

Dodge County Veterinarian Is Sued for Divorce

Open Repudiation of Love Is Charged by Mrs. Ysabel Kersten of Fremont.

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 12.—(Special).—Alleging extreme cruelty in addition to physical abuse and open repudiation of love, Mrs. Ysabel Kersten, wife of Dr. Henry C. Kersten, government veterinarian of Dodge county, has instituted action for complete divorce.

Mrs. Kersten is of Spanish origin, having met and married Dr. Kersten in Porto Rico in 1907. At that time Kersten was a member of the United States army veterinary corps, and the romance culminated while the former lieutenant was on duty in Porto Rico.

The Kerstens came to Fremont three years ago, when Dr. Kersten was appointed veterinarian for Dodge county. Two daughters and one son, ranging in ages from 15 to 20, resulted of the marriage. The family is prominently known in this vicinity.

Mrs. Kersten claims that dissension first appeared in the family some time ago upon her husband's return from a visit to his sister in Michigan. Since that time, she claims, he has repeatedly advised her to sue for a divorce as he cared nothing about her and did not wish to continue as her husband. She asserts that he has practiced cruelty upon her in various forms, at times abusing her and refusing to communicate with her for regular periods.

Dr. Kersten was formerly commander of the Fremont Veterans of Foreign Wars post and is known throughout this section in agricultural circles.

The wife asks for complete divorce and custody of the children. The two girls, she states, are dependent upon her and asks the court to exact sufficient alimony for their support.

Farmers Urged to Co-Operate

Organization Will Increase Farm Product Prices, Lynn Frazier Says in Address.

"It is working and thinking for yourself that counts," said Lynn J. Frazier, United States senator-elect from North Dakota, speaking Friday morning in Hotel Castle to members of the Farmers' Union Co-operative Insurance company.

Charles McLeod of Stanton, Neb., president of the company, introduced the former governor of North Dakota. "We have natural insurance companies among the farmers of North Dakota. They have been a great success and have resulted in lowering rates," said Mr. Frazier.

Losses on Potatoes.

"Something must be done to lower expenses of the farmer. Prices of farm products should be higher and should be stabilized. I know of a farmer in North Dakota who shipped a carload of potatoes last fall and was out $30 on the transaction after he paid the freight and furnished the sacks. Of course, he had the exercise in handling the potatoes.

"Bankers and business men of North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota now are doing the worrying, because the farmers are in so deep they have ceased to worry. Probably it is our own fault that things exist as they do. We have had the right to vote all of these years, but we have not been sufficiently organized. My neighbor borrows from me and I borrow from him, but when we come to vote we are on opposite sides.

Urges Organization.

