

Thanksgiving Day Real for America, Says President

Harding Designates November 30 as Day for Thanksgiv-ing for Bounties Given U. S.

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Harding, in the annual Thanksgiving proclamation issued today, calls upon the American people to observe Thursday, November 30, "as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion."

The text of the proclamation follows: "In the beginning of our country the custom was established by the devout fathers of observing annually a day of thanksgiving for the bounties and protection which Divine Providence had extended throughout the year. It has come to be perhaps the most characteristic of our national observances and as the season approaches for its annual recurrence, it is fitting formally to direct attention to this ancient institution of our people and to call upon them again to unite in its appropriate celebration."

Complexity of Trials. "The year which now approaches its end has been marked in the existence of our nation by a complexity of trials and tribulations, of difficulties and of achievements, which we must regard as our inevitable portion in such an epoch as that through all mankind is moving. As we survey the experience of the passing 12-months we still find that our state presents very much to justify a nationwide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us. Though we have lived in the shadow of the hard obscurities of great conflict, our country has been at peace and has been able to contribute toward the maintenance and perpetuation of peace in the world. We have seen the race of mankind make gratifying progress on the way to permanent peace, toward order and restored confidence in its high destiny."

"How Great Is Our Debt." "For the divine guidance which has enabled us in our growing fraternity with other peoples, to attain so much of progress; for the bounteous yield which has come to us from the resources of our soil and our industry; we owe our tribute of gratitude and with it our acknowledgement of the duty and obligation to our own people and to the unfortunate, the distracted of other lands. Let us in all humbly acknowledge how great is our debt to the Providence which has generously dealt with us and give devoted assurance of unselfish purpose to play a helpful and ennobling part in human advancement. It is much to be desired that in rendering homage for the blessings which have come to us we should earnestly testify our continued and increasing aim to make our own great fortune a means of helping and serving, as best we can, the cause of all humanity."

Day of Thanksgiving. "Now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States of America, do designate Thursday, the 30th of November, as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion. I recommend that the people gather at their family altars and in their houses of worship to render thanks to God for the bounties they have enjoyed and to petition that those may be continued in the year before us."

$25-a-Week Bartender in Omaha Gives $20 Tips

"Spending Is My Business." Says "Woman-Hater" Who Likes to See Girls Smile.

Here is Joe Sutton, who tends bar at the Acton temperance saloon. For this he is paid $25 a week. But he tips waiters and waitresses from $3 to $20 a meal. "Spending is my business," he said. And further than that he declined to talk. Patrons and employees of a moderate priced cafe on lower Douglas street are puzzled over him. Thursday he ate a $25 meal there. When he rose to go, he called the waitress and gave her a $3 tip. "I've lived in Omaha 14 years," he said when pressed for information. "I'd rather give a waitress a $10 note than do a dress suit and take down Farnam street with the queen of England. I like to see them smile."

$200 in Two Weeks. The waitresses who serve him are all smiles. He has given away $200 altogether at the cafe in the last two weeks, employees estimate. But he says he gives away that much in a night, sometimes. Sutton said his first job was as a section hand. He earned $1.10 a day. Then he worked in aivery stable. Later he became a cook. Twenty years ago, he said, he homesteaded 649 acres near Valentine. Five years later, he stated, he sold the farm. It netted him $4,000 at $100 an acre. That's how he got the money he's spending in Omaha. He keeps his money in a Valentine bank. "I don't know how much," he said. "I haven't counted it. I try to spend the interest. I'm saving the principal for when I'm old. But when I die, I don't expect to have a dime."

"There's no pleasure in hoarding money," he claims. "But there is in passing it out to working girls—and seeing them smile. And he claims to be a woman hater. "I'll never marry," he averred.

An officer declared he saw the five men with their hands aloft and Stock running through their pockets. Deputies sprang through the window. $1,747,000 In Road Bonds Sold to W. O. W.

W. A. Fraser, sovereign commander, Woodmen of the World, received a telegram from Pulaski county, Arkansas, announcing acceptance of the organization's bid for $1,747,000.00 of road district bonds. This is the largest single issue of bonds purchased by the Woodmen of the World, although total purchases annually now exceed $1,000,000. Municipal bonds are favored by the Woodmen of the World for investment purchases because they are non-speculative, and their present holdings amounting to $15,000,000, without the loss of a single dollar to the organization, is pointed to as indicating the safety of the investments.

Sultan of Turkey Deposed. Angora, Nov. 3.—(By A. P.)—The Turkish nationalist government at Angora has announced that it considers all valid treaties and conventions concluded since March 18, 1920, by the Constantinople administration. Such action by the national assembly would mean, of course, that the sultan is deposed. In the future, according to the dispatches, the only sultan in Turkey will be periodically elected without government participation, all power being in the hands of the national assembly.

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange

A shipment of 60 head of choice Durco hogs, averaging 135 pounds, said to be one of the best consignments of porkers brought to the Omaha market for some time, were sold by H. P. Eichmeier of Swedeberg. He received the top price of the day, $8.15 a hundred.

Best Turner of Casper, Wyo., was on the Omaha market with a string of feeding lambs that he sold for $12.25 a hundred. The sheep were raised in Natrona county and netted a good profit, according to Mr. Turner. He said that sheep were pretty well cleaned out in his section for the season and that there were a number of large shipments of cattle ready to come which had been delayed by the car shortage.

H. Pearce, manager of the Freedland Livestock company of Casper, Wyo., was on the Omaha market with a big string of feeder lambs that sold for $12.25 a hundred. He also had a few ewes that sold for $6.85 a hundred and some yearling weathers that brought $11 a hundred. "On account of present and prospective good prices on mutton and wool, we sheep men feel pretty good," said Mr. Pearce, "but we have a little kick coming on the shortage of sheep, which has been caused by hard winters and hard times."

North Park, Colo., was represented on the Omaha cattle market by Andrew Peterson of Hebron, Colo., who brought in two loads of heavy steers that averaged 1,200 pounds and sold at $1.69 a hundred as feeders. "The North Park country experienced a very dry fall," said Mr. Peterson, "and I am hopeful that the recent rains that have fallen here will also come to our section. I will bring one more shipment of cattle this season."

Contractor Has Gained 30 lbs. On Tanlac

"Tanlac fixed me up so I gained thirty pounds. I have never seen or heard of such a wonderful medicine in all the sixty six years of my life," declared William Magee, well-known retired contractor, 2849 Lafayette Ave., St. Louis, Mo. "About two years ago I had a severe bladder trouble that left me in an awful run-down condition. My appetite went back on me and my stomach got so weak I could not eat and digest enough to give me any strength. I also had the worst sort of pains across the small of my back and could not sleep. "I began picking up soon after I started taking Tanlac, and now I have a fine appetite, sleep like a log and that tired, worn out feeling has all left me. I could not do otherwise than recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.
