Speakers for Teachers' Meet are Obtained

President of National Association Will be in Omaha for Convention January 18-20.

President William B. Owen of the National Educational Association and head of the Chicago Normal school and Frank Cody, superintendent of schools at Detroit, Mich., will be among the principal speakers at the fifty-sixth annual state convention of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association to be held in Omaha, Jan. 18, 19 and 20, according to an announcement just made by the secretary.

According to the call for the state meeting made by President W. H. Morton of Beatrice, the convention will be somewhat different from the state meetings of previous years, due to the new organization, which aims to be the association of meetings out to the teachers. This has been accomplished through the district meetings held in October.

There is need, however, for a state meeting of a general nature," said Mr. Morton, in his announcement. "At the state meeting school folks from all parts of the state will meet and discuss their problems, renew acquaintances, and plan for the future of the whole state. It is at this meeting the delegates assembly will meet and where the business of the association will be transacted.

The superintendents and principals assistants will hold their regular winter meetings during the state convention, according to E. M. Hosman, secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. Plans are being made for an interesting meeting of the state high school athletic association during the present association meeting.

Delegates to the convention have been on hand from the morning of the first day, January 18. The Western Passenger association has authorized the sale of reduced fare round trip tickets of fare and one-half of the current rates, with a minimum of one dollar for round trip. Such tickets will only be sold on presentation of identification certificates.

University Women Students Will Learn Use of Rifle. Women students of the state university will have an opportunity to learn how to shoot with rifles, according to plans of the military department. The Women's Athletic association is sponsoring the new move. Mrs. Sidney Brickson has offered to furnish the instructors, rifle, cartridges and targets.

University of Nebraska. "We'd like to see how it happened," said Dr. George W. C. Conrad, director of the conservation and survey department, of the Nebraska Game and Fish Commission, after the Cornhuskers defeated their strongest rival of the season by a score of 14-0 in the annual football game at Lincoln.

The Omaha club of the university of Nebraska will hold its annual banquet Monday evening, forty-five attended. Coach H. P. Schulte spoke.

The four-week course in botany is being offered mainly for farmers and their sons who are busy most of the year but have little leisure in the winter. Boys 16 years old or over may enter.

The four-week general agricultural course opens January 22, and runs for four weeks. A course in poultry culture starts January 8, and a course of one week in ice cream making begins February 1. The junior department in the annual show of the Nebraska Corn Growers association will be held at the college of agriculture January 14 as part of the meeting of organized agriculture. January 14 is the date for the annual meeting of the state fair.

Chadron Normal College. The outlook for the basketball team was bright for the first time in several years. The team recently achieved on the gridiron. The basketball team will again be in its usual place in the annual school sports for their first time.

Chadron Normal College. A vivid portrayal of the life of a young man in the west was given in a play by the class in western literature.

Creighton University. The arts society has determined to draw on its self-denial fund this month for the relief of Omaha's poor. The fund is being used for the relief of the foreign missions, but its diversion at Christmas time to the needs of the city is a commendable act.

Schedules for School Debates Being Arranged

Kansas Industrial Court System Will Be Discussed by Nebraska High Schools.

Lincoln—The schedules of first-year debates in the 16th annual contests of the Nebraska High School Debating League, which will be on the question of Nebraska adopting the Kansas industrial court system, are being arranged by the district directors. In the east central district (Principal C. W. Taylor, teachers college high school, Lincoln, director) are eight members, divided into two groups: 1. Cathedral High, College View, Eagle and Lincoln; 2. Ashland, Havocall, University Place and Waverly.

The west central district (Supt. B. A. Kennedy, Greeley, director) has seven members: Ansley, Arnold, Comstock, Greeley, Mason City, North Loup and Wolbach.

In the southwestern district (Supt. J. C. Mitchell, Holdrege, director) are 10 members: Cambridge, Curtis, Holdrege, McCook, Minden, Orleans, Oxford, Ragan and Republican City.

In the northeastern district (Supt. Conrad Jacobson, Wayne, director), are 15 schools.

In the territory of the western district (Supt. W. J. Brahm, North Platte, director) will be at least nine schools: Elmcrest, Gibbon, North Platte, Grant, Verano, Madrid, Big Spring, Paxton and Ogallala.

The membership in the central, eastern, northwestern, southern and southeastern districts have not been announced.

Wayne Teachers College. With the end of the Thanksgiving vacation a large number of young people enrolled in the short courses and will attend the college until spring. These in addition to those already in attendance make the present class the largest in the history of the institution except during the summer months.

Midland College. A number of students, mostly boys from the farms, are enrolling to take work in the winter course offered by the school of commerce.

Bank Clearings. Reports of bank clearings for this week and the corresponding weeks in 1921 and 1922 are all for the full business week of six days, so that fair comparisons are possible. Clearings for the present week are as follows: $1,644,877,000 a year ago and $1,691,970,000 in 1920. Or the current week's clearings, $27,943,000 more than the corresponding week of 1921, while the metropolis reported $4,872,000, or 17.5 per cent more than the corresponding week of a year ago, so that the aggregate of all clearings was also 15.5 per cent more.

