THE BRYAN SIDESHOW.
What should be held firmly in mind is that politics is one thing and government is quite another.

Government is a business—the people's business. A political campaign such as is being staged by Brother Charley Bryan is nothing but a sideshow.

The question for citizens to decide is whether they wish to have their state house turned into a circus. With Brother Charley in the governor's chair there would undoubtedly occur numerous sensational events that would set the rest of the nation talking about Nebraska, though hardly in a favorable manner.

Yet this is all that Brother Charley has to promise. In all his sideshow performances on the stump there has not been one genuinely constructive plan put forward.

By some sleight of hand he announces that he will reduce taxes 20 per cent, a thing manifestly impossible because the taxes collected by the state only amount to 19 per cent of the total tax levy, made up in all the subdivisions of government.

"Presto change!" he cries, and announces that the code-budget system will be abolished entirely. He knows, or ought to know, that to repeal the code would leave the state without any government at all.

The greatest illusion act is that in which Brother Charley tells about his own taxes. First the story went that the tax on his farm in Lancaster county had risen from $60 to some $300 after the demerits had been ousted.

Then upon the showman explained that it was not his farm about which he was talking, but that he owned many other farms and had just mixed them up. Again the investigators went to another farm of which Bryan was the landlord.

Such are the thimble-rigging tactics of the showman candidate for governor. Not once has he displayed the slightest sincerity of purpose; not once has he outlined any improvement that he would be able to make.

"Right this way, ladies and gentlemen, the performance is just ready to start!"
Is this the sort of governor the people of Nebraska deserve?

SPEEDING UP RAIL SHIPMENTS.
Quick unloading means much in speeding up transportation and minimizing the car shortage.

These steel containers give the shippers of less than carload lots all the advantages of carload shipment and additional benefits of protection against pilferage or damage.

Major Johnson of the British intelligence office proposes to have Mr. Clayton disciplined after some fashion, shot at moonrise or expelled from the peninsula or something.

What's wrong in the coal industry? Wages, profits, mining conditions and the relations of men and management—these are a few of the matters into which the Fact-Finding Coal Commission appointed by President Harding will go.

Support the Coal Inquiry.
The National Security League has mobilized to repel attacks on the power of the supreme court to set aside acts of congress.

News that the barbers may do away with their red and white poles and substitute black brings up the question: What did the cigar stores do with their wooden Indians?

The moral influence of America is much more powerful because of the fact that it has not made itself an accomplice in European deals.

However, J. Ogden Armour might tell a fight in traveling tale if he were to loosen up.

The free duty of good citizenship is to register for the coming election.

ings. A few years ago the British government appointed the Sankey commission to perform a similar service for the coal industry in that country—and nothing ever came of it.

OLD-FASHIONED THINGS.
After all is said and done, did not our fathers and grandfathers, and our mothers and grandmothers, have the best of the children of today in many ways.

When grandfather was a boy and grandmother was a girl, neither thought a thing about trudging two or three miles to school in the morning, then home to do a lot of chores, and then trudging back to the schoolhouse for a spelling bee, followed up by a wholesome repast of doughnuts, pumpkin pie and milk that never saw a condenser.

Is it not very likely that we have gone too far and too fast in some directions since grandfather was a boy?

OMAHA AND THE COMMUNITY CHEST.
New support is coming day by day for the project of a Community fund for Omaha to meet the combined budgets of all charitable agencies.

It is a far step that has been taken by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce in setting a committee of five men, composed of Henry Monsky, Anan Raymond, R. V. Cole, Howard Kennedy and J. Porter Allan, at work on this proposal.

The Community fund is a way of taking care of the community responsibilities. It is founded upon sound business principles which enable the various welfare organizations which take care of our children, the aged, the sick and the unfortunate without danger of inadequate funds, without duplication, without waste of time, energy or money.

There is no element of hit-or-miss in such arrangement. It is a convenience to givers, who can thus determine at once and according to their means the amount they can spare for charity, and pay this pledge in installments.

The Omaha Bee has had much to say on the need for a community chest here, and it will have more to say as the campaign for this civic enterprise gains momentum.

FIRST AID TO DIPLOMACY.
"Open treaties, openly arrived at," characterized the proceedings at Mudania, but developments disclose that this was not the intention.

Major Johnson of the British intelligence office proposes to have Mr. Clayton disciplined after some fashion, shot at moonrise or expelled from the peninsula or something.

Education of Taxation.
These days we hear a great deal about reduction of taxes. The democrats tell us that they can reduce taxes; this is very good as far as it goes.

Bryan's Two Opinions of Hitchcock

THEN.
In the Commoner of May, 1920, Bryan had the following to say of the present third class democratic candidate for the senate:

Now.
Bryan's other view of Hitchcock is thus given in a report of the speech at Neligh October 11:
Neligh, Neb., Oct. 11.—Delivery of the government from the hands of special interests in Washington and Lincoln, back into the control of the people through the re-election of United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the election of Edgar Howard to congress from the Third district, and the election of the state and local democratic tickets was urged by Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor, in talks today as he swept through Boone county and wound up tonight at Neligh, county seat of Antelope.

A Republican Replies to Hitchcock.
Hoopfer, Neb.—My Dear Senator Hitchcock: I am in receipt of your undated circular letter in which you ask me to vote for you and to discuss the letter with the ladies of the family.

Christian women that they are, they are willing to forgive, but human beings that they are they can not forget. Then, my dear senator, they resent your attempt to deceive them by charging the misdeeds of your own party on the republicans.

SNAPPY CONVERSATION WITH THE COAL MAN

labor—two men for every job—with lower wages sure, much unemployment, in it, some beggary and increase of crime.
To be consistent free traders should have admitted foreign labor. If Senator Hitchcock voted to exclude labor he demorated his own principles, he condemned himself, for whether it be the laborer who comes across faster than he can be assimilated, or the products of his labor only, the result is the same.
