Veteran of House Dies Suddenly

Representative James R. Mann of Illinois Succumbs to Attack of Pneumonia—Ill Only Week. Served Over 25 Years

Washington, Nov. 30.—(By A. P.)—Representative James R. Mann of Illinois died at his home here tonight after a brief illness.

Republican Leader Victim of Pneumonia

James R. Mann.

Mr. Mann, who has served for a quarter of a century as a member of the house, was stricken a week ago, first with a chill. Pneumonia developed, his condition becoming desperate and the end came at 11:15.

With him at the end were Mrs. Mann and the physicians. It was said that although he had recently passed two restless nights, his condition did not definitely develop for the worse until 11 this afternoon.

No plans were made for the funeral tonight but it was said that the services at the home would be held on Saturday.

Mr. Mann will be buried there beside his son, who died four years ago. He is survived only by the widow.

Offered to Aid in Fight. The veteran legislator, an ardent advocate of the shipping bill, sent word to house leaders early in the week and again Wednesday that while he was ill he would go to the capital and help in the fight if needed.

Yet by his own direction, the record of his distinguished career was summed up in less than a line and a half of the Congressional Record.

Republished of Chicago; was born in 1856; was elected to the Fifty-fifth and each succeeding congress.

That meant 13 continuous terms, or 29 years.

He was re-elected this month and indeed, it has been said that the people of his district were determined to keep him in the house as long as he lived.
