Director Claims That Wolves Have Their Own Language

Laurette Taylor, pretty little actress, who made 'Peg O' My Heart' a popular favorite with theatergoers a few years ago, is making a movie now with the same name.

What are the wild wolves saying? Lawrence Trimble, director, has been trying to find out. The language of the wolf to the average person is a series of ugly growls, snarls, barks or long and blood-curdling howls, wails that strike terror to the heart.

But those well versed on animal lore claim it is a regular language. One of the strongest advocates of this theory is Laurence Trimble, the director, who uses a whole pack of wolves in 'Brawn of the North' in which Strongheart, the wonder dog of the films, is starred at the Rialto this week.

Says Mr. Trimble: "When one remembers that man through civilization has advanced thousands of years beyond the wolf, we must be reminded that ours is a language built especially for our needs. The wolf's language was probably old when the cave man began to make himself understood in deep gutturals."

"I have studied the wolf fighting and at play and have tried to interpret the meaning of the various sounds he makes and the significance of every move and gesture. In the wolf's eye alone, there is a range of expression as great as that in the eyes of human beings."

Today's Attractions. Rialto—"Brawn of the North." Sun—"Alias Julius Caesar." Strand—"Omar, the Tentmaker." Moon—"Foolish Wives." World—"The Blot." Empress—"The Hound of the Baskervilles." Hamilton—"The Angel of Crooked Street." Victoria—"Phen's Paradise." Grand—"When Romance Rides."

Roses for "Singing Mike" Undelivered by Admirer Chief of Detectives Van Densen yesterday persuaded Lillian Frances Moore, formerly of Denver, who had brought a bouquet of red roses for "Singing Mike" La Porte, held in connection with the death of Alice Rinehart, that her sympathies were misdirected.

AT THE THEATERS

TWO more days remain for the big bill at the World theater, where Ross, Wyse and Tony Wyse, the sensation of juvenile comedians, and Billy (Swede) Hall are the stars. The six acts on the current show continue to provide the best entertainment in recent weeks and large crowds are attending to the popularity of the program.

A novelty entitled "A Surprise in the Belfry" will be furnished by the Five Balloons, four attractive girls and an athletic young man. This act is the headliner of the Empress and it is said that the principals will lose heavily weights and perform other difficult tasks with the grace and rhythm of a Greek dancer. The great Howard presents a ventriloquist novelty "The Rostand Doctors." All the dialogue is comedy and the action is sensational. "Outrage" is the title given to the comedy skit which will be presented by Paul Kelly and Frank Kozie, who are known as a team of irrefragable fun makers.

Although he is an actor, motor mechanism is Harry Shannon's hobby and Detroit in his motor. To see Shannon act with "Shorty" MacAllister at the Gayety theater, week starting Saturday matinee with Joe Marks, star of the show. Harry Lloyd, a southerner who is declared to be always abreast of her name. Harry Lloyd, Kitty Garner and May Leonard lead a chorus of 24 singers and dancers.

Sam Nanfito Jailed. Sam Nanfito was fined $500 and sentenced to jail for three months yesterday by Federal Judge Woodrough on a charge of possession and sale of intoxicating liquor. A large quantity of liquor was found in his place, 1313 Pacific street.

Huge Still Is Seized by Federal Agents

Federal prohibition agents yesterday raided 403 Bancroft street and seized a still which was in operation. U. S. Rohrer described it as the largest still he has ever seen.

Barney Bertino and John Turinetti were arrested. A barrel and a half of liquor and several five-gallon jugs of liquor were taken. The officers also raided 1201 South Thirteenth street, where they arrested John Lafatna, John Spura and Sebastiano Falcone and confiscated 22 gallons of liquor.
