

Job for Every Man
Cure for Unrest,
Ford Declares

Peace and Prosperity Cannot Be Gained Through Money,
Auto Manufacturer Tells Delegation From League.

Detroit, Jan. 2.—By A. P.—Henry Ford believes that the "one sure cure" for world unrest is "the most profitable, able-bodied man in the world a job of some sort." The manufacturer told a delegation representing the international labor office of the League of Nations, whose members held a long conference with him at his Dearborn offices.

The delegation, which came to this country recently to obtain ideas that might be introduced in other countries for benefit of workers, is headed by Albert Thomas of France, director of the international labor office.

During the interview, Mr. Thomas declared the present unstable conditions in many parts of the world suggested that equalization of exchange rates might have beneficial results.

Mr. Ford replied that in his opinion the question of bringing the world back to peace and prosperity could not be solved through money, declaring his belief that the solution rested in expansion of industry, improvement of agricultural methods and education of the workers of the world.

Mr. Ford told his visitors that "all the money in the world could not be dumped into the sea and as long as men would put one stone on top of another and till their ground, they would have products to barter and exchange, and world commerce would go on without interruption."

"The solution is 'a job for every man,'" the manufacturer said. "Let the people of the world once see the idea that all they need is to do a good day's work and have a week and that in this way they can make their own prosperity, and there will be no more talk about unstable conditions."

Mr. Ford declared one of the most urgently needed reforms facing the world pertained to more widespread use of farm machinery. "If the delegation that 'farmers everywhere' must be taught the use of machines and their economic value before lasting prosperity can come to any people."

Bullet Breaks Plaster in Ceiling of Home

New Year's eve celebrations almost made life unbearable for Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scott, 2412 Jones street.

Scott and his wife were in their home while whistles and horns were being blown and shots fired as 1923 was being ushered in.

Mrs. Scott heard a noise as if the ceiling was crashing down. She had just passed through their dining room a minute before a piece of plaster fell.

Scott and his wife investigated. The ceiling cracked a crack in several places. In the bedroom they found a stove jacket bulged.

"Lucky my wife didn't get shot," said Scott. "Celebrations ought to be more careful when they fire several times."

The bullet apparently struck in the dining room and glanced into the bedroom.

Scott works in the county clerk's office.

Board Wants Physician
as County Hospital Head

Speaking for the board, we want an institutional man to take charge of the county hospital and the Board of Health, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

The plan to remove Dan Westergaard is not personal with us. We want a man who knows how to handle the job. We would like to have a physician take charge.

McDonald stated that the county hospital is not only a poor farm now, but that he would like to make it a place where patients can have every comfort.

The board will meet to reorganize January 9.

Officer Threatened Him With Gun, Sergeant Says

Police Sergeant Sam Morris asked Patrolman Elmer Heiler what he was doing when he found Heller in the Nebraha lodging house at 12th and 14th streets. Heller, who drew his gun and threatened Morris, the sergeant alleges, Morris said Heller was intoxicated.

Chief Dempsey said he would file charges against the officer. Heller did not appear at headquarters yesterday.

Hubby Drank Too Much
Wife Says; Asks Divorce

Divorce action has been brought against Harry Welch by May Geisler Welch.

The wedding of the two, October 2, 1917, was a complete surprise to the bride's father, Max Geisler, brick importer.

Mrs. Welch in her petition states that her husband "used in excessive use of liquor." She wants her maiden name restored.

A Sale Full of Money-Saving Opportunities

THE "LOOKOUT IN THE FORETOP" worked to good advantage in the long-time preparations for our January, 1923, White Sales. In consequence The Brandeis Store was never better prepared than on this occasion to carry its January White Sales to successful conclusion. For many months preparations for this sale have been in progress. Our representatives have gone to the manufacturing centers to secure the best merchandise in large quantities and for each at lowest possible prices. We have made a number of special purchases from individual firms that have added materially to the advantages our customers have in this sale. We made these purchases at a time when the price of cotton was low. Since then the price of cotton has increased more than 25 per cent since we made these purchases and that price continues to climb. But having bought this merchandise at low ebb prices we pass the advantages to our customers and sell at low ebb prices in the face of rising markets. For these reasons it is plain that our January White Sales of 1923 will eclipse every other sale of their kind in the history of this big store.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Our sale of Domestic Muslin Underwear will begin Thursday, January 4. Our sale of Silk Underwear will not begin until Saturday, January 6. Some of the best bargains in that line we have purchased for this event have not arrived. The prices and offerings are so attractive that it will be worth your while to wait until Saturday, January 6, for your Silk Underwear purchases.

Control of Radio
Plants Necessary.
Hoover Asserts

Secretary of Commerce Urges Legislation to Bring Order Out of Chaos of Air.

Washington, Jan. 2.—(By AP)—The bill to be established over the Federal control of the air must be passed by the House of Representatives. Secretary Hoover of the Commerce department told the House members today.

The bill provides that the Commerce department shall have supervisory control over all radio communication, assisting wave lengths, licensing operators and other matters. It also provides for the supervision of wireless communication to bring order out of the present chaos of the air.

The bill provides that the Commerce department shall have supervisory control over all radio communication, assisting wave lengths, licensing operators and other matters. It also provides for the supervision of wireless communication to bring order out of the present chaos of the air.

The navy, represented by Rear Admiral Sigsbee, protested that navy operators in many cases would have to obtain license from the Commerce department, if the section was retained.

Secretary Hoover told the conference that the navy should not be permitted unlimited privileges to the detriment of other users of wireless.

Secretary Hoover said 500 broadcasting stations are in operation and that the interference in the air must be reduced to a minimum.
