

Welshman Scores Big Triumph in Glasgow Speech

Lloyd George Characterizes Policy of Bonar Law as "Program of Folded Arms and Drowsy Eyes."

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Former Premier Lloyd George scored another triumph at Glasgow, where he addressed an enthusiastic crowd of over 5,000.

As was expected, he seized Mr. Bonar Law's confession that he did not know where he was saying "strange things are done by people who don't know where they are."

The greater part of Mr. Lloyd George's speech was devoted to showing up the negative quality of Mr. Bonar Law's program, which he called a program of folded arms and drowsy eyes.

Attacks Abolition of Penitentiaries. Two great conservative leaders were driven out in order to lead Sir Maurice Hanley, cabinet secretary, in the van and move him across the street," he said.

The abolition of ministry pensions, he said, would cause a great hardship to the widows and cause waste in the end because economy was impossible without supervision.

By far the greatest part of his speech was devoted to the future. Europe was in rags, he said, and it would be many a long year before the former prosperity was restored.

From Glasgow Mr. Lloyd George went to Edinburgh, where he spoke again in the evening, then going to Lord Balfour's home in Whitehall, where he made a great speech in support of Mr. Lloyd George and denouncing the breaking of the coalition.

Already informal agreements have been reached by which prominent members of either side are allowed to re-join without a fight and this may be extended.

At the same time Mr. Lloyd George is going ahead with the formation of a permanent party. It was announced that A. W. Cooke has returned from the civil service to take management of Mr. Lloyd George's organization.

Mr. Cooke is one of the ablest of civil servants in Great Britain. He formerly was in the customs, later in the treasury, and later in the admiralty.

Artists' Model Fights Wealthy Husband's Suit

Miss Madeline C. Pollock

New York, Oct. 28.—Madeline Gilchrist, 29, blue-eyed and beautiful, upon whose pretty features James Montgomery Plagge, Howard Chandler Christy and other famous painters have painted, is fighting a suit for divorce filed by her husband, Leonard W. Pollock.

Her charges she was only 17 years old when she was married. "He knew that at the time," she counters, in her demand for $100 a week as alimony. Madeline is 29 years old now, she says, and refuses to be relegated back into non-juvenile life after having lived for two years in the world as a free woman.

My Marriage Problems. The Problem of the Fog Created and Then Solved. I stayed in my own room all day, wondering over the things Dr. Pettit had hinted, although I despised my self for the petty suspicions I could not control.

My Mother-in-Law. I obeyed her, and found that she had spoken the truth when I left the warm house and took Dicky's car from the big barn. To my relief, the garage man had found it slightly damaged by my wild ride from the hospital, and the arrangement of its curtains made a much better screen for the tonneau than I was able to effect upon my own car.

What Madge Feared. I obeyed her, and found that she had spoken the truth when I left the warm house and took Dicky's car from the big barn.
