

Indian Land Bill to Get Hearing in Senate Body

Storm of Protest Evoked by Bursum Measure Brings Matter Back Into Limelight.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The controversy raging over the Bursum bill designed to straighten legal anomalies which have developed over Pueblo Indian lands in New Mexico will be given a thorough airing by the senate public lands committee. Hearings will begin within the next few days and all interested parties will be given full opportunity to state their side of the case before further action is taken.

The bill in question was introduced by Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico, and passed by the senate several months ago. Upon motion by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, however, the action was rescinded and the bill was sent back to the public lands committee for more careful scrutiny and investigation.

Has Substitute Bill.

Meantime Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, at the request of organizations opposing the bill, has introduced a substitute measure. The Bursum bill is entitled "A bill to ascertain and settle land claims of persons not Indian within Pueblo Indian land, land grants and reservations in the state of New Mexico." The bill designates the federal district court of the state of New Mexico as the tribunal before which these claims should be tried. The Jones bill would set up an entirely separate court to deal with the litigation.

Approximately 3,000 claimants with property involving about $10,000,000 are affected by the Bursum bill. These claimants are nearly all of Spanish descent whose ancestors settled on Pueblo Indian lands before the admission of New Mexico to the union, according to Senator Bursum.

Publish Pamphlet.

The New Mexico association on Indian affairs and the Indian welfare committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has just published a pamphlet setting forth their objections to the bill. The arguments against the measure are summed up in the following language:

"In general the bill is so full of inconsistencies, contradictions and language requiring construction, as to render it impossible of amendment in such a way as to serve any useful purpose either for the Indians or for the claimants adverse to the Indians. It should be utterly and wholly defeated because:

(1) It nullifies the government and adds another failure to its record in dealing with dependent peoples.

(2) It will ruin the Pueblo Indians by the loss of their lands and in a short time utterly destroy them.

Won't Aid Settlers.

(3) It will not benefit the settlers who will be trapped in endless litigation and unlimited expense thereto."

The pamphlet recommends that in lieu of the Bursum bill the president appoint an unbiased, non-partisan commission to deal with the situation. The Bursum bill was the endorsement of Secretary of the Interior Fall and in fact, was drafted under the supervision of the Indian Affairs bureau of the federal government. Secretary Fall in the latter vigorously repudiated the suggestion that the bill was unfair to the Indians or that it was designed to give any one an undeserved advantage.

Bursum Denies Charge.

Senator Bursum likewise vehemently denies the charge that his bill will work unfairly against the Indian. At the same time he sees no particular gain to be made in substituting the Jones bill.

"My bill is the result of at least a year's careful study by competent experts representing all sides of the controversy," said Senator Bursum. "I have no pride of authorship and I am willing to accept any modifications which will improve the bill. However, I do not see what would be gained by the substitution of the bill offered by my colleague, Senator Jones."

"The very introduction of the Jones bill is a confession that some sort of legislation is necessary to meet the situation. His bill would set up a new court, at an expense of $400,000, while my bill would make use of the existing federal court in New Mexico. Would Clear Titles."

"I have no desire to deprive the Indians of any of their lands. All I am seeking to do is to enable the old settlers who have lived upon lands within the Pueblo grants for centuries to clear their titles. Within the boundaries of the lands affected, there are about 8,000 Indians and 23,000 persons other than Indians. These 12,000 persons are nearly all of Spanish descent and their forefathers settled on these lands in many cases before there was an English settlement in America. To refuse to quit the titles of these inhabitants and leave it possible to oust them would be just about as reasonable as to try to take the state of Pennsylvania away from its present inhabitants and give it back to the descendants of the Indians, who sold it to William Penn."

"The Indians appeared to be entirely satisfied with the method proposed in my bill for settling the dispute until they were told by outsiders that they were being 'robbed.' However, I am anxious to have every side heard fully, so that we can frame and support the measure that will be as nearly satisfactory as possible and furnish a permanent solution of the difficulty."

Sells Most "War Cries."

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 6.—To a Kansas City "Salvation issue" goes the honor of having sold, unassisted, the highest number of copies of "The War Cry"—the official publication of the Salvation Army—in the United States in 1922.

She is Mrs. Teresa Smith. She has sold 32,800 copies.

A Brazilian scientist claims to be able to change the color of black people to white. This can be accomplished by drawing blood from the left arm treating it in a special apparatus, heating it and then reinjecting it into the right arm.

New Creighton as It Will Appear When Completed

Key to Creighton University buildings: 1—New stadium, 2—New chemistry building, 3—New College of Arts and Sciences, 4—Dental college, 5—College of Law, 6—New dormitory, 7—New library, 8—Present Arts and High School, 9 and 12—Miscellaneous, 10—Astronomical observatory, 11—Gymnasium, 12—St. John church.

Here's the first picture of the new Creighton university to be built at Twenty-fifth and California streets. Building will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The cost is to be $1,000,000 and next month Creighton will put on a campaign to raise this amount and an additional million, which will be used as an endowment fund to take care of the several hundred young men seeking education who now are turned away every year because of lack of facilities.

One million dollars of this fund is to come from out of Omaha and Creighton alumni everywhere are organizing to carry on the campaign in the districts. The other half of the fund will be subscribed in Omaha. The campaign is being directed by President John F. McCormick of the university and a financial committee of five Omaha business men.

The new Creighton will be a compact set of buildings housing all the different colleges with the exception of the medical college. The new medical building will be located near St. Joseph hospital.

Student Body Doubles.

Creighton's student body has more than doubled in the last 10 years. A decade ago the registration was about 900. Last year it was 1,950.