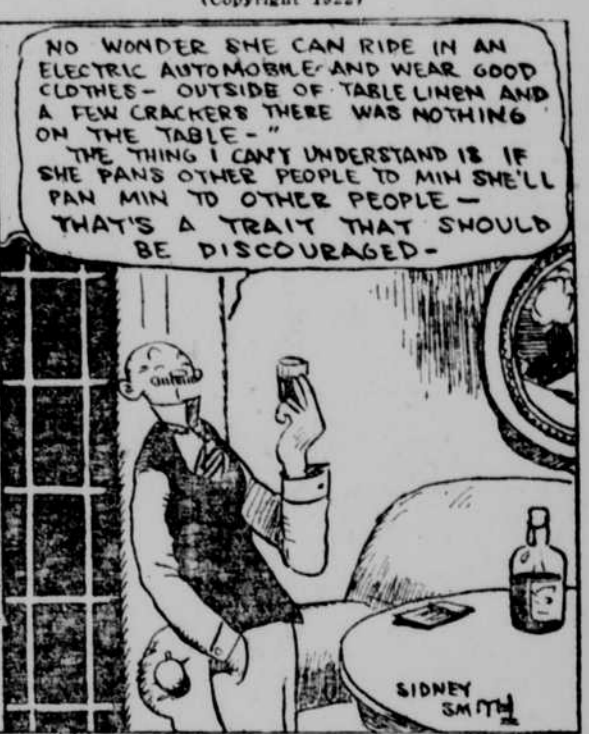

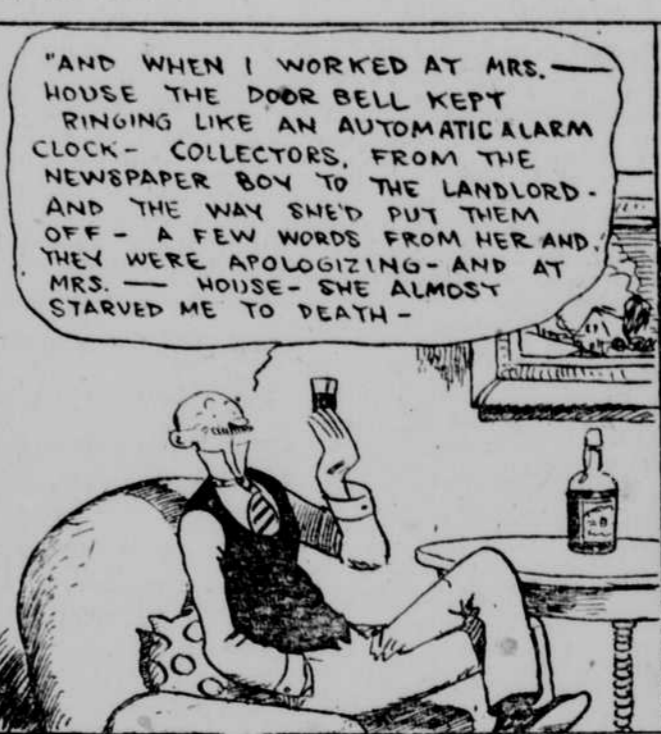

"If we were well organized we would be selling our products at our own prices. It is time for the farmers to get on the inside and look out and this can be done through organization. It is up to the people to say what kind of a government they want. We need agitation and education."

Mr. Frazier asserted that there is no reason why the federal reserve bank should not be operated in the interests of the people rather than in the interests of the bankers. He expressed the belief that within a few years there will be enough progressive representatives in congress to pass real progressive legislation.

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange

A load of short-fed cattle of fine quality averaging 1,495 pounds was brought to the local market yesterday by H. A. Michael of Wisner and he received the top price of $9.90 a hundred.

Mr. Michael said there was some light cattle on feed in his section but there was a scarcity of heavy stock. He said the cattle he brought in were bought here and went out in good condition and that he was satisfied with the gain both in weight and price that he made.

A load of hogs good enough to bring $8.25 a hundred was brought to market by C. M. McCabe of Guthrie Center, Ia.

According to Mr. McCabe, farmers are in better condition in every way now than they were at this time last year. He said corn selling now at 60 to 70 cents a bushel was high enough for all farmers to make money and not too high to be used for livestock feeding.

The final shipment of last season's crop of pigs raised by E. S. Preston of Lyons was brought by him yesterday to the local yards and sold for $8.50 a hundred. The consignment was made up of all April pigs and averaged 344 pounds.

A load of choice butcher weight Duroc hogs was brought to market by August P. Anderson of Osceola that averaged 274 pounds and sold for $8.25 a hundred.

Parents' Problems

Should children eat between meals? Children are full of life, and naturally become hungry sooner than grown people, so that it is advisable that they should have two slices of bread and a glass of milk in the middle of the morning, and again in the afternoon, to make up for the amount of energy they use in their play. For younger children orange juice is considered very good.

"Oh, the Billboards,"—Walpole

Creative Side of America Appeals to English Novelist in Omaha for Lecture; Admires Willa Cather, Hergesheimer, Sinclair Lewis.

"It is the art, the creative side of America, which interests me the most as I travel about through your country," said Hugh Walpole yesterday morning in Omaha. Mr. Walpole spoke yesterday afternoon before the Fine Arts society at Hotel Fontenelle. The English author arrived Friday morning on a train several hours late, breakfastless and wretched, according to the traditional custom of his countrymen, but having had no time for a but, oh, the bill boards which you allow to be placed in all the most beautiful spots!

Mr. Walpole does not intend to write a book about America. His impressions of it he considers too superficial.

"It does not stir the creative impulse for some reason, I suppose it is Europe's historic past which is inspiring. I think a man writes best always about his own country, it is where his roots are," he went on.

Mr. Walpole's own favorites among his novels are "The Green Mirror" and his latest book, "The Cathedral." He ranks Joseph Hergesheimer and Sinclair Lewis as the leading novelists of the United States, with Willa Cather his choice among women writers.

"I have not been back to Russia since the armistice, but friends tell me that hundreds of shops are opening in Moscow and Petrograd and business is getting on the old basis again," Mr. Walpole said. He is the author of the "Dark Forest," a novel with Russia in the first year of the war.

"As capital goes into Russia the country will become more stabilized. It is the only solution in sight for their problems. Russia has the resources to be a tremendous economic power, and I think she will be in the near future," he concluded.

Students Out on Strike
