

Pupils Give to The Omaha Bee Free Shoe Fund Children of 26 Schools Do Their Bit by Donating $159.07 to Help Poor Tots.

The children of 26 Omaha public schools brought in their pennies and nickels and dimes and the teachers did their bit and sent in a total of $159.07 to the Free Shoe fund. What a lot of cold little feet that will make comfortable for the winter! Besides it is a fine thing for the youngsters who give. They learn the blessings of charity. A whist club joined in the good work. And the employees of The Bee want and department did their bit. The calls on the fund are very many during this cold, damp weather. Remember, every cent is investigated by a teacher, without cost to the fund. Thus every cent you give goes to buy shoes for the small children of the desperately poor and unfortunate. It is a wonderful fund, doing the good only where it is desperately needed and allowing not one cent for "overhead."

Songs Rich in Color and Feeling Interpreted by Artists at WAAW.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Fulton, soprano, and Mrs. Amy Cooper Brown gave a delightful program Thursday evening at The Omaha Bee station WAAW. Miss Fulton's voice has a sympathetic quality and her high notes are exceptionally clear. Her first song, "Friend O' Mine," she interpreted with depth of feeling. She touched lightly her second number, "Rain," with its fleet melody, and next sang a negro dialect lullaby, "Honeychile." As a final selection she sang the old-time favorite, "Red-head," which has become a classic. Miss Fulton gave it with spirit, as she is, herself, one of the sisterhood. Miss Helen Jacobs, who played her accompaniments, also gave a musical reading of Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees," by Mrs. Brown. The latter gave as her numbers, Kipling's well known "If," and an amusing apostrophe to the woman driver who blocks traffic, entitled "To the Lady in an Electric." In closing she read a few quatrains from the "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the Persian poem which is the foundation of "Omar the Tentmaker," Guy Gates Post's play, coming to the Strand next week in picture form.

Mrs. Brown has a pleasing voice and a charming delivery. She read with expression but with no overemphasis. A point of interest lay in the fact that Mr. Brown heard his wife's numbers from Norfolk, Neb., and at Cody, Wyo., a brother of Mrs. Brown was listening.

Local Notes.

Poster Quinby, who heard Pershing's Chicago speech Wednesday night over the radio at the Radio Relay association's shack in Benson, was especially interested in it because he served with the Pershing Rifles at the state university. He said ever word of the speech came through clearly.

Radiophone station KILI, at Los Angeles, recently was heard in Honolulu, 2,600 miles away. The concert was picked up at Koko Head, 12 miles from Honolulu, and amplified and retransmitted to Honolulu City, then broadcast from there throughout the Hawaiian Islands.

Fifty-one radiophone stations are broadcasting daily the national crop and market reports of the Department of Agriculture. Twenty-nine stations have applied for permission to broadcast the farm reports and are awaiting approval at the present time. The Bureau of Markets has official report stations in 10 of the large cities, as well as 73 branch offices, 10 of which are connected with Washington by a direct wire. More than 15,000 individuals, firms and railroads co-operate in gathering data broadcast throughout the country. It will not be long before every farmer in the United States will be able to get the latest reports by radio.

A radio receiving set will be a regular fixture in one of the lecture halls

Governor-Elect Gives Interview on State Roads

Lincoln, Dec. 8. — (Special.)— Governor-elect Charles W. Bryan was asked yesterday as to his policy on the state road building program. The interview follows:

"Mr. Bryan, do you favor the legislature appropriating $5,286,000 for the next four years to meet a like sum which the federal government is willing to give the state for completion of the state road system?"

"I can't say at this time."

"In event you did decide it was good business to do so, would you favor the plan of George Johnson, state engineer, to put an additional tax on motorists to raise this money?"

"I can't say."

"Could you keep your pre-election promise to reduce taxes on motor cars and recommend the Johnson plan?"

"I said I favored a reduction on

Necessary Expansion Only, Governor's Plan

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 8. — (Special.)— The mere fact that the three chief expanding agencies of the state, the state board of control, state normal board and state university, have presented Governor McKelvie with budget requests calling for $3,000,000 more in appropriations for the coming biennium than they received this biennium doesn't mean the governor intends to recommend everything they have requested to the legislature. "In private business only that money necessary for imperative expansion is being spent and I intend to use this same method in recommending appropriations," the governor said.

"I do think that our unfortunates in state charitable and penal institutions should be adequately housed and clothed. As the state grows, these institutions are growing and it behooves the people of Nebraska to care adequately and humanely for those unable to care for themselves."

BRING YOUR FRIENDS

"God wanted to be everywhere, so He created mothers"

It was these God-created mothers who taught you the prayers of childhood and tried, oh so hard, to guide little feet into the paths of rectitude and right, and no matter how far nor how often you strayed, mother took you back to her heart, forgave the past and started you out again.

Don't you believe that mother's religion was the right kind? Well at they still believe in and try to practice that religion. Come tomorrow night at 7:45 and help sing some of the old hymns mother taught you—listen to just the kind of talk from the Rector, Mr. Casady, that will help you through the week and enjoy a fellowship that is contagious.

All Saints Episcopal Church

One Minute Store Talk

"You folks have inspired all Omaha with a greater confidence in your store than any retail store ever inspired in its customers to the best of my knowledge and belief. Other stores may struggle along with their 'Four-Wind' prices, but your policy of bed-rock prices all the time and no periodical reductions is a winner."

From a letter of a prominent Omaha commenting on Nebraska's recent announcement of no further reductions.
