

My Marriage Problems

Adelle Garrison's New Phase of
"Revelations of a Wife"
(Copyright 1922)

What Midge Did to Save Dicky in His Mother's Eyes.

For a long time after my mother-in-law's blunt query I sat staring at the expensive photograph of Claire Foster with the blurring inscription to Dicky scribbled across its face. In my ears was echoing her question with emphasis. What, indeed, was this picture doing in my husband's room?

The thing was a startling confirmation of Dr. Pettit's hints, and of my own unspoken concern. Dicky's silence. Was it possible—I shook the thought from me hastily, and my memory galloped back over our brief acquaintance with the beautiful western girl whose face looked out innocently at me.

We had met her with Dr. Pettit, whose devotion to her was patent, and who had later told us of his engagement to her. Dicky and I both had wondered—not at the physician's choice, because he had abundant cause for his infatuation, but at hers—and I had not been astonished when I had heard of their engagement.

Midge Is Diplomatic. But I never had thought that Dicky was especially interested in her or attracted by her. He had noted her undeniable resemblance to Grace Draper—although the dashing western girl would never possess the faultless beauty which was Grace Draper's fortune—and after Miss Draper's escape from the consequences of her kidnapping of Junior, Miss Foster had posed for the unfinished illustrations which the other girls' departure left.

But I had heard my husband make several unfavorable comments concerning her extreme modern ideas, and her militant feminism. These are two things which inconsistent Dicky—himself a devotee of every fad which comes along—abhors in a woman. And though I had known that Miss Foster was much impressed by Dicky's good looks and fascinating manner—I never have seen the woman who did not sit up and take notice when he entered a room—I had never entertained the slightest notion that she ever gave him a really serious thought.

My mother-in-law brought me back to the present with a jerk.

"Well," she demanded, "What have you got to say?"

Her tone placed the blame for the possession of the picture on my shoulders, as if I had put it in Dicky's room myself. I knew what I had to do, and that quickly.

No matter what my own thoughts, no matter what my mother-in-law said, I must betray no suspicion of my husband. In her present anger against him she would, no doubt, agree to anything I said, but—she was his mother. She would remember the things I might say long after she had forgotten that her son had given any cause for the utterance.

An Infuriating Taunt. So I compelled the whirlpool of my thoughts to calm, and answered my mother-in-law's question with a nonchalance which, though forced, I flatter myself sounded genuine.

"Why, mother, I don't think this needs any comment do you? If you rummaged through Dicky's things you'd probably find dozens of signed photographs from girls. I don't think this means anything at all, except that Miss Foster gave Dicky her photograph as a pleasant memento of her posing for him."

"Look at that inscription!" My mother-in-law pointed to the words: "You're the last apple falls, Claire."

I laughed with really creditable gayety.

"Oh, mother dear, it's evident you don't know the modern girl. That inscription means a great deal less than 'cordially yours' would have meant in your day or mine."

My mother-in-law folded her arms grimly and gave me a long, steady stare.

"You're either a bigger fool or a lot deeper than I have thought you, Margaret," she said, "or, worse, I have nothing more to say, except this: don't let me catch you taking this for an excuse to hand that young jack-rabbit of a Tom Chester any signed photographs."

She swept out of the room, leaving me so angry at the infuriating little twist she had given the incident that for a solitary five minutes I did not bring myself back to the realization of what this evidence of Dicky's dalliance meant to me.

COLDS GRIP

Fortify the system against Colds, Grip and Influenza by taking

Bromo Quinine

tablets

which destroy germs, act as a tonic, laxative, and keep the system in condition to throw off attacks of Colds, Grip and Influenza.

Be sure you get

BROMO

The genuine bears this signature

E. H. Brown

Price 30c

BRINGING UP FATHER---

Valley County Clubs End Successful Year's Work

Ord—The close of October marked the close of a year's club work among the boys and girls of Valley county. The club work was started a year ago by County Agent C. C. Dale and an achievement meeting was held here. Trophies won by the boys and girls of Valley county at the Nebraska state fair were on exhibition. County Agent Dale told briefly of the work of the club during the past year and outlined the work of the club for the coming year.