In five years, with the added facilities and enlarged endowment, Creighton expects to be giving instruction to at least 1,000 more students than are now enrolled.

Omahaans will scarcely recognize the new Creighton, shown in the accompanying architect's drawings.

The grandstand of the big "oval"—the football stadium—is almost hidden by the chemistry building. This grandstand is but the first unit. A similar stand will be built immediately across the oval. There is room for additional units when needed.

This first grandstand, together with the construction of the field itself, will cost $150,000. It will seat 7,500. A special effort will be made to get it completed for the football season this fall. The new football field will parallel Burt street and will be immediately west of the gymnasium.

Dental Building Completed.

In the foreground of the picture appear the chemistry building and the dental college, the first to the north, the latter to the south. The street with the street car is California, looking east.

The chemistry building will be four stories high and nearly a block long and will be equipped with the very latest of apparatus.

Facing the chemistry building, across the court, is the dental college, which was completed last year. The $1,000,000 worth of buildings which will be constructed this year does not include either the dental college nor the law college, both of which were completed in 1922.

In the right foreground is an "L" shaped dormitory. Creighton has long since outgrown the old dormitory at Twenty-fifth and California. The new dormitory will house 250 to 350 young men. It will be three stories with high basement.

Down the court from the chemistry building, with its rear facing the football stadium, is the arts college. When the new building is completed, the present main building will be used exclusively as a high school and for administrative purposes.

New Library Planned.

Across the court from the new arts college and facing on California street is the college of law, already completed and in use.

The white building with the dome shown in the center of the plan is the library building. This building, to be constructed of stone, steel, concrete and marble, will not be erected this year, but is included in the general plan of expansion for the future.

At the extreme left of the picture is the gymnasium—one of the largest in the west. This building already is in use.

East of the library building and between it and St. John church, the plans show two four-story buildings which will be used for miscellaneous purposes.

In the far center can be seen the tower of the observatory, presided over by Father William Rigge.

Sioux City, Sioux Falls, Yankton, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Beatrice, Greeley, Norfolk, Lincoln, New York, Seattle, Los Angeles, Spokane, and many other points already have organized Creighton Alumni permanent chapters and have started their part in the fund campaign.

Sioux City has accepted a quota of $52,100.

Sioux Falls and Yankton (S. D.) sections both have pledged a definite portion of the $1,000,000. Greeley, Neb., has volunteered to secure $21,000. John H. O'Malley of Greeley, is the chairman of the Greeley section, with J. E. Sullivan, secretary, and Dr. J. L. Brannen, treasurer.

According to present plans the buildings will be constructed in the order of their greatest need. First will be built the college of arts and sciences. Next will be built the chemistry building. The third building to be erected will be the dormitory. Out-of-town students are finding it harder and harder to obtain suitable living quarters near the university.

Work on the new stadium will go forward as soon as the foundation for the arts building is started.

"We will be obliged to start work on the new athletic field and stadium when we tear down the present football field to make room for the foundation of the arts building," said President McCormick.

Son Gets Gift Offered T. R.

Tokio, Jan. 6.—During his visit to Japan Kermit Roosevelt has been presented with a large tiger skin by S. Yamamoto, a shipping magnate, who shot the animal in Korea. Yamamoto was a close friend of the former President Theodore Roosevelt and several years ago attempted to present the same skin to him. Customs officials at San Francisco sent the hide back, however.

Roosevelt is busy sightseeing in Japan, and he and Mrs. Roosevelt are collecting a great many valuable Japanese curios, including books and prints.

Girl Is Police Judge.

Nickerson, Kan., Jan. 6.—Miss Clara Arnold, 19, who declared her election as justice of the peace was a "huge joke," and who at first refused to qualify for that office and also to a recently vacated one of police judge, has capitulated and is now sitting on the bench.

"Club women, in a spirit of jest, wrote my name on the ballot in the last election," Miss Arnold explained. "I didn't want to be called Judge Arnold."

Her friends declare she is the youngest police judge in the state.

Big Bear Wrecks Hotel While on Hunt for Food

Bruin's Second Trip to Get More Sweets from Pantry, Results in Downfall, However.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 6.—How a giant silver-tipped bear wrecked the interior of the Many Glaciers hotel in Glacier National park recently is told in stories brought out by belated tourists who remained after the regular season had closed and all places had been shut down.

This bear apparently had tired of a herbaceous diet and started out for a change. Finding the hotel closed and no obsequious porter on hand to take his baggage, he tore off a heavy storm door and threw his weight against the inner door, breaking it from its hinges.

Then he started to give the place the once over. In doing so he pulled down shelves on which provisions had been stored. Glass jars were broken and their contents scattered around. Cups, saucers, plates and other dishes all suffered the same way. Flour, bacon and other articles of food were dumped at random.

In the pantry Bruin found some jars of honey. From these he evidently ate his fill, without being able to consume it all, and he left the rest for another visit. That subsequent visit was his undoing. Curll McGill, watchman of the place, discovered the wreck when he came back from a trip to another part of the park. So he stuck around.

Lured by the taste of the honey, the bear came back for more. McGill was waiting for him and finished him with one well-directed shot.

The bear measured five feet nine inches from tip to tip. When shot, the big fellow dropped onto a large packing case, in which some of the hotel stores were kept. His immense weight crushed the box.

Estimates of the damage done place the figures close to $5,000. The damage consisted of broken dishes, ruined provisions, smashed furniture and broken windows, through which the bear had thrown things apparently not to his liking.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulitified cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulitified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulitified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulitified cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulitified.
