Representative Omaha citizens viewed yesterday at the Brandels theater the first showing of "Life's Collateral," a feature picture in three chapters which has been obtained by

The showing was the opening gun of an "Own a Home" campaign which is to be conducted by scores of the most influential and prominent firms and individuals of the community with the co-operation of The Omaha

At considerable cost The Omaha Bee has perfected plans for the campaign and has secured from Community News Service, Inc., exclusive rights to "screen" the photoplay, "Life's Collateral."

Three Episodes.

"Life's Collateral" is a production in three chapters or episodes, namely: "The Sowers," "The Reapers," and The Harvest." It is a real drama, with tense situations and a most capable cast. It is devoted to the advantages of home ownership, and its purpose is to stimulate and start people thinking along these lines. Each chapter or episode is 1,000 feet in

After the set has been shown in the leading theaters of the city it will remain in the city permanently. The Omaha Bee will be custodian and owner of the film, and it will be loaned free of cost to representative interests who may wish to "screen" it for the benefit of groups of citizens and organizations of the city and for large employers who will desire to show it as a means of helping their employes.

Film Is Entertaining. synopsis of the picture reveals not only plenty of tense situations in each chapter, but lots of action as well. No one will be bored by it, and critics declare it as entertaining

as the best of feature films. Eight constructive talks on home ownership will appear in The Omaha Bee, one a week. In these talks will be designated where the film is being shown and carry the remainder of the program at the theater which is showing "Life's Collateral."

The Omaha Bee believes the "Own Home" campaign is most timely. It will be in progress when the "Better Homes week" is being conducted in

Ford to Build Big

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.-Plans to

The Ford company today complets ed purchase of 1671-2 acres of land on the Mississippi river, immediately adjacent to the government high dam, at a cost of $315,000 as the site for the plant.

Application has been made to the federal government by the Ford company for the power rights at the dam, but if this is denied the company will erect a plant to be operated entirely by steam, the announcement said.

If the water power rights are granted, it is planned to build a $10,000,000 manufacturing plant, ultimately to employ between 14,000 and 15,000 men, according to the Ford agents here. It will be on a somewhat smaller scale if the power rights are denied.

To provide proper railroad facili-ties for the plant, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway announced it would extend its trackage and construct a bridge across the Mississipp! river, the entire expansion to involve an expenditure of approximately $3,-

St. Paul city officials, it is said, will offer to share with Minneapolis the expense of a bridge across the Mississippi river at the high dam, thus making the proposed Ford plant readily accessible to both cities. Preliminary work will start in March, it was said.

It's a Fine (?) Job. Glenrock, Wyo., Jan. 9 .- Six different men have held the job of city marshal here in the last six months.

Atlantic, Ia., Jan: 9 .- (Special.)-Just one week after Sam Jones, 32 and Harry Brown, 34, stole a quan tity of clothing from the home of F. H. Pederson, on whose farm they were employed as cornhuskers, they were on their way to the state peni tentiary to serve a sentence of one to 10 years. They were arrested in a boxcar the night of the robbery and pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Whitmore here.

Uncle Sam Says:

Poultry of the American Class.
Practically every farmer in the United States and many city dwellers keep poultry. In the majority of in-stances the flock is kept merely as a sideline to utilize material which otherwise would go to waste and to furnish eggs and meat for the table.

To aid in the selection of the best breed for the purpose the Bureau of Animal industry has issued this booklet which contains illustrations of the various breeds of the American class and tells the characteristics of each. Readers of The Omaha Bee may obtain a copy of this booklet free as long as the free edition lasts by writing to the Division of Publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., asking for "F. B. 806."

Painter Kills Young Wolf

Prowling in Dundee Yards Help Shoppers To kill a wolf in the heart of a fashionable neighborhood is the thrill that came to Harold Hinzle, 25, a painter, who resides at 4616 Davenport street, yesterday. "I was sitting near the window, and along about 4:30 just happened to look out and saw the wolf, about two-thirds grown, running down over the hill," said Mr. Hinzie. "So I took my shotgun and went after him. After chasing him a coul ie of blocks I took a shot at him and wounded him. The second shot got him at Forty-eseventh and Wakewas reported that he was seen running around in the daytime and getting lots of chickens. I guesst that is all there is to it, only that I am skinning him now and expect to make use of the hide."

Man Beats Mate to Death and Sets Fire to House to Hide Crime.

Dayton, O., Jan. 9.—John Sabo, who killed his wife by beating her to death with a hammer Sunday and fired his home early yesterday morning in an effort to hide the crime, hurled himself under a Big Four passenger sociation gathered here in annual train south of Dayton. His body was mangled severely and identification was difficult.

Sabo killed his wife following a family quarrel, said to have grown out of the presence of a 15-year-old girl in their home who was employed as a maid while Mrs. Sabo visited relatives in Chicago. He was arrested Sunday morning on a statutory charge after the crime had been committed but before it was discovered, and escaped from a constable.

Housekeeper Held. Mineola, N. Y., Jan. 9 .- Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wells, 32, housekeeper at Massapequa inn, Massapequa, was arrested, charged with the murder of her employer, James S. Pettit, whose body, a shotgun wound in the heart, was found in his bedroom at the ho-tel. She was held without bail for action by the grand jury Friday.

The murder charge was preferred following the discovery at the inn by finger print experts of a blood stained sweater and handkerchief said to have been worn by Mrs. Wells. The expert said that he also found two bloodstains on the stock of the shotgun laying beside Pettit's body and that they appeared to be those of a woman's Take as little notice as possible of Take as little notice as possible of this small girl when she has "attacks of giggles." "Giggling is merely a little girl's way of laughing and unless she becomes hysterical she should be allowed to giggle as much as she likes, so long as she is not doing it at a time or in a place that makes it unsuitable. She will outgrow this habit very soon.

They All Agree on "Dr. Jack"

(Miss Kern, World-Herald) "DR. JACK"

Once more the comedians will have to take off their hats to Harold Lloyd, former Nebraskan. In his latest picture, "Dr. Jack," which opened Saturday at the Sun for a two weeks' engagement, this young star has again given us a picture, which is not only funny but which has a serious undertone. In other words he makes you laugh until the tears run down your face and at the same time gives you a valuable prescription for health and happiness. To say the least this Mr. Lloyd "outcoues" Coue. There are some who may think that this new picture isn't as funny as "Grandma's Boy," but we think it is better. The latter picture has several outstanding features which were real laugh getters, but the new picture is punctuated with numture is punctuated with num-erous such situations. Added to this is a charming iove story and a decided plot. The heroine is played by Mildred Davis and she aids Mr. Lloyd charmingly in the sentimental vein of the comedy. It is a great comedy and you really can't afford to miss it. (Miss Burke, Omaha Bee)

"Dr. Jack" is a high spot in comedy work on the screen. Harold Lloyd deserves unlimited credit, for he wrote it as well as acting it, and it is full of original touches. The poker game, when Lloyd slips every player at the table four aces and lets them fight it out, is especially well worked out, and Lloyd manages to way of "pursuit scenes," when he disguises himself as an escaped lunatic and cavorts about the house, ever and anon appearing in his own clothes to join the search for himself. This has more plot than most comedies and Harold Lloyd at his best, as in this one, cannot be surpassed in the screen world.

Harold Lloyd breaks out of the comedian class, and yet remains ace of mirthmakers, in "Dr. Jack," now playing at the Sun Theatre.

"Dr. Jack" can logically be termed a comedy-drama.
There's nothing in it that couldn't be a leaf of life.
