SLEEPY-TIME TALES FATTY COON MORE OF HIS ADVENTURES

CHAPTER XXI Mr. Coon Gets the Family's Breakfast

Fatty Coon's father often spoke of the fine meals his mother used to prepare when he was a youngster of Fatty's age. Mrs. Coon never said much when her husband talked in that fashion. She never said much; but she always looked as if she were very, very tired of hearing such talk.

"Oh! Oh!" he shrieked. "I'm shot! I have a terrible pain."

Now, this fall the Coon family had been enjoying feasts of corn for weeks. They were all fat. And they would all have been happy, had it not been for Mr. Coon's constant remarks about his mother's cooking. Mrs. Coon couldn't be very happy when she almost lost her temper at every meal.

"I'm sorry you didn't care for the treat," he remarked, rising. And then he clapped a paw across his waist where "oh! oh!" he shrieked. "I'm shot! I have a terrible pain."

"Of course nobody had shot him. Mrs. Coon knew better than that. But he was very, very ill. She had to nurse him all day long before he felt better."

"At last he was cured of his pains. And he was cured of something else, too. For Mr. Coon never again spoke of the good things that his mother used to give him, when he was Fatty's age."

"I haven't any," said "but I must distribute the rest of these. Mother Graham would be tearing her hair if she knew I was delaying her letters."

"I took my mother-in-law's letters to her room, and was delighted to find that she was not there, for I was in no mood to talk to her. Laying down in my bed, I sent down the hall to my father's room and tapped gently. There was no response from within, but from the half-open door of the guest room adjoining, where we had summoned Tom Chester, his voice called softly:

"That you, daughter, dear? Can you come in here. I entered the room to find my father engaged in giving a draught of something which I guessed to be medicine to the boy in bed. And when

What did Lillian see in the Newspaper She Kept from Madge? "I had put Tom Chester's head back upon the pillow, the boy's white face and twitching lips told the suffering that was his."

"Your husband, father," I said briefly, leaving the letters upon the table, and going to the side of the bed in answer to the unmistakable appeal in Tom Chester's strained eyes. "I am afraid you are suffering," I said pityingly.

Omaha Woman at Work Among Refugees

Miss Minnie D. Mills, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Mills, who is in Athens, Greece, doing relief work among Smyrna refugees, said in a recent letter that "conditions are hideous and we expect thousands of refugees soon if trouble continues in Smyrna."

"I have been busy getting papers for 14 young women to go to America for school," she continued. "We got out yesterday, third class. There is no future for them here. I hope there is there." (These girls will go to the American Board of Foreign Missions in Boston.)

"We personally have all we need but the multitudes suffer. Children are everywhere seeking shelter. Miss Mills has been in Smyrna 25 years. Her work is under the American Board of Foreign Missions of the Congregational church. She has made several trips home, the last one being two years ago.

"Never has there been greater need for services here," according to Miss Mills. "The missionaries, Y. M. C. A. and public and army officials and men from American destroyers have been doing wonderful relief work. The French, Italians and other nations took off their own subjects but have done comparatively little for the natives."

Bridge Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Summers entertained 24 guests at bridge dinner last evening at their home in the St. Ritz apartments.

Some staggering constipation facts; know how Kellogg's Bran can help you!

Ninety out of every one hundred people suffer with constipation! Constipation is the direct cause of breakdown in old age, lowered vitality and ninety per cent of illness!

Do you realize that nearly every case of constipation is traceable to neglect in answering nature's call? In a few years the sufferer has "latent constipation"—the most dangerous form of all. Toxins poison the entire system, polluting the blood, which in turn poisons and affects every organ in the body. Nearly every case of diabetes and Bright's disease can be traced to constipation or intestinal poisoning, as can most rheumatism, headache, brain fog, hardening of arteries and other organic diseases.

Pills and cathartics can never afford you permanent relief. What you need is nature's most wonderful roughage.

Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can eat and crumpled—and delicious in flavor and edibility! Bran will permanently relieve constipation when taken regularly—at least two tablespoons daily; in severe cases, with every meal! Your doctor will endorse Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the eliminative tract as nothing else can—and, being a nature food, it creates no habit. Bran's work is a revelation!

Serve Kellogg's Bran to the entire family as a cereal, with other cereals or in countless appetizing ways such as in muffins, pancakes, raisin bread, etc. Recipes on every package.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled. P. S.—Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly, will clear up a pimply complexion.

YOU ARE TO DECIDE A VITAL QUESTION

The manufacturers of Linn, the soap powder with the lemon fragrance, invite you to try one package of Linn in comparison with anything you have ever used for cleaning. Then you are to be the judge as to its superiority. This seems entirely fair, if there is a better product to help you in your home work, you want to know about it. The sooner the better. Linn not only kills germs, but it is unsifted to dirt and grease. Linn is the for general cleaning. Its agreeable lemon fragrance makes all wash work pleasant, too. Give Linn a chance to make your work easier. Buy one package—then be the judge. Your money back if you will it.

Cather Lecture Cancelled. The Willis Cather lectures, which were to have been given November 27 under the auspices of the Omaha Woman's Press club, has been cancelled owing to the illness of Miss Cather. The annual banquet of the club will be held Wednesday, January 10, when winners in the Press club writing contest will be announced.

Clutter nervously, another thing at which I marvelled, for her pulse is always bullet-proof. "You rubber-soled snooter!" she gibed. "If I were a nervous woman I should have hit the ceiling. I suppose your mother-in-law is waiting for these papers. I'll take them up to her, and then I suppose you'll want to start for the Tiers."

She gathered all the newspapers under her arm, and went so swiftly into the house that not for a minute or two did I begin to realize the astonishing fact that Lillian, usually the soul of courtesy, had not given me the opportunity to glance at a single newspaper headline.