Ord, Herbert L. Cushing of the Ord public schools delivered an address and awarded the trophies that have been issued to the various clubs. The work for 1922-23 calls for an even more comprehensive program than the one just completed and the showing made at the state fair by the club boys and girls has encouraged them to attempt even greater things next year. Plans are already under way looking toward the taking of a trainload of pure bred livestock to the Nebraska fair in 1923.

17-Acre Apple Orchard Returns Owner Good Profit

Fairbury—W. H. Kozel, residing south of Fairbury across the line in Kansas, started a 17-acre apple orchard 21 years ago with a view of testing out the possibilities of growing fruit successfully. This year he sold 2,500 bushels of choice apples. He irrigates from two wells dug down 45 feet and pumps the water with gas engines. Mr. Kozel pumped 2,500 gallons of water per hour for 60 days continuously without perceptibly lessening the water supply. He has now quit the farm and lives in Morrowville, Kan., and will give more of his time to the apple business, having planted seven acres more.

Nuckolls County Breeders Hold Second Fall Sale

Nelson—The Nuckolls County Livestock Breeders' association held its second sale here. Seventy head of spring heifers and girls and pigs were sold, representing five of the leading breeds of swine. The sale aggregated $2,023. These pigs were bought by Nuckolls county farmers.

Grand Island Plans Bonds for $300,000 High School

Grand Island—According to the completed plans of the school district committee on buildings the district tax levied will be presented for a proposition in the near future to vote $300,000 in bonds for a junior high school.

Farm Agents' Notes

CLAY COUNTY.

Clay Center—The test plot of corn where double ended, early seed corn was planted in comparison to double ended, early seed corn, was harvested last week. Both showed from 25 to 30 per cent more corn of better quality for grain than the other. The double ended corn was planted in the Anderson field, and the early seed corn was planted in the 125 bushels to the acre for the double ended and 154 bushels per acre for the early seed corn. There are three more of these plots that have not been harvested.

Miss Mary Ellen Brown, who writes the items in Clay county, for the sewing club, and arranged the recipe for the school lunch, explained the new plan for the school lunch, and the school lunch club to county teachers last week.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

Washburn—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Washington county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

The three construction school conducted at the Washington county courthouse last week under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Long, an extension worker from the state agricultural college, was a decided success. The school was held in the evening and the school was held in the evening.

Three years ago the Washington county school was held in the evening and the school was held in the evening. The school was held in the evening and the school was held in the evening.

ELLIS COUNTY.

Ellis County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Ellis county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

DAWSON COUNTY.

Dawson County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Dawson county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

SAUNDERS COUNTY.

Saunders County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Saunders county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

YORK COUNTY.

York County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in York county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

Winners Are Announced in Knox County Pig Clubs

Elmfield—James Brzozsky of Elmfield was the big winner in the Knox County Boys and Girls' Pig Club, according to John Kautner, who has charge of the club activities in this county. In the contest, each boy or girl was to feed a pig for 122 days and keep careful record of the gain and the cost of such gain. Brzozsky's pig gained 114 pounds per day at a cost of 5.6 cents per pound. The net gain on the pig figured at $143.31 and the boy turned down an offer of $100 for the animal. The pigs were fed corn, oats, milk, shorts and tankage.

Mourners Dig Irish Grave.

Belfast, Nov. 5.—Grave diggers at Milltown cemetery went on strike, but when a funeral party arrived the mourners left their hanks and dug the grave.

Farmers' Union Notes

Atlinson—A special hallows' eve meeting of the Farmers' Union of Atlinson was held in the hall of the Farmers' Union building. A literary program was put on by the young people, speeches were made by state leaders of the Farmers' Union, and a large number of farmers attended the meeting. The meeting was held in the hall of the Farmers' Union building.

Hoover Makes Profit.

Vernon—A profit of $100 was made by the Farmers' Union of Vernon in the sale of the stock of the Farmers' Union building.

Hold County Convention.

Hold County—The Farmers' Union of Hold county held a convention in the hall of the Farmers' Union building. The convention was held in the hall of the Farmers' Union building.

Cabbage Profit Small.

Kimball—Robert Girard of this community conveyed to the farmers' union a very small part of the price that city consumers pay for food. He recently shipped a carload of cabbage to Omaha, which sold for $13 a ton, or a total of $2,000 for the shipment. The cabbage was sold for $13 a ton, or a total of $2,000 for the shipment.

Madison County.

