Tiger' Gives to American Fund

Donates $20,000 Received on U. S. Tour to Field Service Scholarships.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Former Premier Clemenceau's American visit added $20,000 to the American Field Service fund fellowships, Stephen Bonsai, who managed the tour announced today. The amount is the surplus of money received from lectures and newspaper articles by "The Tiger" after defraying the expenses of his trip. The wartime premier, it was explained, was unwilling to accept financial assistance for his mission, so he accepted lecture and writing contracts to pay his way, asking that any surplus be devoted, in memory of his student years in the United States, to the fellowships which are attended, among other things to stimulate friendship between France and America, through the education in each country of young men from the other.

For Ambulance Service. The American field service was organized and directed by Representative A. Platt Andrew of Massachusetts, to enable young Americans to do ambulance work in France, before the United States had entered the war. It was in recognition of this that M. Clemenceau selected as the beneficiary of his tour the American Field Service fund fellowships, organized after the American Field Service had been disbanded to perpetuate the names of 127 members by granting a like number of scholarships to send young men of each country to universities in the other. The "Tiger's" surplus, it was announced, would make "Clemenceau scholarships" available to deserving students.

Comments by many of his auditors on the command of the English language caused "The Tiger" to remark that if he had remained in this country six weeks longer during his exile in the '60s, he might have become an American citizen, since at that time it was not necessary to file first papers, but merely to apply for citizenship after a certain period of residence. Touched Sense of Humor. M. Clemenceau's American tour was replete with incidents which touched his sense of humor. He was not offended by congressional, political or newspaper attacks, but enjoyed them and welcomed them with a ready smile and a witty reply. The only incident he regretted, his manager said, was what he characterized as the desecration of the tomb of Lincoln, during his pilgrimage of reverence there, when photographers created considerable disturbance with shouts and flashlight explosions. The fumes choked him and he was forced to hasten to the open air.

Police Hot on Trail of Denver Bandits. (Continued From Page One.) A car resembling the description given by Mrs. Downer had passed through there about 30 minutes earlier. Fugus's story, as told over the phone to Sheriff Hall, was that he noticed signs of life about the house and upon investigation had found that some one was living in it. This afternoon he approached and knocked on the door which was opened by a man carrying a rifle in his hands and wearing a cartridge belt. He asked what they were doing in the house, informing the man that it was his. The man declared that the occupants were coyote hunters.

Ordered to Leave House. Fugus continued his story by declaring that while he was at the door another man, similarly dressed appeared from around the corner of the house. He said he also saw two other men inside it. He said that while he was talking a large touring car carrying two men and two women drove up. He said that he was then told by the man at the door to leave the place under threat of death. The cars of Denver police are mobilized in Greeley awaiting further word as to the direction to which the chase has turned. Posses from all northern Colorado towns guard the roads leading northward and westward. A posse headed by Sheriff Frank Smith of Fort Collins left on the road toward Greeley as soon as they had been informed of the appearance of the suspects car at the Downer home. Sheriff Hall returned to Greeley leaving 20 officers in the field.

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange. M. L. Kneeland came in to the Omaha livestock market yesterday with a mixed shipment of hogs and cattle, the property of T. J. Ryan, retired farmer and present mayor of Irwin, Ia. In the consignment was a choice steer weighing 1,220 pounds that sold for $11 a hundred, the remainder of the shipment consisting of prime yearlings that brought $11.55 a hundred, the highest price paid for cattle of that kind for the past two years. W. H. McLaughlin of Shelby, Ia., was on the market with a fine load of pure bred Poland China hogs, averaging 254 pounds and sold for the top price of the day of $8.95 a hundred. A load of good quality, well-finished Poland China hogs was brought to market by Fred Markham of Sturgis, S. D. The shipment consisted of heavy butcher weights, tipping the scales at 270 pounds and sold at $8.95 a hundred, the top price of the day. Charles Drummond brought a load of choice Duroc hogs averaging 235 pounds which sold for the top price of the day of $8.95 a hundred. There were 74 head in the load and Mr. Drummond said he was more than pleased at the price received.

Disaster to Tug Reliance Presaged by "Phantom Ship" on Lake Superior

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 21.—A "phantom ship" bearing the outlines of the tug Reliance and riding rapidly over the waters of Lake Superior, was created yesterday by survivors of the Reliance wrecked last week, as a warning that the tiny vessel was soon to find a place on the bottom of Superior known to vessel men as the "graveyard of the lakes." Twice the mirage appeared. It crossed the bows of the Reliance just before sundown on a calm day last August. Under similar conditions it was sighted late in October, so the story goes. One of the victims of last week's disaster, Capt. John McPherson, saw the "ghost ship" each time and thereafter appeared worried over his fortunes at sea, his friends declare. Others who vouch for the appearance of the phantom are Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Charles Miron, wife of the Gargantuan harbor light keeper.

