

Prison Convict Heir to Fortune of $12,000,000

Vermont Penitentiary Inmate Learns of Big Estate Left by Relative—Term Up in Spring.

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 7.—Richard Demange, convict, residing in cell No. 124, at the Vermont state prison, is an heir to a fortune of $12,000,000, it was learned today.

The gray-faced, callous handed convict, who is wealthy enough to buy the jail and turn it into a magnificent mansion, will probably be released early next spring, providing he behaves himself and has good luck. He is serving a sentence of from two to three years.

Richard Demange has been a laborer all his life, but recently learned that he is one of the three equal heirs of the deceased Nicholas Demange, whose fortune, now amounting to $12,000,000, is deposited in the Bank of France at Paris. He is now counting the days when he can leave the prison and assist his relatives in the establishing of his identity and the identity of the long dead Nicholas.

The only weak link in the evidence supporting the Demange claims of relationship is the absence of birth records tracing the relation ship of the living Demanges to their grandfather, Nicholas Demange. These papers were mislaid years ago.

Girls Steal Dogs, Then Get Rewards

Fashionably Dressed Young Women Spirit Pets Away From Homes.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7.—Traffic in valuable dogs, stolen for the reward eventually paid for their return, is being investigated by the Los Angeles police following reports of the operations throughout the city of fashionably dressed women engaged in the new and highly remunerative crime.

The alleged method of the young women is to drive through fashionable and exclusive residential districts where valuable dogs are known to be becoming friendly with the animals, spritzing them away and returning them later in answer to advertisements offering rewards.

When rewards are not advertised it is said the women spirit the dogs to confederates in other cities, who dispose of them to new owners.

RASH ON BABY'S FACE AND EARS

Cried Night and Day. Face Awful. Cuticura Heals.

"When my baby was three months old a rash broke out on her face and back of her ears. It was watery and wherever the water touched our eruptions broke out. She would cry to scratch and cry night and day. Her face looked awful.

I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample which helped her so I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Ointment she was healed. In three weeks. Signed Mrs. A. J. Coppenhaver, Leavenworth, Wis.

THE SILENT DRAMA

DORIS KENYON in "Sure Fire Flint"

Doris Kenyon, who appears as the lead opposite Johnny Hines in "Sure Fire Flint," at the Riado next week, began her professional career with a singing part in Princess Pat. Her stage presence in this production attracted the attention of Al Woods who cast her for an important speaking part in "The Girl in the Limousine." Her success in this venture brought her to the attention of George Arliss, who engaged her to play a prominent role with him in "The Ruling Passion," following which she ascended the ladder of fame by starring in the legitimate play "Up the Ladder." She appeared in this production for a full year on Broadway and then gained the plaudits of New York's theatrical world, following which she was engaged by C. C. Burr to accept the leading female role in "Sure Fire Flint."

On a certain day when there were probably 10,000 similar gazing centers, a certain moving picture comedian, Ed Fastaffian, gets and vast popularity entertained in his hotel rooms at San Francisco a number of men and women; one of the women fell ill and died a few days later and another woman told a story so garbled at the start that the nation shuddered with the pain and the ugliness of it. The story was soon translated in almost every particular by the prime witness and by all the other confused and confusing witnesses. But the tide of national wrath could not be recalled.

An ambitious district attorney re-tried that the comedian should be tried for murder in the first degree. Two juries and a judge declared the comedian far wiser than the nation and the editorial columns, the legislative halls and forums and the very street corners, roared with a demand for the comedian's destruction.

All this was pitiful, hateful, lamentable—everything bewildering and depressing—but it was also very comical in human history. The same avalanches had been started by a whisper and had engulfed whole races, religions, political parties, religious families, churches, judges and charities—what not?—just as now the entire motion picture world was smothered in a welter of abuse and condemnation.

With all the logic of a mob reveling in a chance to realize its mob lust, it was assumed or pretended that there was something specifically in the moving pictures in the affair at San Francisco.

Drunkards, bootleggers, and respectable millions who snuggled liquor into their homes, the same scruple expressed horror at a motion picture actor for having liquor in his possession.

The cry for censorship arose with renewed fury, and there was no stopping the superstition that all human wickedness was somehow due to this new devil.