Madison County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Madison county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

Midland College.

Midland College—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Midland county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

York College.

York College—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in York county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

Castoria.

Castoria—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Castoria county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

Skin Troubles.

Skin Troubles—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Skin Troubles county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

Questions concerning hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, submitted to Dr. Evans by readers of The Bee, will be answered personally, subject to proper limitation, where a stamped addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis nor prescribe for individual diseases. Address letters in care of The Bee.

DENGUE EPIDEMIC.

A recent bulletin of the Louisiana health department states that 783 cases of dengue were reported in that state during the past season. A telegram to the U. S. Public Health Service, from Macon, Ga., reported several hundred cases of the disease in that city on September 25. The multitude of reports from many sources indicate that dengue is far more prevalent in the United States than it has ever been before, and that it has reached territory a long way north of any territory previously invaded.

Letters inquiring as to the safety of a trip south are beginning to come in. While the winter vacation season is some distance in the future, we are right in the midst of the winter planning season.

Dengue is a disease which apparently has its natural home in Central America. It is occasionally brought to the United States by shipping, but it now has never secured very much of a foothold. It is rarely fatal, if ever. It is quite possible that the few people who have been reported as dying from dengue, died from some other disease and either did not have dengue or dengue was added to some other malady, the latter being the cause of death.

It is generally agreed now that it is a mosquito borne disease. There is not the same degree of agreement as to the mosquito, which is responsible, and it is reasonably certain that the offender for offenders is closely related to the yellow fever mosquito. The Louisiana bulletin says "The insect breeds by preference in cans, bottles, jars, tubs and cisterns in back yards and is often to be found in the pitcher of the sleeping room. Destroy mosquitoes by destroying breeding places and by screening ceilings. Special attention should be given to the pitcher of the sleeping room, water barrels, tin cans, bottles, urns, vases and similar gutters."

The methods which conquered yellow fever should be used against dengue.

The mosquito is apt to be found breeding inside the house. She is averse to leaving the house, and she travels long distances. All that is known about the disease indicates that it will not endanger winter visitors. The mosquito breeds in the house, and the winter tourist season begins. Even though the days be warm enough for mosquitoes, the nights are too cool for them to breed. The mosquito breeds in the house, and the winter tourist season begins.

If mosquito breeding is found to continue there, screens are protective enough, especially when the mosquito is at a great disadvantage.

I have never known of dengue persisting in midwinter anywhere in the States.

"Orange Rheumatism."

G. W. G. writes: "During the past half century or more of work in our profession, I have learned that no reliable applies to every case in the cause of any of my disease."

"Sugar produces rheumatism in me. The daily use of oranges will stiffen my fingers in a week or 10 days. Under a plain, simple diet, I am pretty free from the disease from one year's end to another."

Aside from the theory of the advent of rheumatism by the tonsil, I cannot find myself of the idea that it often arises from errors in diet, but do not feel competent to be very dogmatic as to the particular substances that induce it.

"The problem is for the hospital and laboratory to solve. Do the medical schools pay sufficient attention to the matter of diet in their teachings? I doubt it."

"A word in relation to the temporary relief of itching from any cause. Having had a personal experience with eczema, herpes, winter itch, itchy poisoning and 'sweaters,' I have found some relief from the itching in bathing on hot water, as hot as it can be borne, than anything else. Two or three minutes' application of this sim-

Dog Hill Paragrafts

By George Bingham

Cricket Hicks found two prohibition agents today by going out behind a tree and drinking a bottle of soda.

Cass County.

Cass County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in Cass county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

York County.

York County—The school situation continues to occupy the center of attention in York county. Help is required by Carl A. Olson, county agent, as during the winter season and farmers are anxious to themselves of the fine weather. The farm bureau office has sent out all over the state in the hope of securing workers to this school work. The school work has been placed in the hands of the county agent, and the school work is being carried on by the county agent.

THE OMAHA BEE: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1922.

Safe Cracker, 36, Declares He Will Crack Some More

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 5.—"I'm 36, but I'm not through opening safes yet."

Such is the proud boast of Harry Morton, alias Muldoon, aged crook, now in jail here.

Old man Morton admits he is the "oldest and best" safe cracker in the country.

It is a rather ironical fact that the man who is confident he can "crack" any safe in the country is doing time for forging several small checks.

