

Poland on Way to Prosperity, States Visitor

Major Who Served as Commercial Adviser to Paderewski Visits Wife's Parents Here.

Maj. W. I. Shuman, who has been visiting his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Salmon, states that Poland is entering upon an era of great development. He was major of infantry during the war and then was engaged as commercial adviser to Ignace Paderewski, the first premier of the new Poland.

"Paderewski, who is now in this country," said the major, "was a real patriot in the hour of his country's great need. I know that he spent practically all of his personal fortune, amounting to more than $2,000,000, to help his native land.

"I have made five trips to Poland since the war and I observe a steady improvement in economic conditions. Unemployment is decreasing. The people are thriving in the face of low currency. The purchasing power of the Polish mark is strong. Agriculture is the chief industry and the textile mills are next. These mills are being operated to full capacity. The city of Lodz is the Manchester of Poland. The Poles excel in engineering and in finance. Many are highly educated.

"The people have been suppressed for 100 years by the Germans on one side and the Russians on the other. Under its own constitutional government Poland is going ahead with normal and natural expansion. Their national governing body is the diet which is composed of representatives elected from districts. The personnel of the diet elected last November represents three general divisions of the people and, therefore, quite representative. The recent assassination of the president, in my opinion, did not have political significance. It was the deed of a fanatic.

"Poland is truly grateful to America for aid given to alleviate hunger and disease incident to the recent war. There are many opportunities now in Poland for American business. Poland is going to extend its trade relations with the world. They are rising to meet their new privileges and responsibilities."

Presbyterians Seek to Buy Charles Rosewater Site

First Presbyterian church, at a meeting Friday night, appointed a committee to raise $50,000 to purchase the Charles Rosewater property, which adjoins the church property on the west at Thirty-fifth and Parkman streets. This consists of 95x136 feet. "If this can be accomplished, no doubt a deal will be consummated," said Rev. Edwin H. Jenks, pastor. Miss Jessie Millard has offered $60,000 as a gift for further building purposes, contingent upon raising money to purchase the Rosewater property. More Sunday school space, a social hall and a better gymnasium, are the additions contemplated.

Man Captures Intruder After Chase From Home

L. H. Garrison, 6005 Center street, Omaha air mail flyer, Friday captured Carl Simonson, 6202 North Forty-second street, after Simonson had gained entrance to the Garrison home. According to Mrs. Garrison, she and other members of the family were sitting in a front room of their home when they heard someone in the kitchen. They screamed. Mr. Garrison, who was sleeping, jumped out of bed and chased the man, who had dashed out through the rear door. Simonson, who was turned over to police, said he was selling potatoes. He is being held for investigation.

Uni of Omaha Plans Campaign

Enrollment Outgrows Facilities; Endowment and Curriculum to Be Increased.

Because of the increased attendance in the University of Omaha, plans are now being formulated by the board of trustees for a big building program. Dr. D. E. Jenkins, president of the university, said yesterday. Plans for the campaign to raise the money will be announced soon. "By the end of this year we will have the largest enrollment in our history," said Dr. Jenkins. "The university started in 1909 with 26 students. In 1914 the number jumped to 212 and from 1921 to 1922 we enrolled 321. The university has extended steadily the range of its educational work and is providing the advantages of a higher and practical education for hundreds of ambitious young Omaha people who otherwise would have been compelled to quit their schooling or go from Omaha to secure these advantages. "We plan to extend the social and political science courses to include a school of commerce, finance and administration. We also plan to develop a school of music."

Dr. Jenkins said that all the class rooms of the school are overcrowded and that one room which has accommodations for 45 chairs, now has 78 students in attendance and that during the class hours the students sit on window sills and in the aisles. "The university could double its enrollment almost immediately if we had better building facilities," said Dr. Jenkins. "We hope to increase our endowment and do extensive building with the money to be raised."
