

University Will Give Training for Farm Youths

Four Weeks Short Course Announced to Start January 22—Various Courses Planned.

Lincoln.—(By A. P.)—The four weeks' short course at the agricultural college of the state university, which opens January 22, will afford students especially interested in animal husbandry an opportunity to devote a considerable portion of their time to work along this line. In addition to the courses in other departments, which the students will take during the forenoon sessions, the animal husbandry department is arranging courses which will occupy all the student's time five afternoons each week.

Another group includes agronomy, economics and dairy work, and is available for those who register. The animal husbandry work includes stock judging, feeding, management and meats. Laboratory sections will be provided so that each student will have an opportunity to actually take part in the various activities in conjunction with each course.

Judging work, according to the announcement, will afford an opportunity to become familiar with the leading breeds of beef cattle, sheep, swine and horses. Classes in each of these divisions will be held. In addition to judging an instructor will deliver lectures on the subject of judging livestock.

The department of animal husbandry maintains a relatively large herd of animals representing the various classes and breeds. In addition to the breeding stock, the department has 140 head of cattle on experiment. These will be on exhibition during the short course.

In the feeding course, a study of rations, which give best results, will be made. The proper balancing of rations, as well as the maximum utilization of feeds raised upon most Nebraska farms, especially roughness, are expected to receive considerable attention.

In the management courses time will be devoted to caring for and fitting animals for show and sale purposes. Among the numerous activities in this work may be mentioned washing, curbing, foot trimming, horn scraping, clipping and minor operations, which a man handling livestock is expected to perform.

A contest will be held, at the close of the short course, when an opportunity will be provided for students to show the degree of proficiency to which they have arrived in preparing stock for exhibition.

Farm Bureau Secretary in Gage County Resigns

Beatrice.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Gage County Farm Bureau, Charles Thornburg tendered his resignation as secretary and H. F. Brandt was elected to succeed him. Mr. Thornburg has left the farm and gone to Omaha to live. Plans for the annual meeting of the bureau, to be held December 20, were discussed at the session.

Farmers' Union Notes

The call for the tenth annual state convention of the Nebraska Farmers' Union, to be held at Lincoln, Nebraska, on January 12, 1923, has been issued by State President C. J. Osborn and State Secretary L. M. Koch. Each local of the organization in the state is entitled to one delegate, and each county organization sends one delegate and one alternate to the convention. Over 500 delegates are expected.

Omaha Recognizes Union.
The Omaha Livestock Exchange has lifted the ban under which its members and traders, speculators and order buyers who cleared through its members, are prohibited from trading with individuals and concerns not recognized by the exchange. This will permit all commission men, yard traders and order buyers to trade freely with the Farmers Union Livestock commission. Similar action has been taken by the livestock exchanges at nearly all of the large markets.

Want Sleeping Cars.
Stanton.—A resolution requesting the next legislature to enact a law to compel the railroad companies to attach a tourist sleeper to each stock train for the accommodation of caretakers was adopted by the Stanton County Farmers' Union. The convention also endorsed the movement to have the loan limit of the federal land bank increased from $10,000 to $25,000 and expressed regret that the Nebraska law gives the state banking board discretionary power to deny charters to new banks.

Exchange Manager Speaks.
Wilber.—More than 50 members of the Farmers' Union who are stockholders in the Farmers' Union state exchange, which operates a branch store in this town, attended a meeting in the township hall, C. McCarthy, of Omaha, manager of the state exchange, was present and led a round-table discussion of the relation of the members to their local store and to the state exchange in Omaha. Mr. McCarthy expressed satisfaction with the support being given the Wilber store by the members in the community. George D. Knapp is the store manager.

Neligh Store Pays.
Neligh.—The Farmers' Union co-operative store has closed the fourth year in which it has paid a per cent interest on its capital stock, besides making good patronage dividends and liberal amounts to reserve and surplus accounts. For the year just ended, the store has paid $1,408.45 in stock dividends, $2,214.05 in patronage dividends on merchandise, and $6,777.50 in patronage dividends on cream. At the close of the fiscal year, the store had no accounts payable, and had a bank balance of $5,237.42. The books showed a reserve for depreciation of $1,398.75, and a surplus fund of $1,246,897.12. Alvin E. Graybill has been manager of the store since it opened for business on November 1, 1918.

Come, boys, I've something to tell you. I've lived as you live, and I know you are thinking of leaving the homestead.
Don't be in a hurry to go!
The city is full of dirt and noise.
But so has the country, you know.
Better stay on the farm, while longer.
Don't be in a hurry to go!

Sodium fluoride has many uses on the farm. It should be used for dusting chickens bothered with lice, because there is less danger of their catching cold from the dusting than from sprays used in cold weather. Sodium fluoride is the best destroyer of cockroaches. Dust it over the path used by these pests and they will soon succumb and die. Be careful not to get the fluoride in the way of food, as it is a poison, but not a deadly one, for humans.

