She says that the general public, according to her mail, thoroughly approved of her venture.

"I got only letters expressing satisfaction and enthusiasm with my decision. Most of those who wrote took the view that, since they had only been able to make my acquaintance through phonograph records, pictures and articles, they would be glad to see me on the screen to get an idea what my characters were in action.

Most of these letters came from small towns, many of them that I had never even heard of. One, for instance, was from a blacksmith in a little Virginia town, who said he was over 60 years old. He said he had a little phonograph on which he played some of my records, and he was glad I was going to act for the 'movies' because he could never hope to see 'Clo-Clo-Sac' any other way.
