

Wets Defeat Drys in Four States in General Election

Illinois Favors Modification of Enforcement Act by 600,000 to 200,000—Drys Lose in N. Y.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Proponents of relaxing the present prohibition laws scored heavily in at least four states yesterday, according to compilations today from the nationwide election. In Illinois an expression of sentiment on the Volstead act favored modification by approximately 600,000 votes to a negative 200,000, with one-half the state reported. California defeated the state enforcement act by an indicated two to one vote. Missouri rejected United States Senator James A. Reed, an avowed opponent of prohibition, and New Jersey, it is indicated, sent Governor Edward I. Edwards, who advocated against prohibition, to the United States senate over Senator Frelinghuysen.

In Illinois the congressional delegation will take in three "wets." Reports indicate the Wisconsin delegation will be "wet," seven of four, the majority from the state including Victor J. Berger, socialist, elected for the third time. Wisconsin also re-elected Senator Robert M. La Follette, classed as an anti-prohibitionist by the drys.

In New York state, where the democrats swept the state, the democratic platform contained a plank favoring light wine and beer.

In the seventh Minnesota congressional district returns indicated Representative Andrew J. Volstead, father of the prohibition act, is making a strong fight to overcome the early lead of Rev. O. J. Kvale. Wets drew little hope from that, however, as Rev. Kvale has described himself "as drier than Volstead."

In various congressional districts in which the wet and dry question was made an outright campaign issue, the two sides fared about alike, some of the drys being beaten decisively and a few of the wets winning.

J. H. Smith, who campaigned in the sixth Nebraska district on a wet platform, polled only a negligible vote, according to incomplete returns. The wet opponent of W. G. Beardsley, in the second district of Nebraska, was defeated easily.

In Indiana, J. P. Turk, an avowedly wet, was defeated by Merrill Moore, who stood for reelection.

Fred Hagerman, democrat, who made the race in the third Iowa district, on a wet platform, defeated the republican Robert Clancy, democrat, in the first Michigan, and Clarence McLeod, republican, in the thirteenth Michigan. Clancy was a democrat addition from Michigan, and the only member of that party reported elected from the first six districts to report.

A. C. Shallenberger, democrat, fifth Nebraska, also a proponent of modification of the Volstead act, had a lead over his republican opponent.

In the twelfth congressional district of Missouri, Congressman L. C. Dyer, a proponent of the wet platform, was re-elected over his dry opponent.

"Our Policy of Isolation"

Copyright, 1922.

After sending millions of American troops to France to save the allies from defeat—

—and sending thousands of American soldiers to Archangel and Siberia to fight a nation with whom we are not at war and for purposes somewhat obscure——and spending hundreds of millions on wooden ships that would be useless to us after the war—and loaning billions of dollars, borrowed from our citizens, to bolster up the tottering finances of the allies—

—and pouring hundreds of millions more into Europe and Asia to relieve suffering and starving nations—

THEN—to discover that you are being called a Shylock and denounced for pursuing what they call a policy of isolation—ISN'T IT ENOUGH TO GIVE YOU A DEEP AND PIERCING PAIN?

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not grip. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; cool tar dispensed in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 20 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a drugist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crummy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe those three rules of health: Keep the bowels clear, the feet warm, the breath open.

W. B. Caldwell, M.D.