By a coincidence, while this one motion picture alone was drawing all the lightnings of the sky upon all the motion picture people, the churches were contributing to the criminal courts an extraordinary number of cases. A Protestant minister in Alabama was on trial for having a Catholic priest at death; another preacher was being found guilty of drowning his wife in a lake; another of flogging his own child to death for unsatisfactory prayers; white-robed faith healer was indicted for manslaughter on account of a pious laying on of hands so violent that it killed a man; a few more agony of broken bones; the next most atrocious murder case of the day was charged against a man whose father was a minister and whose wife was the daughter of a bishop.

Yet nobody dreamed of assailing religion as an incentive to murder; no one warned the young to avoid churches or suggested a censorship of sermons.

Jack Demange, the champion now heading the seven act vaudeville bill at the World, dislikes to talk about himself, but his achievements in the secured circle Miss Light of the Early and Light Trio rank in for much praise this week. She is a natural comedienne who is not ashamed of her weight. The seven act comedy team of the week is especially well written numbers. There will be a new show tonight.

Such in the line is conveyed by Harry Brown and Madeline Burt's. Just how much fun can be obtained from a toy ballroom will be shown by Humbert's team. Jane Garnett, "The Girl from Kansas" offers selected especially written numbers. There will be a new show tonight.

"Chicken a la King," interpreted by Teresa Adams and the "Big Jamboe" chorus is an outstanding feature in the entertainment at the Casino theater for the period of two daily performances this week. Musical numbers are Gladys Adams, with Mlle. Laletto, Gladys Stock, the vocalists, and the vocalists and instrumental ensembles with the chorus singing and dancing behind them.

SOULS for SALE

By RUPERT HUGHES.

Yet she could never rise up her career and go back to the grave of Calverly. It was too wonderful to play a scene on the set, to reveal in a moment of dramatic power, throw out a tragic gesture, look a mate appeal, then, next day, to sit in the black projection room and praise her graces.

This precious harvest of her life was too dear to relinquish. She had just dropped her sickle into the edge of the golden wheat and she must not go on.

Once the evening of the arrival of Doctor Steddon's letter two letters dropped in—Claymore and Holly. The subject of all moving picture talk was still the chronic case. A cause celebre that monopolized the headlines of the newspapers for weeks, especially in Los Angeles, where two hostile camps were formed and the enemies of the free film took new heart and determined to chain and tame the beast once for all.

Was it into the world because it must needs be that offenses come, but we unto him by whom the offense cometh?

Since a man had culminated the ground there had been hilarious groups and drinking bouts of more or less savagery. They had been called "socials," "banquets," "dinner parties," "delicacies," according to a poet of a preacher described them.

After the prohibition law became law in the United States the enormous amount of liquor still consumed in the appalling tidal waves of crime, had been matter for jokes or sermons or hot debates, the same arguments proving opposite contentions for both sides.

On a certain day when there were probably 10,000 similar gazing centers, a certain moving picture comedian, Ed Fastaffian, gets and vast popularity entertained in his hotel rooms at San Francisco a number of men and women; one of the women fell ill and died a few days later and another woman told a story so garbled at the start that the nation shuddered with the pain and the ugliness of it. Ailing Children Get Well on Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning.

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human illness has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they will control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 10, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's

Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mrs. Geo. N. Colson of Barnard, Mo., keeps her family well in that way, and Mrs. Lila A. Burkett of Trenton, La., who has been using Syrup Pepsin for a dozen years, has raised her three children on it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of laxative, stimulant and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It is just what you need, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that I can give to my family on an 'as needed' basis?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will send you a sample bottle, sufficient for an immediate trial. Write me where to send it. Address: Dr. J. C. Caldwell, 615 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Be it so!

Common Sense

Are You Withholding Encouragement?

"My personal appreciation is a minor quantity among the many you have doubtless received, but if it lends even the smallest bit of encouragement to the fine work you are doing, I shall be glad."

This sentence is part of a letter received by a man who is trying to do his bit toward making humanity so life in a better light, to add a little encouragement to those who are having a hard struggle, to point out to those who are selfish, the true spirit which should actuate them in their daily lives.

The man who wrote the foregoing, has the right idea in expressing words of encouragement and commendation to those who are trying to do something worthy, whether the man be big or little in world's affairs.

Some of us are too thoughtless.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRETS

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicy Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture.

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look 20 years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.