College-Owned Cow Breaks State Record

Lincoln.—Varsity Derby Gelta, a Holstein cow owned by the University of Nebraska agricultural college, recently broke the Nebraska record for production of milk by producing 25,019.3 pounds of milk, $36.11 pounds of butter fat, or 1,045.11 pounds of 80 per cent butter in 365 days, according to records kept at the university farm.

This record is an average of 68.5 pounds of milk or eight gallons for each day in the year. In March she weighed about 1,500 pounds, she has produced more than 16 times her own weight in milk during the year and more than two-thirds of her weight in butter, according to her keepers. The total weight of edible milk solids produced was equal to 3,000 pounds of a ton and a half. These included milk sugar, casein and albumin.

Gelta, in making this record, displaced Creamline Korn, owned by Woodlawn dairy of Lincoln, a Holstein whose record was 23,472.4 pounds of milk, 755.93 pounds of butter fat or 957.4 pounds of 80 per cent butter.

Separate Corn Show Planned by Organized Agriculture

Lincoln.—The annual corn show of the Nebraska Crop Growers association will be held this year as usual on January 3 and 4, as a part of the organized agriculture meetings at the state college of agriculture.

A feature of the show this season will be a department for boys and girls. Heretofore, they have had to show in competition with the older corn breeders, but by having a department by themselves a large entry is expected. Boys and girls under 18 are eligible. The exhibitor showing the best 10 ears of dent corn will receive $8 as a premium, besides having his or her name engraved on a silver trophy.

Beatrice Poultry Show

Beatrice.—The Beatrice Poultry association will hold its annual show in the old shirt factory building December 11-15. The building is now being put in shape for the exhibit, which is expected to be the largest in the history of the organization.

With the County Agents

WASHINGTON COUNTY.
Blair.—The county was represented at the International Livestock show at Chicago this week, a number of entries having been made in corn, wheat, and pig club champion being in attendance.

CUMING COUNTY.
West Point.—County Extension Agent Kenneth C. Fouts has sounded the call to Cuming county boys and girls to make preparations for the 1923 work in the pig club project. He believes that a county of the size of this should make good showing in the number of enrollments.

CUMING COUNTY.
Cuming county, according to the county extension agent, ranks second of the counties of Nebraska in the yield per acre of corn. He is urging farmers to make entries in the annual corn show to be held in the state agricultural college the first week in January, next year. Cuming county farmers were awarded a number of prizes at the top of the show. Application for entry must be made by December 20 and exhibit must have been forwarded to Lincoln by December 20.

CUMING COUNTY.
Monday, December 18, has been set as the date for the annual meeting of the county extension agents, at West Point. At this time the report of Kenneth C. Fouts, county extension agent, will be made to the board of directors. Officers will be elected.

CASS COUNTY.
Weeping Water.—Two gas engine schools will be held in Cass county this winter under the direction of an agricultural engineer from the state agricultural college. Arrangements have been made for a two days' course of instruction. Twenty-five men are sure of accommodation at the school. Next year a tractor school is planned.

CASS COUNTY.
Dress construction schools in Cass county appear to be coming. Several of the clubs have been divided into groups so as to accommodate and give better service to the large number of women who are enrolled. Much work is being done in other departments of women's work, according to Miss Wilber.

COLFAX COUNTY.
Schuyler.—The gas and pruning demonstration was held on several farms near here recently by E. H. Hoppert, extension agent. Pruning, he says, may be done at any time during the dormant season, but the best time is in the fall or spring. The advice was given that if grapes are pruned in the fall or winter, the vines should be covered to prevent freezing.

The annual Colfax county farm bureau meeting will be held in Schuyler, Dec. 14. An all day meeting had been planned for both women and men members.

BUTLER COUNTY.
David City.—When tuberculosis eradication work stopped in Butler county recently, the county extension agent, secretary of agriculture, because of lack of funds to carry on the work, the county in the county had been tested, and one other township would have completed its test this week had the work been continued. A number of other townships were being waiting list. On December 14 matter of stoppage of the work will be given a thorough-going discussion by members of the county farm bureau.

FILLMORE COUNTY.
Geneva.—Charles Flory of Shickley was elected president of the Fillmore county farm bureau at the annual meeting held here Dec. 1. Other officers elected were William Wulf, Ohio, vice president;

230 Exhibitors Show Potatoes at Alliance, Neb.

Kimball Grower Wins Individual Prize and County Is Awarded County Cup.

Alliance, Neb., Dec. 10.—(Special)—The sixth annual convention and show of the Nebraska Potato Improvement association closed a three-day session here. More than 200 potato growers and experts from Nebraska and several other states attended. Interesting programs were held daily, at which all phases of the potato industry were discussed, including diseases, culture, soil preparation, storage, grading, certification, shipping and marketing.