Session at Lausanne Breaks Up in Squabble. (Continued From Page One.) A squabble with the Turkish delegation recently issued declaring that Turkish delegates from Angora prove that Turkish citizens are seizing farms belonging to Moslems in Crete and that the Moslems, fearing massacre, have fled to the cities and are dying of hunger. Moslems Massacred. "Every day more than 20 Moslems are dying either through massacre or hunger," says the communique, "and Moslems generally are forbidden to leave Crete." The Turks also allege mistreatment of the Moslems in Mytilene. Another complication in near eastern conditions was disclosed in a telegram dated December 19, which reached here tonight from Beirut. Foreign relief workers report that between December 9 and 16, 5,000 Armenian refugees, fleeing from Turkey, had arrived at Aleppo, and 2,000 more were reported crossing the border into Syria the day the dispatch was forwarded.

State Loses Skirmish Over Phone Schedule. (Continued From Page One.) ing that it was earning less than 4 per cent on its admitted investments. The commission was taken by surprise when the suit was filed, but the members believe they will have ample opportunity between now and the date when the case comes up for hearing on its merits to prepare an adequate defense. What the company really wants is an order of the federal court permitting it to make such an increase in its rates as will pay 8 per cent on the actual investment. The commissioners figure this would mean an increase of 25 per cent on the present exchange rentals. The commissioners admit that their computations were based on what the company ought to earn over a period of years, and insist that the court will not permit the company on its final showing to confine the calculation as to what is an adequate return to the lean years since 1918. If the company is as economically managed as other utilities, they say, the rates they allowed will give more than 6 per cent, which ought to be increased as business increases.

Omaha Bank Appeals Protested Draft Decision. Lincoln, Dec. 21.—(Special.)—Two Omaha banks and an outstate bank are parties to a lawsuit filed in supreme court in which the stake is $1,898. The Chevrolet Motors company of Omaha drew a draft for that sum on C. M. Trotter, its agent in Lincoln county, and the Omaha National sent it to the Brady State bank for collection. Trotter gave that bank his check, and the bank sent the Omaha National a draft on the United States National for the amount. Before it could be paid, however, the Trotter check on a North Platte bank was returned marked "insufficient funds" and the Brady bank stopped payment. The Omaha National lost in the district court. It contends that the Brady bank had no legal right to stop payment on the draft and that both the Brady bank and the United States National are responsible to it as trustees.

Nebraska and Colorado Discuss Irrigation Treaty. Lincoln, Dec. 21.—(Special.)—Attorney General Davis and R. H. Willis of the federal bureau of irrigation will go to Denver next week to dispute water power rights with the members of a Colorado commission empowered to settle the long-standing dispute between Nebraska and that state over the control of Platte river water. The Coloradoans have drawn up what they call a treaty on water rights as affecting users in both states and are anxious to discuss the matter with Nebraska representatives. The plan is to submit whatever is agreed upon to the two legislatures for approval this winter.

How Topography Affects Radio

Mountains and High Steel Buildings Make Your Set Less Effective. One important element in radio is "the lay of the land"—the topography of the country. It has a great deal to do with the effective range of both the receiving and the transmitting set. Outfits that are exactly alike in their makeup and located only a few hundred feet away, have been known to have widely different ranges. Many times this has been experienced by the average radioman and, sometimes, found hard to explain; for conditions seem to be apparently the same but close observations will bring to light some little factors that tend to reduce or increase the range of the set. Many advocates of the open air who take their receiving sets with them, especially when situated in a depression between mountains, may be disappointed when they get poor results or even no results. It is a known fact that radio waves do not descend to any extent into valleys surrounded by high, steep mountains. If there is a considerable space, this does not hold true; for in this case the radio waves follow more readily the exact contour of the earth's surface. When the mountains are close together, the waves seem to jump from peak to peak rather than descend between them. If you are in the mountains, try and erect your aerial at as high a point as possible. Maybe you happen to be in a location where your signals are poor. Dry, arid land surrounding a radio station also tends to reduce its range, while expanses of water will tend to increase the range. Surroundings of metal often decrease the range. High, steel buildings absorb waves. Whenever you are surrounded by buildings, it is well to suspend your aerial as high as possible.—Radio World.