"A man should stick to his own stuff," Morton said. "Why should an expert safe man like me monkey around with checks?"

Morton has done four "stretches" in penitentiaries. The first conviction came in 1876. About two months ago the aged criminal was released from his fourth prison term at the Leavenworth (Kan.) federal prison.

Parents' Problems

How can a child be broken of the habit of sucking his thumb? The best way is not to allow him to begin. If the child persists in sucking his thumb after having it repeatedly taken out of his mouth, a good way is to put a rubber mitten on his hands, both day and night, until he is broken of the habit.

Common Sense

Copyright, 1922. Are You Slighting the Little Opportunities? You have been letting a lot of little things slip which might have benefited you greatly, waiting for the big opportunity.

The man who saves you a chance to benefit by a small opportunity which you failed to grasp is not going to be a booster for you on a larger field of opportunity.

You may never get the opportunity you desire. Better take the little ones as fast as they come and make them stepping stones to larger ones.

Most little chances lead to something a little better.

You are getting yourself in line for bigger things every time you grasp something better than you have.

You are bound to learn a lot yourself through the little job, especially if it is a step higher.

It is learning the foundations better than anyone else that makes the big man's position unassailable.

You cannot learn too much, so get it step by step rather than to jump into a place too big for you and end in ignominious failure.

Uncle Sam Says

Uncle Sam's Guides to Health. Experience has truly demonstrated that the prevention of disease is far easier and much more effective than is the cure once the disease becomes established, says the United States Public Health Service. In view of that fact, they have issued this leaflet which contains a list of the government's most popular health booklets available for free distribution. The booklets listed all relate to health and preventive medicine and are written in simple, non-technical language.

Readers of The Bee may obtain a copy of this leaflet free as long as the free edition lasts, by writing to the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., asking for "Miscellaneous Publication No. 20."

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

This is the MAN you nominated—now help to elect him.

Henry M. Eaton, AR.

Candidate for COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS OF DOUGLAS COUNTY. Qualified in every way. Twenty years administrative and teaching experience in rural, graded, high and college schools in Nebraska. Your vote solicited. Non-political belief.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children IN USE FOR OVER 30 YEARS Always bears the Signature of Dr. H. H. H. H.

Skin Troubles

Soothed With Cuticura

Drawn for The Omaha Bee by McManus

(Copyright 1922)

Mosque Going Up in Paris.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Paris will soon have its first mosque. The ground was broken last March.

It will be essentially Arab, a place for prayers and meditation and from the tall minaret the muezzin will call the faithful together at regular intervals of the day. The surrounding gardens with fountains and basins, the different rooms with frescoes, carpets and mosaics will be carried out in the same style by decorators from Fez, Mekees and Marrakech.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Vote for Dr. C. B. Foltz for Member of School Board

This is an important office, but pays no salary. I am interested because I have four children in school.

DRESSES New Arrivals

MODERATE PRICES

Julius Orkin

1512-Douglas St.

Make Your Dishes Sparkle

And Keep Your Hands Beautiful

with LINN

—The Soap Powder with the Lemon Fragrance

YOU can escape the usual tell-tale effects of dishwashing—the tell-tale effects of harsh, biting soaps and hot, scalding water by using LINN.

LINN actually makes dishwashing a pleasure. LINN softens hard water—dissolves all grease—makes scalding water unnecessary. A rinsing in LINN wash-water and your dishes are clean with a sparkle and shine. LINN has a place in your home for every cleaning purpose. Try it. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

At Your Grocers'

Mfd by LINN PRODUCTS CO., Chicago, Ill.

Buy One Package—Then Be the Judge

Two Sizes 10c and 25c

Buy the 25c size for economy

Buy One Package—Then Be the Judge

Uncle Sam Says

Uncle Sam's Guides to Health.

Experience has truly demonstrated that the prevention of disease is far easier and much more effective than is the cure once the disease becomes established, says the United States Public Health Service. In view of that fact, they have issued this leaflet which contains a list of the government's most popular health booklets available for free distribution. The booklets listed all relate to health and preventive medicine and are written in simple, non-technical language.

Readers of The Bee may obtain a copy of this leaflet free as long as the free edition lasts, by writing to the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., asking for "Miscellaneous Publication No. 20."

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.