

Members of 23 Clubs Hear Talk by Rotary Chief

Ray Havens of Kansas City, International President, is Guest of Honor at Big Luncheon Here.

Ray Havens of Kansas City, Mo., international president of Rotary, addressed the Omaha Rotary club at a big luncheon yesterday noon in the Hotel Fontenelle ballroom.

Besides the Omaha members, delegations from 22 other clubs were present. One member of the Rotary club of Vancouver, British Columbia, was there. Officers of the Kiwanis, Lions, Concord and Triangle clubs were at the speakers' table.

At a round table in front of this were Belle Ryan, president, and Miss L. Bellman, secretary of the Altrusa club, with Miss Ruth Cassidy, secretary of the Rotary club, and the woman guest of honor, Mrs. Havens, wife of the international president.

J. H. Beveridge, president of the Omaha Rotary club, presided and declared this a "very unique" occasion, it being the first time he has presided at a meeting where the international president made an address.

District Governor Paul Rankin of Dubuque spoke briefly.

Mrs. Havens sang several songs with great effect and, later, she and Mr. Havens sang duets, she accompanying on the piano.

Mr. Havens' address was for a greater use of the Rotary spirit in every day life.

"The man who achieves so-called business success and loses sight of his fellowman's needs is a failure," he said. "And the man who sees this viewpoint and supplies these needs is a success though he may be classed a business failure."

Mr. and Mrs. Havens left yesterday for Des Moines.

McDonald Named Chairman of County Commissioners

John Briggs and Charles Kubat, newly elected county commissioners, took their seats yesterday when the county board reorganized for the ensuing year and elected Henry McDonald chairman.

Briggs is chairman of the Riverview home committee and Kubat is chairman of the finance committee.

T. F. Stroud was again named to head the roads and bridges committee. Charles Unitt gets court house, jail and judiciary and the charity committee goes to McDonald.

Bride Pleads Vainly for Husband's Release

Married secretly two weeks ago to William R. McLean, salesman, 573 South Twenty-eighth street, who was sentenced by Judge Holmes to 10 days in jail for passing a $12 check with insufficient funds, a pretty, dark-haired, rosy-cheeked, young woman put in her appearance at central police headquarters yesterday morning.

Tears and threats of suicide failed to win the freedom of the man she claims as her husband who used to be an evidence man for U. S. Kohler. The bride told of the whirlwind courtship which led her to refuse a wealthy suitor in favor of McLean because he was "so mannerly, so good and so nice."

"We were secretly married two weeks ago," she told Chief of Detectives Van Deusen, "and my father doesn't know about it yet. 'I realize now it was a mistake, but I'll put him on probation for 30 days, and I'll stick by him.'"

Snakes Scorn Snow.
Athens, O., Jan. 9.—Two farmers, living near here, said they saw black snakes and copperheads sunning themselves on brush piles, with an inch of snow on the ground, recently.

Few Changes Made in Bank Rosters at Annual Elections

Offutt and Cutler Enter U. S. National Directorate — Cashier Promoted to Vice Presidency.

Changes in directorates and officers of Omaha banks holding annual meetings yesterday were not as numerous as in former years. There were several promotions, however.

Fred A. Guggenmos was elected assistant cashier of the Omaha National bank, making an additional officer for that institution. No other changes were made in the lineup of officers or directors of this institution, President Walter Head said. Officers of the Omaha National are identical to those of the Omaha Trust company.

Casper Y. Offutt and H. H. T. Cutler were elected to the directorate of the United States National bank, filling vacancies left by G. W. Wattles and George Brandeis.

Promotions at the United States National are Joseph C. McClure from cashier to vice president; Gwyer H. Yates, assistant cashier to cashier, and E. E. Landstrom and A. L. Vickery to assistant cashierships.

Only one change was made in the directorate of the Peters National bank, the addition of W. J. Miller of the Gardner-Miller Coal company as a director.

L. V. Pulliam, who has been with the Live Stock National in South Omaha for the last eight years, was elected assistant cashier of that institution. The late J. C. French, a member of the board of directors of the Stockyards National, was not replaced.

At the Union State bank, Cashier L. M. Meien was elected vice president; Emil Kavalec was promoted from assistant cashier to cashier and E. J. Horacek was elected assistant cashier. Mr. Horacek is only 22 years old, and is said to be the youngest assistant cashier in Omaha.

C. A. Abrahamson of the Corn Exchange National was promoted to an assistant cashier of that institution.

Woman Arrested Who Had $7,600 Former Waitress Here
Margaret Yard, said to have been captured with $7,600 in $10 bills and $760 in $2 bills in her possession in Denver and to have revealed the identity of the gang which robbed the Erovers bank in Kansas City, formerly was an Omaha waitress, according to Omaha detectives.

Triangle Club in Alaska With Brandeis for Hour

Members of the Triangle club sojourned in Alaska for more than an hour yesterday. Their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. E. John Brandeis.

The trip was made in spirit only, however, with the aid of the motion picture "shot" by Mr. Brandeis on his last Alaskan trip. It was the second showing of the picture, which Mr. Brandeis has named "Rip De Di Di Through Alaska," and it received enthusiastic applause from the audience. Harry S. Lane, president of the Triangle club, presided at the luncheon in the Fontenelle which preceded showing of the picture. Mr. and Mrs. Brandeis were at the speakers' table, guests of honor. Dr. E. H. Bruening, who had seen the first showing of the picture, explained certain interesting points as the picture progressed. Mr. Brandeis also answered several questions.

Two "Dope" Suspects Freed by Federal Court Order

Two persons held as "dope" law violators were ordered discharged in federal court by Judge Woodrough yesterday.

Goldie Britton told the judge she has been in jail three months. The evidence showed that she had not peddled narcotics and the judge directed the jury to acquit her. John Davis showed the judge "our book of rules what we follows at the smelter" and stated that he works every day, including Sundays, and is bitterly opposed to the dope traffic. As he also has spent three months in jail, the judge ordered him discharged.

BURGESS-NASH COMPANY

"EVERYBODY'S STORE"

Today's Advertisement for Thursday's Selling

Beginning with this edition, the Burgess-Nash ads for the following day will appear both morning and evening—that is, the merchandise to be sold on Thursday will be advertised in all editions of the Wednesday paper—a day in advance.

By this change out-of-town patrons will be given plenty of time to attend our special sales. Omaha housewives, too, may profit through the change, for by knowing a day in advance they may plan to include Burgess-Nash in their day's program.
