

Vagrant Thoughts on Dining in New York

New York has a thousand and one restaurants, yet the eternal question: Where shall we eat? The culinary art is not confined to the district of dizzy lights. One must get out of the beaten paths for adventures in eating.

In the midtown district the habitual modus operandi of the restaurant entrepreneur runs to form—jazz and lights and high sounding French dishes. Profiteering prices. Many of them are good—a few excellent, but the best steak in New York is to be found in a cellar cafe on Hester street.

The two most popular luncheon places just now are the Ritz and Pierre's in the order named. Although Louis Sherry's new cafe on Park avenue is running a close third.

The Cascades at Biltmore draws a big dinner crowd, as do the Knickerbocker grill and the Plaza hotel main dining room. The Elysees, the Grillon and Volson—intimate French places without music—have their sprinkling of those who like good food and little conversation.

Chorus girls serve Patrons. It is one of the amiable possibilities of Providence that in the most exciting hours of oysters in town are served over a marble bar in a Hungarian cafe on Third avenue. It is a "stunt" among professional diners—to flock there for these appetizing bits before going to a glaringly lighted place for the rest of the meal.

There is a mighty good meal served these days at the Stage Door Inn. Forty-seventh, near Sixth avenue. Here the patron is served by pretty chorus girls out of work. They will tell you their bad luck yarns too. But they tell them with a laugh and with no effort to jerk tears.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY. St. Jacob's Oil stops any pain, so when your back is sore and lame, or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer!

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS. If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

pounds, waits on customers during a rush. His place is on Twenty-third street near Broadway. The most typical Bohemian cafe is Bertilotti's in Greenwich Village. The food there is very cheap and there is a true Montmartre atmosphere. Sullivan artists and gay, tiny Tim makes his visits with his tray of "soul candies" hourly. And when she is well enough, Sonia, the cigar girl of Russian books and things. Seedy artists move from table to table to sketch you or cut your silhouette for whatever change you may want to give.

Foreign Amateurs. You will find snobs, devotees of all sorts of imps and perhaps Bobbie Edwards will drift in to sing some of his homemade songs to the accompaniment of his cigar box ukulele. Neysa McMein may be there, and

And, then, of course, there's the automat, too. you want a satisfying luncheon, go to Brown's Chop House—a few steps south of Forty-second street on Broadway. Many Celebrities There. You will find many celebrities there—perhaps John Drew, Henry Miller, Joe Weber and others. It is he food. They serve bubbling cheese in tins just as they do at the Cheshire Cheese in London. And near here in stone mugs.

The best Chinese food I think is served at the Fort Arthur in Chinatown. They like for you to stroll through their spotless kitchen and they give you little jars of Chinese preserves, sticky, but toothsome, to take to the folk back home. In the summer time one may dine on the balcony and see the painters setting type for the Chinese morning newspaper across the street and also watch the shuffling life of this crooked little quarter.

Bankers Among Patrons. It is only a luncheon place, but the food is splendid and the waiters are old timers who dignify their calling. Many Wall street bankers take a turn about Battery park before lunch and then go to the tavern. Upstairs are many historical collections that are worth while. In season, Billy the oysterman serves the best oysters in town. And Billy, weighing more than 300

School Children to See the St. Denis-Shawn Dancers

- Interest is so keen for the Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn performance at the Brandeis theater, December 14, under the auspices of the American Legion auxiliary, that already the majority of the seats have been reserved. Dancing teachers throughout Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs are reserving large sections of seats for their pupils. By special arrangement with Superintendent Beveridge of the public schools, pupils throughout the city may be excused by bringing a note from their parents. This will enable them to attend the special students' matinee when all seats in the orchestra and balcony will be sold for $1.00. Practically all seats are reserved for this performance.

Grabs Wild Duck Out of Sky. Marshall, Tex., Dec. 9.—Reach up and take your pick! Clifford Harris, 14, was riding along a country road on his bicycle. A large flock of ducks were flying overhead. Curiosity apparently impelled him to make a closer inspection of the moving object beneath. They swooped down so close to the boy that he reached up and grabbed one by the leg. To spite of the duck's struggles the boy held on and took his captive home, where he plans to cross it with some of the tame variety.

Married Life of Helen and Warren

An Amsterdam Dinner is Curtailed by Warren's Embarrassing Lack of Funds. "They've wonderful fixtures in all their restaurants," Helen gazed up at the massive bronze chandeliers ablaze with orange globes.

"Dear, don't eat too much of these. You won't enjoy the rest of your dinner. Oh, that little boy with a cigar! That can't be his mother with him." "Why not? All the kids smoke here. Haven't you noticed that? Saw a youngster the other day with a cigar big as himself."
