

Couzens Named to Fill Unexpired Term in Senate

Michigan Governor Appoints Detroit Mayor to Newberry—Began Life as Newsie.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 29.—Mayor James Couzens of Detroit today was appointed by Governor Alex J. Groesbeck as United States senator from Michigan to fill the unexpired term of former Senator Truman H. Newberry, who resigned.

Mayor Couzens has accepted the appointment, the governor said. The governor announced Mr. Couzens, who has gained nationwide prominence through his municipal railway venture in Detroit, would take his seat in the senate as soon as his Detroit affairs could be arranged.

"Mr. Couzens becomes senator with not a single string attached," the governor said. "He made no promises. I exacted none."

"Mr. Couzens will have my earnest cooperation and support in whatever he undertakes at Washington for the best interests of this commonwealth. If at any time he should ask my advice or assistance, it will be given freely and gladly. He is at liberty to take or reject it."

Appointment of the Detroit mayor to the senate is seen in political circles as definitely exploding the belief previously advanced in some quarters that the governor himself would be a candidate for the senate for the full term at the 1924 general elections. Mr. Couzens, it is generally expressed here, will be a candidate for the full term.

Mayor Couzens was born in Chatham, Ont., 50 years ago. Reputed to have a fortune of many millions, he started his career as a "newsie" on a passenger train. In 1903 he became associated with Henry Ford in the manufacture of automobiles in Detroit, taking a position as bookkeeper. When he severed his connection with the company in 1915, he was vice president and treasurer.

Mr. Couzens' first public office was that of police commissioner, to which he was appointed in 1916. He was first elected mayor of Detroit in 1918 and his reelection last year was by 20,000 votes, the largest majority ever given a Detroit mayoralty candidate.

A proposal sponsored by the mayor for the purchase of the Detroit United Railway Lines lost by a few votes in 1919. He then obtained authority of the voters to build a municipal system and after this was well under way, he negotiated the purchase of the privately owned system and consolidated it with the new city lines after the voters had authorized the move. The consolidation went into effect in May, 1922, and Detroit became the largest city operating its own traction system.

Mr. Couzens won the reputation of a free giver through numerous gifts to the city's institutions. The community fund receives from him annually $100,000. He has established numerous homes and settlement houses. His largest gift was early this year when he pledged $1,000,000 to a children's hospital which is to treat crippled children without cost.

Counsel for Youth Who Killed Johnny Salerno Opposes Transfer from Federal Jurisdiction.

A packed courtroom heard County Attorney Shotwell argue a motion in federal court yesterday to remand the trial of Tom Flinn, prohibition informer, who killed Johnny Salerno, back to district court of the state.

A. S. Ritchie, Flinn's attorney, opposed the motion on the ground that Flinn was "clothed with the authority of the United States and shot in self-defense."

Federal Judge Woodruff took the decision under advisement for a day or two, but inquired of County Attorney Shotwell how soon he would be ready to go to trial, should the case remain in federal jurisdiction.

Shotwell replied "not before January 1, unless necessary."

The fact that federal informers have no regular status does not alter the case, according to Ritchie.

"Nature of prohibition enforcement requires secrecy," he argued. "Rohrer couldn't put a bell of Flinn and advise that he was an officer and expect to get any results."

RADIO New Invention Is Aid in Tuning

Satterlee Uses Induction Receiver to Get Amplification.

Recently Dr. Francis LeRoy Satterlee, noted X-ray expert, of Flushing, L. I., surprised radio engineers by announcing the invention of an "inductive amplifying receiver," which gave great amplification without the use of the Armstrong patents. Although a few details as to how this is accomplished by Dr. Satterlee have been earned, detailed information is not yet obtainable.

The name "inductive amplifying receiver" was given to this set by Gen. George O. Squier, chief signal officer, U. S. A. General Squier, when asked to test the receiver, said he could give 15 minutes to it and, as a matter of fact, passed three hours studying its possibilities.

Coils Are Secret of Set

The novelty in Dr. Satterlee's set lies in the character of winding and arrangement of the inductances. The inventor uses three flat spiral coils similar in appearance to small talking machine records. Two coils operate with a "hook" or "butterfly" motion. The third moves through an arc between the other two coils with a course similar to that made by a book mark when slipped between the pages of a book. The motion is like that of a three-honeycomb-coil mounting, except that the center coil can be moved toward or away from the operator.

"During tuning is accomplished by a variable condenser and finer tuning of varying the positions of the three coils until the maximum signal is heard. The one-hub set is enclosed in a cabinet measuring only eight by 11 inches.

"During the test," the army men said, "two inherent features of the receiver impressed themselves strongly. These were the ease of manipulation or tuning, and the freedom from distortion. This freedom from distortion is accounted for by the fact that the circuit employed is non-regenerative. It is only necessary to pick up the desired station with the condenser and then increase the volume by use of the coupling knobs, and in passing, it might be of interest to note that the coupling device is so flexible that it can cover different wave lengths almost as readily as the condenser in the antenna circuit."

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

No Further Reductions On Men's, Young Men's, Boys' and Juvenile Clothing

During December 1922, January and February 1923

We make this announcement at this time that our many friends and patrons may be guided accordingly.

The Nebraska Clothing Company's policy is to sell, at all times, the most reliable, standard quality clothing at unequalled low prices. We will not substitute inferior merchandise to make the appearance of a so-called bargain.

We are determined to maintain the integrity of this establishment. Today there are no surplus stocks of desirable standard clothing in the wholesale markets.

Positively the lowest level of prices has been reached in Nebraska Clothing Company's stocks of men's, young men's, boys' and juvenile clothing and no further reductions will be made in these departments.

Fortunately for you and for us, our vast stocks were purchased before the tariff law and the shortage of wool affected prices; and this store will not advance prices while present stocks hold-out.

Nebraska's prices today on men's and young men's suits and overcoats are guaranteed to be $5.00 to $15.00 less than the lowest price that standard clothing is sold for. We guarantee our clothing prices against further reductions or money refunded.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Operation Avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had such pains that I had to be turned in bed every time I wished to move. They said an operation was necessary. My mother would keep saying, 'Why don't you take Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I'd say, 'Oh, mamma, it won't help me, I've tried too much. One day she said, 'Let me get you one bottle of each kind. You won't be out very much if it don't help you.' I don't know if you will believe me or not, but I only took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine when I began to get relief and I am regular ever since without a pain or a headache. When I lie down I can get up without help and without pain. I can't begin to tell you how I feel and look. I have begun to gain in weight and look more like I ought to. I think every day of ways I have been helped. Any one who does not believe me can write to me and I will tell them what stage I was in. I am ready to do anything I can to help your medicine. —Mrs. HARRIETT MILLER, 1172 Sprague St., Dayton, Ohio.