Chicago Grain. By CHARLES D. MICHAELS. Omaha, Dec. 10.—Grain prices are practically at the highest of the season and with the help of favorable legislation for an extension of farm and foreign credits, the latter through the operations of the War Finance corporation, values of agricultural products should attain and hold a higher level. Indications are that there will be a demand for all the wheat in the world before another harvest and that the carry over will be light.

Week's Failures. All sections of the United States show a marked increase in the number of failures reported to R. G. Dun & Co. for the present week. The figures for the entire five-day period just previous to the total for the current week is 484, while a year ago the total was 325. The corresponding figure a year ago was 325. Defaults with liabilities are also more numerous. This week they number 292 and are $4,000,000 in each case and the corresponding total a year ago similar involvements aggregated 241 last week and 49 a year ago. Canadian failures number 190 this week, against 147 last week and 125 a year ago. Defaults involving over $5,000 in each instance total 33; last week they were 44 and in the corresponding week of last year they numbered 35.

The Business Barometer

This Week's Outlook in Commerce, Finance, Agriculture and Industry Based on Current Developments.

By THEODORE H. PRICE, Editor Commerce and Finance, New York, Copyright, 1922.

Last week I made a hurried trip through the middle west, visiting Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago and Minneapolis as well as some other minor points. At each place I talked with several prominent business men and sought to check off the reports of business conditions received in New York which are not always reliable because they cannot reach the feeling and temper of the distant communities upon whose confidence in the future and contentment with the present our prosperity is largely dependent.

Expect Good Trade. Summarizing my impression it may be said that those who deal with city people are reasonably busy and expect a good trade through the winter, but that the others whose business is chiefly with the agricultural community are not optimistic. The latter class say that while the farmer has lately been buying a little more freely he is still heavily in debt and that his purchases have been and will be confined to the things that he cannot do without. As to the correctness of this view I had my attention called to the number of small banks that have recently failed, including one each at Omaha, Neb.; Sterling, Colo.; Tangle, and Andale, Kan., whose suspension was reported in December 4.

These conditions are generally attributed to the disparity between the price of wheat and the price of the things that he must buy and this disparity is turning chiefly against the high freight rates and the inability of the railroads to handle the traffic offered.

In Minneapolis it was asserted that the farmer has to sell at least a bushel of wheat for $1.50, while the cost of the things that he must buy is $1.50. This is a situation that is not likely to be improved by the proposed conversion of the railroads to public ownership, for the proposed conversion is largely due to the hydraulic pressure of large capitalists to convert their taxable stocks and bonds into tax exempt shares the dealing tendency has been accentuated by the fear that the government will succeed in securing a reduction in the super-taxes that private capital enjoys whose proceeds are now wastefully employed.

Railroad Subsidy Considered. It is doubtful whether Mr. Mellon's proposal is politically practicable with congress and the people in their present mood. The main price trend, however, is to the benefit of the farmer. Little less than 2 per cent rise in the price of wheat would give him an advance of about 4 per cent on the whole. The proposed conversion of the railroads to public ownership is largely due to the hydraulic pressure of large capitalists to convert their taxable stocks and bonds into tax exempt shares the dealing tendency has been accentuated by the fear that the government will succeed in securing a reduction in the super-taxes that private capital enjoys whose proceeds are now wastefully employed.

Staples Not Cheaper. But of commodities it would not be fair to say that they are being sold at a lower price than they are. None of the staples are any longer substantially cheap. Even such staples as cotton, wool and sugar are being sold at a price that is not substantially below the cost of production. And as for manufactured articles they cannot be advanced much more than the cost of living to a level that may provoke an outcry and a general strike.

Conservative and caution on the part of merchants and manufacturers would seem to be the order of the day. The inflationary power to our redundant money supply seems to have spent itself. The price level is not likely to rise much more. The price level is not likely to rise much more.

Trade Review

By R. G. DUN & CO. New business in primary markets is still large, but there are indications of a moderate rise in the price of wheat. The monthly index number discloses a moderate rise and the present price level is appreciably above the corresponding level of last year. As inventories are completed, these are added evidence that further substantial improvement in conditions of buying in some instances has been observed. It is not unusual for the monthly index number to show a moderate rise and the present price level is appreciably above the corresponding level of last year.

Price Level Slightly Higher. The general commodity movement was more active during the month than in the corresponding month of last year. The price level is slightly higher than in the corresponding month of last year.

Local Jobbers are Selling American. Local jobbers are selling American goods at a price that is not substantially below the cost of production. The price level is not likely to rise much more.

Yellow and grease show no particular change in price during the week, and local buyers will be retiring from the market. The price of wool is steady, but a decline in new business is expected. The price of wool is steady, but a decline in new business is expected.