Five western Nebraska counties had county exhibits at the show in addition to 230 individual exhibits of growers in several counties. These counties were Kimball, Sioux, Scotts Bluff, Sheridan and Dawes. Kimball county was awarded first prize on dry land seed Red Triumphs, the prize being a large silver loving cup donated by C. A. Newberry of Alliance. Dawes county won second prize, a small silver loving cup, while Sheridan drew third and Scotts Bluff county fourth. A large number of small prizes for individual exhibits were also awarded.

A. G. Tolana, chief seed potato inspector of the Minnesota state department of agriculture, who was judge of both the county and individual exhibits, stated that the exhibits were the largest and the finest he had ever seen at any potato show. The high quality of the tubers shown, he said, showed an awakened interest on the part of western Nebraska potato growers in raising prize stock and that a decided improvement in quality was noticeable over previous state exhibits he had attended in Nebraska.

The grand sweepstakes prize for the highest scoring individual exhibit of potatoes was awarded to Fred Standler of Kimball, Neb., on dry land commercial Red Triumph stock. This prize was a handsome trophy cup. First, second, third and fourth prizes were also awarded for the various classifications, according to length of time of certification, field and trial records and show samples.

Officers of the association were re-elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, J. Pedrett, Kimball; vice president, C. O. Sawyer, Lincoln; secretary-treasurer, H. O. Werner, associate horticulturalist of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture.

Sugar Made in Nebraska to Advertise Factory Town

Scottsbluff.—Nebraska-made sugar, turned out at the factories at Scottsbluff, Gering, Mitchell and Bayard, will hereafter be packed in bags bearing the imprint of the manufacturing plant in which it was produced. A. M. Ginn, local manager of the Great Western Sugar company, announced.

SAUNDERS COUNTY.
Wahoo.—Walter F. Roberts, and Edith Coe, Saunders county extension agents, have now stopped on account of the giving out of funds for the purpose. Even in Washington county, where a completed test was made this summer, there are still nearly 100 tuberculous cattle at large in herds, according to Mr. Olson.

DAWSON COUNTY.
Lexington.—Members of Nebraska's champion livestock judging team, composed of Lode Wallace, Ardell Cavasone and Edna Patti, comprising a part of the personnel of the Hooper Show and Litter Pig club, left for Chicago, where they participated in judging contests at the International Livestock Show. County Extension Agent Alvin R. Hecht accompanied the team and took in the National County Agents' Association annual meeting. The trip was made by motor as far as Lincoln, and the team given work at Grand Island, Seward, York, Malcolm and Lincoln.

The fifth annual meeting of the Dawson County Farm Bureau will be held at Lexington December 12. Report of this year's work will be given. Among the prominent speakers will be H. D. Lute, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Federation, and J. P. Lawrence of the extension service of the state agricultural college.

FRONTIER COUNTY.
Stockville.—At the county farm bureau meeting held at Stockville recently, plans were made to draw up resolutions to present to the coming legislature on tax matters. A committee on taxation, representative of each township was instructed to discuss and prepare resolutions to be submitted to another meeting of the county farm bureau, before final submission to the legislature. E. J. Koehn was elected president of the bureau, Frank Harmon, vice president and Fred Smith, secretary-treasurer.

By MARY ANN GRAY.
Every home will celebrate Christmas in some manner, however modest, and something special will be provided for that holiday meal. These menu suggestions may help you some in planning what to eat.

Cream of tomato soup and celery and toasted crackers, roast turkey, oyster dressing, giblet gravy, escalloped sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, cranberry relish, hot rolls, cabbage and egg in birdnest salad; hot mince pie with ice cream and coffee.

Fruit cup with wafers; roast pork and baked apples or baked chicken with head lettuce, baked squash, potato stuffing, creamed cauliflower, cranberry sauce, nut bread; pineapple and cream cheese salad with white bread and butter sandwiches; frozen plum pudding, nuts, coffee.

Pretty table decorations add an attractiveness to the holiday dinner, which makes the food better, but no busy housewife likes to spend much time or money on trimmings. Some holly and mistletoe arranged loosely in a Japanese flower bowl, or just spread around over the white tablecloth, are decorative and sensible, too, especially if the party is a large one and the table is crowded. If children are present a red Santa Claus centerpiece with ribbons stretched from his hands to place cards is sure to please them.

In Austria women are learning new farm methods in a recently established agricultural college, headed by a woman, and run exclusively for girls and women.

Enough potatoes can be cooked for two days at one time, by putting the "left-overs" in a pan of boiling water and letting them steam hard 10 minutes. Then mash, and you will never know that they are not freshly cooked.

