County Loses to Tax Buyer Under Endres

(Continued From Page One.) to pay 15 per cent for the benefit of the tax buyer, until such a time as the money has actually been paid into the treasury.

Should Pay at Once. "While admitting that it takes some time between the selling of the property and the delivery of the sale certificates, yet I can see no reason why the tax buyer should not be required to pay the amount as advertised into the treasury as soon as he makes the purchase.

There is no obstacle to prevent the payment of the money, because the property is advertised for all delinquent taxes, plus interest and advertising charges and the amount is set forth in plain figures.

The contention has been made that the office was simply following precedent, but it does not follow because former sales have been faulty in this respect that such a condition should prevail indefinitely.

"For this reason supplementary report is attached and made part of the regular printed report for such action as you may deem advisable."

Governor Tells of Tax Situation

Hearers Impressed by Illustrations Showing Reductions Made by State.

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 18.—(Special Telegram)—Graphic illustration by charts of the operation of the civil administrative code and of the tax situation held the attention of large audiences addressed by Governor S. R. McKelvie today at Sutton, Edgar, Blue Hill and Hastings.

"It was not the code that increased taxes," the governor declared in his speech here tonight, "but it was the economy made possible by the code that brought about a reduction this year of one-third in state taxes."

An audience of 300 here heard the governor drive home the point that only one-fifth of the tax is state tax and that four-fifths are levied for expenditures at home.

At Sutton, the governor was met this morning by W. W. Yager, county chairman, Erick Johnson, candidate for re-election to the state senate, and S. V. Byrne, who accompanied him on his trip.

Delegations from Holdrege and Minden met the governor here tonight for conference.

"The people today in Webster and Clay counties," Mr. Yager said, "were very evidently deeply impressed by what the governor has to say about both the code and taxation. They have had a wrong impression about taxes, and the governor's speeches are putting them straight. They are remembering that it was the prevailing abnormal prices that made taxes higher and not the code and the administration."

Convicted Murderer Appeals to High Court

Lincoln, Oct. 18.—(Special)—The appeal of William Morris, McPherson county farmer, found guilty of wife murder and sentenced to prison for life, was submitted to the supreme court. His attorneys argued a number of technical errors that they say deprived him of a fair trial.

The information charged that following a long series of domestic quarrels, charges on his part of infidelity on her part, offer to trade wives with a neighbor, non-support and the like, Morris struck the woman's crime tied her body to a horse and, kneeling her senseless, choked her to death and then to cover up her body, was submitted to the supreme court. His attorneys argued a number of technical errors that they say deprived him of a fair trial.

When Charles H. Randall reached Johnson county Monday morning, he says, "his stock was at par. When he finished at Tecumseh Monday night his stock was way above par. A number of lifelong democrats were so favorably impressed by his clear and convincing discussion of state issues, that they expressed the intention of supporting him. Republican committee-men agree that the Tecumseh meeting was the most successful political rally ever held in Johnson county."

Senator Hoiland of North Platte, who was in Lincoln Tuesday, sized the situation up as follows: "Randall is growing by leaps and bounds. No man will ever dictate to him. And, out in our country, the people take no stock in rainmakers."

Blue River Power Company Asks to Sell $400,000 Stock

Lincoln, Oct. 18.—(Special)—The Blue River Power company of Seward has asked permission of the state railway commission to issue $400,000 of common stock. The company has a number of generating plants in and around Seward, and lists assets totaling nearly a million dollars, only a part of which is covered by stock.

A rich Chicagoan named Babson, who was raised in Seward, has been financing the company out of his own pocket as a sort of monument in his old home community, but it is now desired to have the stock more widely distributed as a matter of business policy.
