

Victim's Mother Assails Freeing of Gir ESlayer

"Slap at Justice," She Avers: Woman of Beauty May Kill as She Pleases and Escape."

Collingwood, N. J., Oct. 24.—The acquittal of Peggy Deal, charged with the killing of F. Warren Anderson, so called "perfect lover," was criticized here today by Mrs. Flora Anderson, mother of the dead man.

"I can't imagine what the people of Kansas City are thinking of," she said. "A verdict of acquittal flies in the face of justice. Her claims to freedom on the ground of emotional insanity is an appeal which does not take into account what she did. It was not necessary that the extreme penalty of the law be invoked. A second degree verdict would have served notice throughout the country that women cannot commit murder with impunity.

"I am sick of reading of the murders that are committed every day. A woman of charm and some beauty it would seem, may kill as she pleases and escape the law."

Slayer Is Freed.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24.—Marie L. "Peggy" Deal faced life with a second determination today.

She walked from the criminal court here last night following her acquittal on the charge of the murder of her lover, Frank Warren Anderson.

Leaving to her feet as the verdict was read Mrs. Deal thanked the jury and asserted "now I am going to stay right here in Kansas City and make good. I'm going to send for my little boys in Terre Haute and make a good home for them."

She gave no blood.

The ordeal was comparatively brief in court.

There were few witnesses and the testimony was speedily adduced. She took the witness stand.

The story of the shooting was drawn from her by the attorneys.

She again lived through the harrowing episode which terminated in her fatally shooting Anderson in a room which they occupied together in a local hotel, June 2.

He had assured her there, she asserted with a promise of marriage.

Answer in June.

She had been reading a passage in a romantic novel in which a woman killed her lover, she said.

She shot Anderson as he lay upon the bed and turned the revolver upon herself, sending a bullet into her breast.

"I met Anderson in a restaurant in Dayton, O.," she testified.

"He asked me to marry him before he left Dayton and I told him I would give him my answer in June."

Before she visited him in Kansas City.

They moved to the hotel where the tragedy occurred.

She asked him to marry her, she said.

Boasts of Conquests.

"I was nearly stunned when he told me his wife had tuberculosis and he could find no grounds for divorce," she said.

"I asked him what I was going to do," she told the court, "and he said, 'do as you please.'"

He told her, she asserted, that he had similarly broken the hearts of 50 other women.

She said that she could not recall shooting him, but remembered shooting herself in the breast.

Justice Day Resigns.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The resignation of William R. Day as associate justice of the supreme court was tendered to President Harding today and was accepted. It will be effective November 14.

Slayer of 'Perfect Lover' of Fifty Loves Is Freed

Peggy Marie Deal.

Peggy Marie Deal, nurse, divorcee, Springfield, Ill., and Dayton, O., shot and killed F. W. Anderson in a Kansas City hotel and then attempted suicide. She declared he was to have married her, but she found he had not been divorced. Anderson was a major in the air service during the war and met Mrs. Deal, then an army nurse, in Dayton. She called him the "perfect lover," but said he had boasted to her that 50 women loved him. Anderson was a native of Collingwood, N. J.

Pow-Wow Called on Indian Claim for Black Hills

Chiefs of Various Bands of Dakota Redmen Meet With Federal Government Officials.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 24.—Chiefs of the various bands of Dakota (Sioux) Indians, reservation superintendents, Indian and white officials of the church and representatives of the federal government met in Pierre today at the request of Charles H. Burke, United States commissioner of Indian affairs. The conference is to take up questions relating to the welfare of the Indians and adjustment of their claims.

Among the more important subjects to be discussed is the claim of the Indians for return to them of the whole area of the Black Hills. The redmen contend that the chiefs of the tribes concerned ceded the Black Hills to the United States without the consent of the required number of male members of the tribes. Under the tribal law, cession or sale of land called for a ballot in which three-fourths of the adult males must signify their will to have any change made.

The Pahs Pahs (Black Hills) were long held sacred by the Indians and a number of the older members of the Dakota nation still cling to the old ways and beliefs.

DON'T WEAR OUT FINE FABRICS IN THE WASH

Dainty georgette garments, chiffon waists, fine gossamer lace and other dainty articles of wear are rarely worn out on the person. They are too often worn out in the wash, attacked and discolored by the harsh ingredients of soaps. Linn, the soap powder with the lemon fragrance, is famed for its treatment of dainty wash garments. Linn contains no lye, caustic or grit. It cannot harm. Linn dissolves dirt, softening the delicate strands of the fabric itself no more than if you used pure water alone. Linn is comforting to the hands—and its pleasing fragrance banishes soapy odors forever. Your grocer has Linn. Buy one package—then be the judge.

Deflation Blame Is Trivial Says McAdoo

As an opener for his regular speech William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under the Wilson administration, attempted to refute the accusation made a few nights ago in the Municipal auditorium by Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois that Mr. McAdoo practically ruined the railroads during 1918 when they were under government control. The former secretary resorted to strong expletives in calling the assertions of the Illinois senator false.

On the subject of deflation, Mr. McAdoo first declared that it did not matter who was responsible for the present deflation in credit, whether democrats or republicans, and then proceeded to make statements which were supposed to prove that the republican party was not only responsible for this condition but that it openly advocated deflation measures in its national campaign platform.

Speaking of the tariff, Mr. McAdoo said the bankers and large manufacturers influenced congress in the passage of the bill to bring back to their coffers the money he alleged they spent for the republican campaign.

Court Wants Judge to Turn Over Creamery Firm Books

An alternative writ of mandamus from the circuit court of appeals was served on Federal Judge Woodrough yesterday, asking him to appear in St. Paul, October 30, to inform the court why he will not turn over books and records of the Waterloo Creamery company to Guy Brewer, Council Bluffs, receiver in bankruptcy.

The judge said he refused to turn them over for two reasons: First, because the records and affairs of the company are in charge of Herbert S. Daniel, whom Woodrough appointed receiver, prior to the Iowa action; and second, because the books and records are now in the hands of the federal grand jury.

Co-Operative Marketing Bodies to Hold Convention

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—A national convention of representatives of co-operative marketing organizations of the United States, to be held at Washington, was definitely decided upon at the initial meeting here of the inter-co-operative conference committee, composed of leaders from such marketing organizations in the United States and Canada. The date for the convention was left for determination Tuesday.

Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville publisher, was made chairman of the committee and Charles M. Morgan of Dallas, Tex., representative of the American Cotton Growers' exchange, secretary.

Parents' Problems

How can children best be taught good manners?

Make good manners a requisite for coming to the table with grownups. Even the little child 2 years old prizes this privilege. Tell the children that only persons with good manners are pleasant at table. When old enough to go out with father or mother, again make good manners the requirement. As for the manners themselves, teach a few points of etiquette, explaining that consideration for others is the basis of good manners.

Can you build a brick house without bricks?

If a man told you he was going to build a brick house without using any bricks, you'd think something was wrong with him, wouldn't you?

Well, then, what about the man or woman who plans to build a sturdy human body but neglects to eat the kind of food that builds that kind of body?

Many "refined" and denatured foods are lacking in the mineral elements which the body requires—especially for bones, nerves and teeth.

You do get the right mineral elements in Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley.

Every bit of the nutrition which Nature puts into the grains is retained in making Grape-Nuts. Lime phosphates, iron, magnesium, potassium—are all there. And then, too, there's that wonderful flavor and crispness that makes eating a joy.

Try Grape-Nuts with cream or milk for breakfast or lunch tomorrow, and see if you haven't been missing an unusually delicious and sustaining food. Sold wherever good food is sold or served.
