Fear Further Violence

London, Nov. 13.—(By A. P.)—Now that the Lausanne conference has been postponed to November 20, the question most urgently asked here is whether it will be possible to maintain peace in Constantinople in the interim. Restoration of communications has revealed such an ugly situation there that it is evident the utmost tact and skill will be necessary to prevent violent outbursts.

All reports coming to London concur in saying that the extremists are dominating the Angora government, which, through its agents in Constantinople, are favoring the policy of defiance toward the allies and terrorism among the local population.

Angora, Nov. 13.—(By A. P.)—Eight of the leading Turkish opponents of the Kemalist regime have been hanged. These include Ali Euchi their program. The victims were identified with the former Constantinople government, the remaining population being the "alien" country, fearing a like fate.

Hey, former minister of justice; Gen. Emin Pasha, former commandant at Constantinople, and Col. Fethan Bey, former member of the military tribune.

Editor Killed by Mob.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—(By A. P.) Delayed in Transmittal.—Ali Kaya Bey, editor of the anti-nationalist newspaper Sabah, who was arrested at Ismid on the charge of subversive activities, was killed by a mob after having been officially condemned to death. He was taken before General Nureddin Pasha, military governor of Smyrna, on a tour of inspection of the district, and then taken to Ismid, where he was pronounced "guilty."

All Kemal remained passive, uttering no word of protest; his hands tied, he was led to a scaffold. Before he reached the gibbet, however, an angry mob of women pounced on him, attacking him with knives, stones, clubs, tearing at his clothing and slashing his body and head with cut-lanes. After a few minutes of excruciating torture, the victim expired. His body was dragged through the streets by the infuriated mob and exposed to public gaze on the scaffold for several hours.

The editor's death has caused profound resentment and emotion in Constantinople, where he was known as one of Turkey's most enlightened and impartial citizens.

Press Demand for Evacuation.
Constantinople, Nov. 13.—(By A. P.)
—The Angora government continues to press its demand for the evacuation of the allied land and naval forces, but there is no indication that the allies intend to yield on this vital point.

Saturday afternoon the allied generals again conferred in the British embassy, where the high commissioners assembled and later Armistice day was celebrated by the British forces with Lieut. Gen. Haxington and Sir Horace Rumbold, high commissioners and ambassador to Turkey, together with many representatives of the British community present. All units took part in the celebration.

Recurrent isolated shootings of British soldiers, it is feared, may precipitate a clash, and Americans and other foreign residents are asking if and when martial law will be proclaimed. The British government has empowered Gen. Harington to institute a state of siege if the situation warrants it.

Applicants for passports face new obstacles from the Kemalists who are seeking to control all the visas. All departing ships are crowded beyond capacity and many American families are leaving.

Conference Postponed.

Paris, Nov. 12.—(By A. P.)—The

French foreign office announced that the Greco-Turkish peace conference to be held at Lausanne had been tentatively set for "not later than November 20."

Originally the date set for the convening of the conference was November 12, but the British government deired a postponement. It was said that the British were arguing for a still later date than November 20, but the French government could not see why a week's postponement should not be ample.

The American minister, Joseph C. Brew, was in Lausanne for a few hours today and engaged rooms for Rear Admiral Mark Bristol and the
