Seller of Water 'Rum' Taken Again

"Rick" Lindsey, Arrested Friday, One of First Dry Law Violators.

Rex or "Rick" Lindsey, arrested Friday by federal agents after they broke in the barricaded door he refused to open at his home at 4924 South Twenty fourth street, was one of the first "dry" law offenders in 1917, according to T. J. McGuire, assistant state attorney general.

bindsey gained notoriety then for selling a barrel of water for whisky for 1400. Inside the spout he had placed a small container of real whisky, which he permitted the purchaser to test by means of a straw, McGuire stated. The keg was delivered with areat secrecy, but when the purchaser tapped another hole in the ker he drew only acqua pura.

Lindsey was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses and paid

James Nickerson, chief clerk in U. 8 Robrer's office, was the one who potained the "lay" at Lindsey's dance hall and noft drink parlor. Lindsey was released Saturday on a $500 bond.

Girl Runs When Bandit Holds Her Up With Gun

An attempt to rob Miss Lorraine Hooker, 18, 4425 South Twenty-second street, at 11:15 Friday night was reported to police yesterday afternoon. Miss Hooker said a man tried but failed to grab her, then pointed a gun and told her she knew what would happen if she tried to run. She ran to her home and told her parents. The episode took place on J street, at the mouth of an alley between Twenty second and Twenty
