Monday—The Things You Need at the Prices You Must Have for Early Christmas Shopping

THE BRANDEIS STORE

Monday, Important Sale of 1,800 Silk Crepe and Radium

Chemises and Gowns

The Most Timely Gift Sale of the Season 2.98 All Packed in Christmas Boxes

Made to Sell at 3.50 to 5.98

Colors: Aurora, Flesh, Nile, Peach Orchid and White

Gown of the heaviest quality crepes and radium silks, most magnificently trimmed in two-tone ribbons, English vals, Oriental lace, Irish lace and Margot lace. Many elaborately trimmed, while others are of the more tailored style. Shoulder and bodice of lace or self materials. All of these wonderful gowns are full cut and exceptionally well tailored.

The chemises are of the finest quality crepes and radium silks, many elaborately trimmed with ornamental lace, while others have edging of filet lace or ribbon drawn. Made in the round, cornered step-in style, with dainty trimmings of lace or the square cut, more tailored effect. French knots and rosebud trimmings are used extensively. Both the bodice and built-up shoulders to choose from.

This is an entirely new purchase for Monday's selling and every garment is fresh and dainty as you would wish a gift to be.

Price Advantages at The Brandeis Store

The price advantages obtained at The Brandeis Store in the purchase of toys are well illustrated in extracts from an editorial appearing in the Omaha World-Herald as follows:

"Santa Claus has not been heard from yet on the Fordney-McCumber tariff. Most of the toys that he imports from foreign countries had been shipped before the new tariff became effective. So this Christmas Santa Claus is not going to complain about extortionate charges that tariff makers have imposed upon the goods he handles.

"Surveying the toy department of his store that contains wonders to delight the children, George Brandeis was ecstatic over his good fortune in securing from abroad such a variety of playthings to augment the goods manufactured at home. And while he was expressing pleasure that the toys can be sold at such reasonable prices this year, he peered into the future a bit and said: 'It will be a long time before we have such luck again, because the new duty on toys will be 70%.' Though many of these toys are not manufactured in America, yet a duty to that extent was put on them, Mr. Brandeis deplored.

"But Santa Claus won't breathe a word to the kids. He will dig a bit deeper into his pocket, if that is possible. And he will make out as best he can with the limited selection of goods that he will be forced next year to accept from American manufacturers. On account of the tariff, many novelties from across the sea will be too expensive for his limited purse."

It will be well for shoppers to remember that these price advantages relate to all our imported Christmas merchandise bought and shipped under the low tariff is offered to our customers at low tariff prices. These price advantages are so important as to be the occasion for general comment among our well pleased customers.

J. L. Brandeis.