Iowa Farmer Makes Profit With Ice Cream Factory

Mount Airy, Ia.—An ice cream factory operated by a Ringgold county farmer is one of the progressive farm enterprises in this county, and one which returned good profits last year. The factory was put in operation by E. R. Pine of Diagonal in connection with his dairy farm. Besides serving the town of Diagonal with milk, Mr. Pine has been selling ice cream not only to the town, but to the rest of the county.

Part of the success of his venture is due, Mr. Pine believes, to the fact that he uses only genuine farm products and cream. A herd of 20 cows supplies the materials for the ice cream factory.

Scottsbluff City Schools Have Many of Foreign Birth
Scottsbluff.—Supr. E. L. House told the Lions club that almost half the children in the elementary grades of Scottsbluff are either of foreign birth, or the children of parents of foreign birth. In one church of 300 members in the so-called Russian district of the city, only one member had the pastor as a naturalized American.

Sugar Beet Growers to Get Extra Pay Before October
Scottsbluff.—North Platte valley sugar beet growers will not have to wait until October, 1922, for all of the additional payment they will receive for this year's crop of beets under the sliding scale contract. The Great Western Sugar company, in advertisements to the farmers, announced that they might expect an advance payment early in the spring.

50,000 Visitors See Poultry at Omaha Show

Harry Knudsen, secretary of the Omaha Poultry association, estimates that 50,000 persons viewed poultry on exhibition at the City auditorium show here during Thanksgiving week. Speaking of the attendance, Mr. Knudsen said: "I have never seen a time before this year when people not identified with the poultry industry showed so much interest. People are coming to realize the value of poultry to the state. They are becoming interested because it is generally known that the poultry industry is second only to that of wheat and corn in the United States."

At the show, the champion hen was a Barred Rock; the champion rooster, a Single Comb White Leghorn; the champion hen, Single Comb Rhode Island Red; and the best pigeon, White Fantails, practically all standard breeds, were represented in the more than 2,000 birds on exhibition. Mr. Knudsen reports that the children's section attracted unusual attention from young and old. Fancy fowl attracting unusual attention were the white and golden Polish Houdins, Australian Fluffs, Peacocks, Pheasants and Birds of Paradise.

Fillmore Farm Bureau Holds Meet at Geneva

Geneva.—The Fillmore County farm bureau at the annual meeting elected the following officers: President, Charles W. Flory, Shickley; vice president, William Wulf, Ohio; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Stephenson, Geneva. The treasurer is chosen by the executive board. Mrs. Mary Sprout of Geneva and Herbert Howard of Exeter were elected members of the board.

Speakers at the meeting were N. W. Gaines of the extension service and C. B. Stewart of Red Cloud, vice president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation.

Reports were given by Mrs. Clark Yates, who reported on poultry work; Mrs. Roy Carson, health activities and women's interests; Mrs. M. M. Hook of Martland, organizations for women; William Wulf, need of organization; John P. Davis, livestock, and Miss Edna Pegler, county demonstration agent, gave a detailed account of the year's activities in the whole field covered.

Iowa Pumpkin Seeds Are Shipped to Italian Firm

Atlantic, Ia.—The Atlantic Canning company has just finished the shipment of all seeds from the pumpkins the company canned this year to Italy, where they are used in the manufacture of medicine. Pumpkin seeds are said to have medicinal value in kidney troubles and are widely used by the Chinese and many other foreign people. J. W. Cuykendall, owner of the factory, says the canning business is back on a stable foundation again.

Russia to Emerge by Gradual Stages, Indiana Man Says

Settled Government Will Result From Present Unfortunate Situation, Ex-Governor Goodrich Says.

Washington, Dec. 10.—(By A. P.)—By a gradual change through the orderly processes of evolution and not by counter revolution, will Russia emerge from its present condition, declared former Governor James P. Goodrich of Indiana, speaking here before the conference on public opinion and world peace. An official government investigation of conditions in that country was made by Mr. Goodrich last year.

"Out of the present unfortunate situation a settled responsible government shall emerge," he declared. "It will be a democracy and not an autocracy, either of the czar or the proletariat. The peasant never did accept communism. He is by instinct, training and tradition, individualistic. The peasant saw his surplus crops taken away year by year and nothing given in return save a receipt by the officer taking the grain."

"When he asked for clothing he was told they had none; when he wanted implements for his farm he received nothing and when he called the village doctor, who was to serve him free, he could get him only by secretly giving him food."

"The peasant failed to produce a surplus taking the grain."

Speakers at the meeting were N. W. Gaines of the extension service and C. B. Stewart of Red Cloud, vice president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation.

Reports were given by Mrs. Clark Yates, who reported on poultry work; Mrs. Roy Carson, health activities and women's interests; Mrs. M. M.
